WHERE THE MONEY WENT.

WHAT JUDGE BRENNAN SAYS ABOUT THE SKIRMISHING FUND.

Judge Brennan, a delegate to the Philadelphia Convention of United Irishmen, whose deliberations about the 'skirmishing fund' have received some publicity, in an interview published in the New York Herald of Thursday is reported to have said: 'I was one of the signers to the call for that Convention,' said he, 'and afterward became its chairman. We thought, and so think, it is time for Irishmen to do something more than fighting with their mouths. I can't tell you what we decreed in that Convention, but so far as our motives regarding the skirmishing fund are concerned we acted simply from a desire to satisfy the reasonable curiosity of our constituents, who had subscribed to it, and who believed that some of the assets were being diverted, not misappropriated, mind you, but diverted. We were not appointed a committee with powers of impeachment. We did not impugn the motive or the personal honesty of any trustee, but we believe the fund had been drawn upon for assisting the election of certain members of Parliament.'

'What proof did you have of that?'

'We had proof that I am not at liberty to disclose; not proof that would hold in a court of law, 'prima facie' proof that the skirmishing fund was being devoted to the purposes of the Land League. Now the original purpose of that fund was to make war upon the property of Great Britain — to destroy as much as possible with the minimum of loss to Ireland. The trustees of the fund have not denied this charge, but they explained it in such a way that we are unwilling, as I said before, to impugn their intentions. One of the trustees, Mr. DeVoy, is personally antagonistic to Mr. Rossa. With this we had nothing to do. I came East with only peaceable intentions. Mr. DeVoy may pour his poison on the head of Mr. Rossa, or Mr. Rossa may pour his poison on the head of Mr. DeVoy—it can make no difference to us. DeVoy is honest; but he is afflicted with the leprosy of individual malice. However, I am going to report to my constituents in Iowa that for all personal difference between Irishmen here the old fire of hatred of the common enemy is yet burning.'

A Lover's Quarrel.

It is the fashion in Hungary for peasant girls and women to adorn their heads with gay-colored handkerchiefs twisted cunningly into the hair, so that their gaudy folds alternate with the heavy flat plaits in which Magyar maids and matrons are wont to arrange their tresses. Nothing more intrinsically harmless than a head dress of this kind can be imagined; yet such a handkerchief has recently proved the "leading motive" to a terrible tragedy. A few days ago a young engaged couple entered a draper's shop in Sepsi Szent Gyorgy for the purpose of buying a wedding cap for the bride, who duly selected one to her taste, but, while her betrothed was paying for his purchase, cast her eyes upon an uncommonly handsome handkerchief, and expressed her desire to possess it. The enamored youth, however, peremptorily refused to invest any more of his capital in headgear, whereupon, after rating him soundly for his stinginess, she abruptly turned her back upon him and left the shop. Indignant at this proceeding, he straightway betook himself to the dwelling of a rival village beauty, to whom he offered not only his hand and heart, but the cap he had purchased for his former fiancee, besides the many-hued handkerchief that had awakened her longings. All his offerings were accepted; but his forsaken love, unable to bear the mortification inflicted upon her by his faithlessness and the triumph of her rival, promptly hanged herself in her bedroom. Considerable sympathy was manifested with her sad fate by her fellow-villagers, who followed her body to the grave in large numbers, and the fickle bridegroom, meeting the funeral cortege as it passed down the main street, was so stricken by remorse that he also put an end to his life the same evening.—London Telegraph.

A Very Sad Case.

Thomas De Jarnette entered a disreputable house in Danville, Va., enquiring for Mollie De Jarnette, an inmate. She recognized him as her brother, and at his request went with him to a private room. Soon afterwards repeated pistol shots were heard from the room. The police were called in and found the door fastened, broke it down and discovered the girl on the floor weltering in her blood and the brother standing by with pistol in hand. He averred that he shot his sister to wipe out the disgrace of the family. He declared his willingness to accept the penalty of the law. The girl was shot in five places and cannot survive. She protests that her brother was right in taking her life, and begs that he be not punished. On separation after the tragedy, brother and sister embraced with mutual forgiveness and tears of grief. The girl is only 17 years old and went astray a few months since. She was remarkably pretty and intelligent. The brother is about 20, a railroad agent and telegraph operator, at Brown's Summit, N. C. The mother, widow of Dr. James De Jarnette, lives in Caswell county, N. C., is very poor, but her connections are highly respectable. The family was rich before the war.

Brooks, Me., Sept. 7, 1870.

DEAR SIR—From early youth I was in feeble health, troubled with humor in my blood, weakness and debility of the system generally; was unable to labor much, and only at some light business, and then only with great caution. Seven years ago, the past spring, I had a severe attack of Diphtheria, which left my limbs paralyzed and useless, so I was unable to walk or even sit up. Noticing the advertisement of PERUVIAN SYRUP, I concluded to give it a trial, and to my great joy soon found my health improving. I continued the use of the SYRUP until three bottles had been used, and was restored to complete health, and have remained so to this day. I attribute my present health entirely to the use of PERUVIAN SYRUP, and hold it in high estimation. I cannot speak too highly in its praise. I have in several cases recommended it in cases very similar to my own with the same good results.

Yours truly,
CHARLES E. PERCY.

TIMELY ADVICE.—Everybody at this season of the year is liable to sudden attacks of sickness, and it is important to have on hand a remedy, prompt in action and yet safe alike to young and old. Nervoline promptly cures chills, spasms and cramps. Nerveline never fails to cure vomiting, diarrhœa, cholera and dysentery. Nerveline is in fact the most useful family remedy in the world. Sold by Polson & Co.

"TEABERRY."—The newest wonder for whitening the teeth, delightfully refreshing to the mouth. To try it is to become a friend to the piquant, irresistibly popular dentifrice of the day.

A national blessing is SOZODONT, for there can be no "foul-mouthed" man or woman who uses it. It is purifying, beautifying, and exquisite in flavor. Whoever uses it regularly will keep his teeth for years, and whoever abstains denies himself a great luxury. It costs comparatively but little money, and is invaluable.

Why is SPALDING'S GLUE like love? Because it forms strong attachment. Oh, dear.

Speed of Railway Trains.

The new fast mail train has revived the discussion of the comparative speed of American and European railway trains. A fast train between London and Leeds has recently been started by the Great Northern Railway, which makes the trip in three hours and three-quarters, the average speed being 49 miles an hour including stoppages. This train the London Times pronounces the fastest train in the world, rating next to it the train which makes the same trip in four hours; and next to that the "Flying Dutchman," which runs from London to Exeter, 194 miles, in four hours and a quarter; and next to that the "Wild Irishman," which runs from Euston to Holyhead, 264 miles, in six hours and thirty five minutes. Our English cousins appear to be oblivious to the improvements in railway travel on this side of the sea. They have not heard of the train which runs from Jersey City to West Philadelphia, 90 miles, in ninety-three minutes, and that the slowest train of the Pennsylvania Railway makes the same trip at the rate of 46 miles an hour, including fifty-four stops. London has many fast trains, but the trains between New York and Philadelphia are some of them faster.—N. Y. Mail.

Wonderful Lightning Freak.

Glen Sutton, P. Q., was visited the other day by about the liveliest and most versatile streak of lightning we ever heard of. During a heavy shower there, the lightning struck a house owned, we believe, by a man named Latock, and occupied by Mr. Odette. At the time of the shower Odette was sitting at the dinner table, and there were five or six persons besides in the house. The lightning struck the chimney first, tearing it away down to the first floor and scattering the bricks and plastering in all directions; it disjointed all the rafters on one side of the roof, struck a clock in the room, tore the inside all out, melted the link which hung, with the watch, under the clock; threw the watch into another room knocked a saucer from Odette's hand and burned a hole in the table cloth just in front of him, took a prop-stick from an upstair window and carried it through a down stairs room, tore a big stone out of the cellar wall, and knocked a pork barrel to splinters, besides making itself conspicuous in other ways. Strange as it may seem, no one in the house was hurt, though Odette was considerably astonished; and a school teacher who was there at the time was so shocked that she fainted after the lightening had finished its capers and withdrawn. Altogether, it was a wonderful performance, such as occurs very seldom.—St. Albans' Advertiser.

'Tos He was a Baptist.

A zealous Congregationalist, during a visit among Baptist friends in Pittsburg, accepted the invitation of the superintendent to be present at the Sunday school, and take a class of little ones just sent up from the infant department. The lesson introduced John, the disciple of our Lord. As older heads have often confounded him with that John who came preaching in the wilderness, the teacher felt anxious to bring out his personality very clearly, so she asked:

"By what name do you know this John?"

"John the Evangelist, John the Revelator, John the Beloved," answered the eager voices.

"Why was he called the beloved?" she continued.

"Because Jesus loved him the best."

"Why did he love him best?" said our friend.

Imagine her discomfiture when a sweet voice lisped, "'Tos he was a Baptist!"

by its supplying all the essential constituents of the blood and nerve substance and for developing all the powers and functions of the system to the highest degree.

IT IS AGREEABLE TO THE PALATE, AND INNOCENT

in its action, while retaining all its extraordinary properties, and, as a specific, surpassing all the known therapeutic agents of the day for the speedy and

Permanent Cure of

Nervous prostration, Trembling of the hands
Liver complaints, and limbs,
Palpitation of the heart, Impaired digestion,
Dizziness, Mental and physical depression,
Noises in the head and ears, Consumption (in its first stages),
Loss of energy and appetite, Impaired sight and memory,
Hypochondria, Nervous fancies,
General debility, Impoverished blood,
Indigestion, Nervous debility in all its stages,
Incapacity for study or business, Premature decline,
Lassitude, Shortness of breath,
and all morbid conditions of the system arising from whatever cause.

THE ACTION OF THE VITAL RESTORATIVE IS TWO-FOLD,

on the one hand increasing the principle which constitutes nervous energy, and on the other the most powerful blood and flesh generating agent known, therefore, a marvellous medicine for renovating impaired and broken-down constitutions. It quickly improves the function of assimilation to such a degree that, where for years an emaciated, anxious, cadaverous and semi-vital condition has existed, the flesh will rapidly increase in quantity and firmness, and the whole system return to a robust state of health.

The Vital Restorative

acts electrically upon the organization, for instance, it assists nature to generate that human electricity which renews and rebuilds the osseous, muscular, nervous membranous and organic systems. It operates on the system without exciting care or thought upon the individual as to the process. It moves the lungs, liver, heart, kidneys, stomach and intestines with a harmony, vigour, yet mildness, unparalleled in medicine.

The Vital Restorative

gives back to the human structure, in a suitable form, the phosphoric or animating element of life which has been wasted, and exerts an important influence directly on the spinal marrow and nervous system, of a nutritive tonic and invigorating character, maintaining that buoyant energy of the brain and muscular system which renders the mind cheerful, brilliant, and energetic, entirely overcoming that dull, inactive, and sluggish disposition which many persons experience in all their actions.

Finally, the Vital Restorative maintains a certain degree of activity in the previously debilitated nervous system; its use enables all debilitated organs to return to their sound state and perform their natural functions. Persons suffering from Nervous Debility, or any of the hundred symptoms which this distressing disease assumes, may rest assured of an effectual and even speedy cure by the judicious use of this most invaluable remedy.

THIS MEDICINE IS EXTENSIVELY USED IN THE ARMY, and is also in very general use in Hospitals and Public Sanitary Institutions throughout the land, as well as in private practice, and is considered as an invaluable remedy.
