THE KENT HOUSE—One of our remarkable men was the Duke of Kent, the father of our beloved Queen. The the father of our beloved Queen. city house where he lived in Quebec is now used for office purposes. The Duke was a practical man, and his life was in accord with his principles. It is not strange, then, that his city home should be preserved. Further along in the same street is the old house where the body of General Montgomery was laid on the closing day of 1775. Opposite the St. Louis Hotel, which adjoins the Kent House, at the corner of La Rue des Jardine, stands the building where Montcalm convened his military council. In fact all about this region are historic spots. The monument to Wolfe, on the Plains of Abraham, and that to Wolfs and Montcalm in the Governor's Garden, The Largest, Cheapest and Best overlooking the harbor, and the Porte St. Jean, are so many points of attraction to visitors; and if anyone should he taken sick, every drug store can supply DR. Being free from alcohol, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent. Sold by all druggists. Pamphlets free. Seth W. Fowle & Sons, Proprietors, Buston, Mass.

It is said that some of the alkaloids which enter into the combination of Fellows Hypophosphites are extracted from trees which attain to a great age, and that this fact suggested to Mr. Fellows the idea of their employment. Whether the success of the preparations is due to this we are not prepared to say, but the idea is a good one.
