SCOLARSHIP. Mr. A. Gunn, M. P., has given a scholarship of $100 to be awarded on the result of the Matriculation examinations in connection with Queen's University.

CONFISCATED. Several packages of goods now lie in the Customs' Inspecting Office. They were seized for misrepresentation and under valuation. The Department at Ottawa has been informed and decisions are being awaited.

DAIRY ASSOCIATION. The annual report of the proceedings of the last Convention, (held at London) of the Dairy-men's Association of Western Ontario has been issued. It gives the addresses and speeches of the various lecturers verbatim. To these manufacturers and others concerned in dairy operations the report will have a special interest.

REMOVED TO PARIS. Mr. George Pidgeon who has been long connected with the Grand Trunk Railway, as a clerk in the city offices, has been removed to a position of greater responsibility in Paris, Ont. Mr. Pidgeon is worthy of promotion, having many personal friends to commend him to the consideration and favour of the managers of the road.

OPENING DAY. Yesterday afternoon was opening day at Walsh & Co., millinery rooms. There was an attractive show. The hats and bonnets displayed were very tasty and were much admired. The ladies who have charge of the departments are well qualified for the positions they hold. Those who visited the rooms were pleased with the display and promised to come again.

PERSONAL. Mr. Fellest, of the firm of Pellet & Oler, Toronto, the purchaser of the county debt, was in the city today. Mr. John Elliott has left for Liverpool. He sails from Halifax on Monday. He left cheerfully, there being good prospects of the season's business. The first shipment of cattle for the season, in connection with the firm of which Mr. Elliott is the senior, has been made.

MR. O'REILLY'S FUNERAL. This morning the funeral of the late P. O'Reilly took place at 8:30 o'clock. It was very largely attended by the many friends of the deceased. The remains were taken to the cathedral, where Rev. Father Twomey officiated in the Gregorian mass. The choir was present in full force and sang with touching effect. The pall bearers were Messrs. McGuire, J. McIntyre, P. Brown, J. Swift, M. Flanagan and R. T. Walker.

P. M. SOCIAL. Last evening the social given by Mr. Henry Bennett in the P. M. Church, Brock street, was quite successful. It was well attended. The refreshments were generously provided by the gentlemen mentioned, and his presence, although in delicate health, was a matter for congratulation. There were addresses by Rev. Messrs. Jolliffe and Young, and singing by the choir and others. The P. M. Church has no debt, but there are other small liabilities which are fast being liquidated by these socials.

THE LAST ENTERTAINMENT. Last evening the last public meeting of the Young People's Association of Chalmers' Church took place; Rev. Mr. McQuig in the chair. The entertainment was for the benefit of the Sabbath School Fund which was much benefited thereby. The readers were Messrs. D. G. McFarlane, T. Driver, Mrs. W. J. Gage and Capt. Middleton; the soloists Mrs. Jackson, Miss Dickson, Mrs. W. Leslie, Mrs. Hoehart, Mr. Atkins, Mr. Galloway and Mr. W. J. Gage; and instrumental pieces were given by Miss Muroso, Misses M. Adams and Miss Macalister, Mrs. P. Gray and Messrs. Martin, Crighton and O'Hara.

Loss by Fire. Capt. Crossley, who lived on one of the islands known as the Brothers, sustained a serious loss by fire on Thursday morning. He left home for the purpose of lifting nets at Sand Bay, and during his absence it is believed his house was set on fire. At any rate it was burned down, and the loss to Capt. Crossley includes a neat building, a chronometer, a field glass, a gold watch and chain, considerable clothing, and papers, including his rank as a master on lake and ocean vessels. The fire is to be deeply regretted.

This morning early a fire was discovered in an unoccupied house on old Millpoint, Wolfe Island. The house belonged to Mr. John Leffler. It was insured for $600. The furniture in the house, which belonged to a gentleman who resided there during the summer, was also destroyed, but was fully insured. The fire was caused, no doubt, by an incendiary—probably by some person who had been in the house over night, and accidentally set it a fire.

Death in England. The London Times contains a notice of the death of the 26th ultimo, at the Government Hospital, Helms, of Brigades Surgeon A. P. Corbett, M. D., aged 49 years. Dr. Corbett was the eldest son of the late Sheriff Corbett, of Kingston. He obtained a commission as assistant Surgeon in the Army during the Crimean war. He leaves a widow and five children, a son and four daughters, all of whom are in the army, and is leaving a large estate. He was a devoted and successful officer, and his death is a great loss to the service.

WIND WAITS. FROM VARIOUS SOURCES AND ON VARIOUS THEMES. The number seeking protection at the police station has decreased. Prof. Hotchin will be found in the Albion Hotel on the 10th, 11th and 12th May. Preparations for the camping season have been already begun at the St. Lawrence park. Prof. Strong winds and moderate gales from the north east to south east, cloudy to rainy weather.

Mary McCullough, the virago of Toronto got, arrived at her new home in the Kingston Penitentiary to-day. Two constables were sent to guard her. The I.O.O.F. Relief Record for April contains a portrait of the Grand Master, Fine Fowler, M. D. It also gives an account of his career as an Oddfellow.

The number of pensioners of the Imperial Government paid off this week in Kingston was 243. There were several sick men besides, whose money was sent to them. John Rateray, of Grindstone Island, fed a pig a pailful of milk the other morning, and then out of curiosity put the pig in the same pail and found that it was only half full!

Mr. Gillespie, keeper of the light-house at Long Island, has a monstrosity in the shape of a lamb with eight legs. There were two bodies, joined at the shoulders, and one head. To-morrow the Finger-board tavern, the most noted of the well known hostels of Pittsburg, will be offered at auction in the Market Square to-morrow, together with the adjoining farm.

On Tuesday next the Spring term of the Court of Chancery will open here at 2:30 o'clock, Chancellor Sprague presiding. The following cases are set down for hearing: McMillan vs. Davidson—Messrs. Smith & Decker for plaintiff; Messrs. Macdonnell & Muir and Hawden & Machar for defendant.

Estes vs. Rose—Mr. T. L. Snook for plaintiff; Messrs. Hawden & Machar for defendant. Vanlerven vs. Vanlerven—Messrs. Walker & Walker for plaintiff; Messrs. Macdonnell & Muir for defendant.

Macdonnell and Barney—Mr. John Muir for plaintiff. Campbell vs. Wilson—Mr. Robert Shaw for plaintiff; Messrs. Hawden & Machar for defendant.

Raymond vs. Maxwell—Messrs. Britton & Whiting for plaintiff; Mr. John McIntyre for defendant. Murphy vs. Allen—Messrs. Kirkpatrick & Rogers for plaintiff; Mr. T. L. Snook for defendant.

Trayon vs. K. and P. Railway—Mr. James Agnew for plaintiff; Messrs. Kirkpatrick & Rogers for defendant. Campbell vs. Harry—Messrs. McGuire & Claxton for plaintiff; Messrs. Britton & Whiting for defendant.

A-Jarson vs. Cowan—Messrs. Macdonnell & Muir for plaintiff; Messrs. Walker & Walker for defendant. Brown vs. Simpson—Mr. T. L. Snook for plaintiff; Messrs. Britton & Whiting for defendant.

Marine. Arrived at Port Colborne scull. Eliza Allen from Buffalo with coal. The schr. "Kate," of Oakville, has been sold to Capt. P. Clark for $2,400. The "Flight" commenced her trips between Picton and Napanee on Monday.

The schr. "Olivia" has been sold to Messrs. J. O'Brien and D. Sullivan for $3,000. A schooner is being finished at Bath for Capt. Ostrander. She will carry between 6,000 and 7,000 bushels of wheat. An effort will be made to recover two anchors lost late last fall on what is known as the middle grounds, Wellers' Bay.

The propeller "Cuba," of the Toronto and Ogdensburg Line, came into port this morning for the first time. She will run regularly on her old route. The schr. "Agnes Hope" arrived at Portmouth yesterday from Port Hope with 14,000 bushels of peas, consigned to the St. Lawrence and Chicago Forwarding Company.

Had the "Maad" remained much longer on Horse Shoe Island the results would have been more serious than they were. Considerable trouble was experienced in getting her off. The power of the "Hiram Catlin" was well taxed.

Assault and Robbery. On Tuesday a pensioner named Samuel Fraser, living at Portmouth, drew his quarterly pension. He paid a few small liabilities, and had a balance of about $15. About dusk the same evening a number of persons forcibly entered his house. He and his wife were alone, and without a light in the room. They attacked the old man, beating him severely. While being maltreated he declared two persons, (whom he names and for whom warrants have been issued) extracted the money from his pocket. Fraser was so sore from the blows he had received that he was not able until yesterday to make complaint to Mr. Schroder, J. P., who took measures to have the guilty persons brought to justice.

Last night the house of Miss Wolfe, York Street, was attacked by several ruffians. They attempted to force the door. In she barricaded the door, but when the lock was broken she left the place and hurried to the police station for assistance. The persons who made the attack are known to the police, and it is not unreasonable to hope that they will be brought to account.

ITS EXPLOSIVE QUALITIES—ACTION TO STOP THE MANUFACTURE IN MONTREAL. At the Court of Queen's Bench, Montreal, an action is being tried at present for the suppression of the manufacture of nitro-glycerine. Yesterday a lively witness was examined, in the person of Mr. Lamoth Dupont, a gunpowder manufacturer, who testified that there had been but four explosions during the eighty years his factory had been in operation. He believed people had reasonable ground to fear the presence of the magazine, and that the chances were that a magazine would blow up once in four thousand years. He believed that if a train was upon the track when one of these magazines exploded it would be damaged, but made a calculation that this was likely to happen once in one hundred thousand years. The cross-examination brought out the narration of some peculiar incidents. Witness testified he had shot a ball through a keg of powder, and that brought no explosion, while his cousin shot a ball through the same keg afterward and procured an explosion, doubtless by having struck fire to some metallic substance. A wave of heat from an explosion might go right around the earth. Explosions of powder mills were like women—some men's wives—the more you heard them the less you liked them.

Mr. H. A. Bain, Professor of Chemistry at the Royal Military College, Kingston, regarded nitro-glycerine as one of the most explosive compounds. He did not regard spontaneous combustion possible, but a large quantity of the article was not pure nitro-glycerine. There was a danger of explosion when decomposition set in.

We read the proceedings of the case with much interest, especially since the Company have shipped via this city large quantities of the suspicious compound. On one occasion, not long since, three tons and a half of it were landed in the city, and left in a hotel yard over night while the party in charge rested the horses that had drawn it all the way from Montreal. The presence of the material was unknown, otherwise the occupants of a certain hotelery would not have slept so happily while it was within the shadow of their rooms.

KENNEBEC ELECTION. THE REVENUE REVEREND—MR. WILLIAMS UNSATISFIED AND M. MILLS SUSTAINED. The judgment in the Kennebec election case has been given by Judge Price in Chambers. It will be remembered that last January Messrs. Mills and Williams were candidates for the Revenuership of this township. The Returning Officer, Mr. Thomas Andrews, declared Mr. Williams elected by a majority of five votes. Mr. Mills immediately commenced proceedings to set the election aside for two reasons: (1) that he (Mills) had received a majority of legally polled votes, and (2) that Williams was guilty of corrupt practices. The case was tried several days ago, and considerable evidence taken. The judge received his decision, and delivered it yesterday. He made a recount of the ballots and found that Mills had received 63 votes and Williams 66, thus entitling Mills to the seat. With regard to the corrupt practices Mr. Williams denied all agency or right on the part of any persons to offer any inducements to voters to support him. The Judge, however, held, from the evidence given, that there had been bribery by agents. The Judge severely censured some voters whom the respondent, Williams, had dealt with. Bribery was to them not a new thing, as they went about it in a very business-like manner, and endeavored to keep their acts veiled. In a township where less than seventy votes elect a man, and where about half a dozen persons hold the balance of power, the Judge thought the zeal of the candidates' friends might cause them to overreach their expressed authority, but he did not consider Mr. Williams guilty of bribery other than by agents. With regard to the Returning Officer the Judge thought he had acted according to the best of his knowledge, and that in counting the ballots and returning Williams he simply made a mistake. Mr. Williams will be compelled to pay all costs.

Pay your water account and save discount. Mills's expense. (Mail.) The system of district staffs is disproportionately expensive, considering the strength of the militia force. The total expenditure for staff purposes was last year $22,170, or more than one cent of the whole expenditure. Of this sum $12,000 was paid for salaries and expenses of the deputy adjutant-general, and $10,000 for brigade majors, who, however useful they might be as organizers in time of war, are entirely needless and unnecessary in time of peace. It would be far better to merge the deputy adjutant-general and brigade major in the more appropriate title of district staff officer, and let one officer do the routine work for each district. By this means a saving of about $22,000 could be effected, as in the smaller districts the staff officer could act as district paymaster and quartermaster also. This sum, and $40,000 from the annual allotments for arms and drill instruction—charging the care of military properties against the revenue derived from them, and applying re-funds for purchase of stores and ammunition to replacing such stores—would be sufficient to effect a saving of at least $100,000, to be applied towards increasing the facilities for drill by means of camps of instruction, and reducing the tension which now so disagreeably affects the force when any requisition for drilling money, be so applied. In the interests of economy and of the active militia force these matters demand consideration.

Emphatic Opinion. George III. of England built a royal vault or tomb house, and desired that his body should be placed on a stone table in the center of the room. Charles II. by his side, and that their children and descendants should lie on the shelves around. Princess Charlotte, the Duke of York and Kent, and some other members of the family were accordingly placed on the shelves, and the Queen, King George III. being in the centre. But some time before the death of George IV. he acquainted himself with all the minutiae of the family sepulchre, and declared to the Duke of Wellington that "he'd be a judge if he'd be on a shelf among the dead, and left very special directions that he should be placed in the centre.

POLICE COURT. AN INTERESTING DOCKET—THE LIVELIEST COURT FOR SOME TIME—FUN FOR THE GOOD. The two young lads accused of stealing wood from the M. T. Company's dock, were released at the urgent solicitation of their mothers, and at the request of the outside manager of the company, Capt. Gaskin. This morning no person appeared to prosecute them, and the boys were discharged. Margaret Dougherty, who was arrested yesterday in a terrible plight appeared at the bar to answer to a charge of drunkenness. She had a more presentable appearance than yesterday. She wore a nice shawl and sported luxuriant curls in which she took much pride. She had a pleasant face, but a bad tongue. The magistrate asked her what she had to say, but she only murmured that she was very sick when carted down to the station. The P. M. gave her the chance of a fine of $5 or six months in goal. Margaret had no money, and at mention of limbo used very vile epithets. She said she "would rather go to h—l than go to goal." She supposed she'd lose her curls.

Patrick O'Brien, a young man of probably twenty-two summers, responded to charges of drunkenness, disorderly conduct, breaking windows, assault and robbery. He admitted being drunk but could not plead to any of the other offences. A witness gave an account of the riotous conduct of the young man on Wellington street. He broke Baxter's windows, assaulted the young girl at the house, and threatened the family. The magistrate imposed a fine of $15 or 3 months. The prisoner in a huffy mood set down remarking that "B— they had a nice set of policemen in Kingston. They had nearly broken his wrist." The P. M. further extended his time a month for contempt of court.

Louis Mussen, from Ottawa, and John Bennett, of Newboro, confessed that they had "smiled" too often. They were discharged. Bennett is an old pensioner and came to the city for his usual Government's allowance. He saluted the P. M. before he left.

Mary Lowery was charged with assaulting Mr. Thompson. She admitted the offence. She stated that she meant to hit his complainant's wife but he came in the way and she marked him. The case commenced over Mary's fork. She related the story of her wrongs—and then Thompson gave his version of the story. The "chip" Mary threw at him proved to be about two feet long and six inches wide. Mary was fined $5 or the alternative of being in jail 15 days in goal. She said it was "worth that to spill the fellow's blood." The magistrate asked her if she desired "to spill any more blood." "She guessed not." She thought the whole crowd should be bound over to keep the peace, but her motions were not adopted. This closed the Court.
