Sick headache is by far the worst complaint that comes under the name of headache. It is not, properly speaking, a headache, that is, the disease is not seated in the head, but is symptomatic of some other disease or derangement. Sick headache unquestionably originates In the atomach and liver, and is owing to a sort of periodical derangement of the functions of those organs. Some doctors suppose the disease to be entirely nervous, but one reason why it originates in the stomach or liver, is that proper treatment directed to these organs, in cleansing the stomach and rousing the liver, invariably relieves the complaint, and can be relied on in a majority of cases.
