CITY COUNCIL. LEGAL QUESTIONS AND SUITS—THE SCHOOL BOARD—REPORTS OF COMMITTEES—THE CITY COMMISSIONERSHIP—PUBLIC IMPROVEMENTS—A LATE MEETING.

The regular meeting of the Council was held last evening. There were present: Mayor Carson, Ald. Allen, Anglin, Dupuis, Fee, Gaskin, U. F. Gildersleeve, J. P. Gildersleeve, Irving, Law, Maloney, McCreary, McIntyre, McMahon, McKinnon, Penno, Snook and Wilson.

From the Council on behalf of the Council of Fredericton, N. B., asking for co-operation in petitioning for a change in the law, whereby all Government officials should be required to pay their share towards public improvements.

From Robt. Shaw, to the following effect: "I am instructed by Messrs. Macalister, Shaw, Anglin, Driver, McCall, McLaughlin, Kidd and Murphy to call the attention of the City Council to the fact that the City of Fredericton has not properly levied on them for income as Customs officials of this port, and to request repayment of the same at once, otherwise I am instructed to put the same in suit."

Ald. Allen favored a motion, calling for the dismissal of those officials who would not pay their taxes, and the appointment of others who were willing to contribute to the municipal revenue. He subsequently requested Ald. McIntyre to have a petition passed for presentation to the Government, praying for an amendment in the law.

Ald. McIntyre, seconded by Ald. McKinnon, moved that a petition be drawn up, and signed by all the officials of the City of Fredericton, and forwarded to Ottawa at the earliest possible moment. Ald. Allen suggested that the communication of Mr. Shaw should be left on the table, even if the officials did sue the city.

being the tax on $1,500 of his salary, paid him for the years 1876 and 1877. The grounds of the judgment as to these years were that the salary was not taxable, plaintiff being a duly qualified official, and that payment had been made under duress and protest.

THE SCHOOL BOARD. From S. S. Phippen, Secretary of the School Board, asking for a grant of $4,000 for the purpose of school extension. Ald. Allen—Is this a special grant? The Clerk—It is.

Ald. McKinnon—To be spread over several years by the issue of debentures. Ald. Allen said if it was a special grant he would oppose it until he saw a statement of what it was for. He had no objection to the grant of the School Board if that gentleman, who occupied a seat at the Board, and whom he highly respected (Ald. Irving), had given it to be authorized that it was not the business of the Council to know what the School Board did with the money.

The Mayor suggested that the communication be referred to the School Committee; it is a question of money. Ald. Irving requested Ald. Allen to request the Mayor to contribute to the order that he might make a personal explanation. Ald. Allen understood him to say that it was not the business of the Council what the School Board did with the money voted them.

Ald. Irving said if the members of the City Council saw fit to pursue any particular course they were free to do so, and to express their opinion in reference to it. The law gave the Council certain powers, including the power to expend the public money without going into details. What was said at the Board he could not distinctly remember, but he was satisfied that no disapproval to the Council was intended. It was a matter of opinion whether, in asking the Council for this grant, it was necessary to go into details. If it was considered that the law did not require these details to be given they (the School Trustees) had a right to say so without being obliged to have their share towards public improvements. Ald. Allen had never asked for the details.

Ald. Allen—What, never? Ald. Allen—The same law was not in existence. Ald. Irving—I am simply stating a fact when I say that the School Board has power to ask for certain sums of money, and that the Council must provide them. Ald. Allen—Are we required to give the money in that way? Ald. Irving—It is unnecessary that the details should be given the Council, argument to the contrary notwithstanding. Ald. Allen should not refer to the School Trustees were responsible directly to the people for their expenditure.

Ald. C. F. Gildersleeve—Hear, hear. Ald. Allen—I deny it. Ald. Irving repeated the expression. The School Trustees were appointed for a special purpose, for education, and they were perfectly independent of the Council. In regard to the balance of school monies said to be in the hands of the Treasurer the statement was true to some extent. The amount was only to the credit of the Board to enable it, as an absolute necessity, to pay the teachers and officers the first instalment of their salaries before the budget was brought down in the Council. The same sum was not to the credit of the School Board they would have to borrow it. Nowhere in Canada were the schools as economically managed as in Kingston.

The education for people cost less than any place he had ever seen. The School Board deserved credit for the manner in which its business had been conducted. The schools were in an over-crowded condition; in fact the citizens reported them to the Department of Education it would not be surprising that the grant of the Legislature was discontinued. Ald. Allen—it would be better if they were the case to-morrow. Ald. Irving—That is your opinion. Ald. Allen—And that is the opinion of many citizens.

Ald. Irving said the school expenditures were accumulating fast work and the Trustees were entitled to the support of the Council in asking for a reasonable grant for educational purposes. Ald. Pense alluded to the balance of school monies said to be in the hands of the Treasurer. He said this balance was more nominal than real, and was required, otherwise the teachers and officers would have to wait until June before being paid their salaries. He stated that the School Board had endeavored to be most economical. As to the question of general expense he said the Kingston schools cost half of those of Ottawa, in proportion to the number of scholars. The Board was also clear of debt but about $400, and the enlargement projected was only in keeping with the progress which had characterized the past. The Board had paid in the last two years $100,000 per year for new buildings, and merely sought to continue the process for four years longer. Therefore there would be no increased expenditure.

Ald. Snook said if the Council had to provide the money it had better to deal with it. He could not get for the $4,000 until he saw the plans and estimates; he would not get it blind. He went on to unfavorably criticize the style of the school houses, objecting to all ornamentation, and declaring that the "gallows" on the Williams school cost about as much as another school to the building would have done. Voice—Oh, nonsense. Ald. Allen advised that the complete separation of church and state. The schools should not be subject to the dictation of the Government. He commended the tax on $1,500 of his salary, paid him for the years 1876 and 1877. The grounds of the judgment as to these years were that the salary was not taxable, plaintiff being a duly qualified official, and that payment had been made under duress and protest.
