given for the Queen, Mr and Mrs Johnston, of Ballykilbeg, and all "the little Johnston's," for M. Bowell, the Orangemen of Ireland and Belfast, etc., and the procession reformed, and after again marching through some of the principal streets, it dispersed, the participants being all highly pleased with the celebration and proceedings of the day. WHIRLWIND FALL OF THE ARCH - ON

WOMAN KILLED. At half-past three o'clock this afternoon, while the procession was returning from the drill shed, a tierce gust of wind sprung up and prostrated the arch in front of the Orange Hall. There was a scene of confusion for some time; however order was soon restored, when it was found that a poor woman named Murray, who was sitting beside the arch celling oranges, was fatally injured. She was removed to the hospital, but we regret to learn that she died on the way.

MR JOHNSTON S DEPARTURE. We understand that Mr Johnston will leave for Bolleville to morrow (Saturday) afternoon by the Rochester, instead of Monday, as previously announced.
