PROMISING A DESERTER.—Bombardier Kenley of "B" Battery, and County Constable Irwin are in pursuit of a deserter from "A" Battery named Griffin, supposed to be on Howe Island. SAULERS UNION.—Sailors arriving at Toronto from Kingston complain of the utter lack of unity in the Union here, that wages are quoted, but that the men accept whatever is offered. Kingston men can perhaps make explanations. FOR THE CAMBODIA ISLAND.—The M. E. church people intend having an excursion to Wells Island on Tuesday, July 27th, on the steamer "Hastings". The boat will leave Kingston at 12:45 o'clock and return at 8:30. Tickets, ladies, 25c; gents, 50c. Come one, come all. PORTSMOUTH CONVICTS.—Jas. Leader, of Barriefield, was on Monday tried before Mr. Schroder, J.P., Portsmouth, with assaulting Bertha Anderson, aged 7, by forcibly taking a basket of chips from her. The chips he emptied on the road and the basket he threw into the Casarquet. He was fined $1 and costs, $3 50. WRETCHED SIDEWALKS.—Complaints are numerous respecting the condition of the sidewalks. Boards are loose, in some places the planks are gone altogether, and the walks here thus become decidedly dangerous. Why in this condition of affairs allowed to exist? Who is to blame? By the neglect of some municipal representatives or officials the city is being disgraced. THOUSAND ISLAND PARK.—The bustle of many arrivals and of the opening of cottages, business offices and public places, indicates the beginning of what bids fair to be one of the most pleasant and prosperous seasons yet seen at the park. Among the improvements noticed are the introduction of a new and fuller water supply, and the clearing away of undergrowth. CRITICISM OF A SERMON.—On Sunday Father McWilliams preached in the R. C. church at Odessa, and he made some references to the young men and their errors in religious matters as the result of ignorance, which allusions have not pleased one hearer, who has sent us a criticism too sharp and personal for publication. A RASH DRIVER.—Early last evening a young man, evidently a rascal, and intoxicated, drove rapidly through the city. On Barris street he left the centre of the street and came in violent collision with a tree, which lamed the animal, broke the vehicle, and cut the obstreperous driver. A wound in the head seemed to stun him, as he lay quite prostrate on the ground for a time. PATRIOTIC ACCIDENT.—On Thursday last the little son of Mr. E. H. Smythe (George) fell down some steps at H. O. Hitchcock's, Wolfe Island, and suffered a dislocation of the shoulder and a fracture of the same. It was fully twenty-four hours after the accident before Mr. Smythe realized the nature of the injuries and had them attended to by a skillful physician. The brave little fellow showed unusual nerve during the operation of re-setting. UNCLE TOM'S.—Mr. Thomas Flanagan, cabin man, desires us to state that he was not on Gunn's wharf on Monday evening when Miss Potter was drowned, and that it was not his cab which caused the unfortunate young lady to slip aside so much out of the way as to fall into the water. Some people have been saying hard things of him and all the while he is innocent of being present let alone bearing any blame in the matter. Recent Burglary. Some time ago burglars entered the boarding house of Mrs. Edward Wilton, residing at the head of William street near Barris street, and stole a quantity of plated ware. The case was reported to the police office and Detective Macaulay spent several days in making search for the missing goods, but traces of the thieves or the stolen property could not be obtained. Later on about forty men were engaged in loading tin upon a Grand Trunk train near W. Brewster's, and one of these came upon the articles mentioned. Not knowing that they were stolen, the finder, one Rothwell, living near Kingston Mills, took them home with him, but he made no effort to conceal the fact. Detective Macaulay, learning of the recovery of the goods, reported the circumstances to Mrs. Wilton, whose son accompanied the officer to the residence of Mr. Rothwell. The plated ware was identified. Rothwell had no hesitation in giving it up, indeed he was anxious to return the property to its owner. WIND WAFTS. This popular resort is enjoying the fullest measure of public patronage, the fine Grand Hotel being filled by a pleasant company from every corner of the land. The sociability of the visitors at the Springs has long been proverbial. The spacious piazzas has all day long its merry groups, while the many sources of amusement provided are in constant operation. The laying out of new drives, walks and lawns for croquet and tennis, the many hundreds of trees planted and the shrubberies now make the surroundings of the Springs a fairy land. The great advantage the Caledonia Springs possess over other watering places were aptly expressed by an American gentleman: "Water with no superior in the world, atmosphere as pure and bracing as at the seaside, the entire absence of all annoying insects, the refined society, the enjoyment pervading everywhere, the superior accommodation and moderate charges of the Grand Hotel, and not the least possibility of frittering away one's money in little nothings, as it is necessary to do at the ordinary watering places. In the way of evening entertainments the "hops" have been as successful as ever and with the concerts have formed happy conclusions to the days. During the past week the visitors have taken much pleasure from readings of popular authors by the celebrated Mrs. Edna Chaffee Noble, who by her personal charms and private virtues has not only endeared herself to the patrons of the Grand Hotel during her meteoric visit, but by her talents as a reader has charmed them greatly. She pleased here again made her visit to the Springs memorable by the presentation of an address expressive of their admiration, accompanied it by a gold coin bracelet and ear drops inscribed "Caledonia." The weather has been delightful, in fact too much so for the thirsty country. Hardly a shower has fallen for over five weeks. The highest temperature registered at the Springs has been, 85° with the mornings and evenings cool. This week a large influx of visitors is expected. Felles Court. Louis Stonehouse was arrested for larceny. His effects were searched for a sum of money stolen from John Goodfriend, a sailor companion, and supposed to have been in possession of the prisoner. A little hand looking glass and two common towels were found among his trappings, but he said he picked them up, the former on the vessel and the latter on the Penitentiary wharf, without intention of committing larceny. The case was dismissed. Margaret Bess, an snoring character, given to vagrant life and intoxication, was committed for six months to the county gaol. William McLeod, drunk, fined $1 and costs. John Henderson, for making an unprovoked attack upon a tavern keeper with whom he had some difficulty, was fined $2 and costs. Another offender languishes in the station. He is accused of not supporting his wife. MOONLIGHT EXCURSION.—Last evening's trip of the people of St. James' church on the "Maud" was held under pleasant auspices of wind and weather. About two hundred persons were on board, which was not a crowd and yet made a lively party. The Battery band played delightfully, and was the chief charm of the trip. The refreshment table was supplied with abundance and the young ladies met a constant call for their refreshers. The arrival home at a seasonable hour completed the delights of a very pleasant trip. —What the world needs now is a fire-proof, non-sinkable steamboat.

BATTERY. FURTHER INFORMATION RESPECTING THE MILITARY CAREER OF THE OFFICERS AND NON-COM. OFFICERS. Through lack of proper information, no doubt, our correspondent of yesterday, in his introduction of some of the officers and non-commissioned officers of "B" Battery to our readers, made a few omissions which we now supply. There is no Lieutenant Baby in the Battery. The Lieutenants rank according to seniority. First Lieutenant and Captain C. J. Short joined the Battery at its very beginning. The efficiency of the mounted division is in a great measure due to his efforts. He is considered one of the best authorities in Canada on Field Artillery and Cavalry subjects. He is a general favorite. Second Lieutenant and Brevet Major Fraser, Acting Adjutant, is a retired officer of the Quebec Garrison Artillery. He served as Captain during the Red River expedition of 1870. Three years ago he accepted a commission as Lieutenant in the Battery, after having completed his courses in the School of Gunnery. Third Lieutenant, Brevet Major P. Y. O. Hebert, a French Canadian officer, was gazetted to the Battery in 1878. He had served for a few years previous as Major in the 65th Battalion, Montreal. Fourth Lieutenant and Major Tescheau also received his commission in '78. Lieutenant Tescheau commanded for five or six years the Battery permanently embodied for service in Manitoba. Surgeon Major Neilson commenced his military career as Assistant-Surgeon in the Royal Artillery, was shortly afterwards placed in charge of the 2nd Quebec Rifles, one of the corps which formed part of the Red River expedition under Sir Garnet Wolseley. After serving in that country for over a year, during which time he rendered valuable services in attending the Indians who were suffering from a scourge of small pox, he was offered and accepted the surgeoncy of "B" Battery, which was then about being raised. With the exception of a year or so spent at Aldershot and at the Army Medical School at Netley, Dr. Neilson has been since in medical charge of the Battery. His amiable qualities have endeared him to all in and out of the corps, and his generous disposition and ample means have permitted him to relieve more than one in need. The supernumeraries are: Lieut. Imiah, Acting Quartermaster, an officer of the Halifax Field Battery. Lieut. Rutherford, 66th Battalion, Halifax. Lieut. Cole, St. John, N. B. Garrison Artillery. Lieut. Lisard, Quebec Garrison Artillery. One of the most deserving and justly popular non-commissioned officers in Hospital Corporal Labbat. He graduated in medicine in a medical school in Paris, France; came to America in 1876 with the French Commission to the Philadelphia exhibition, and subsequently enlisted in the Battery. He is industriously devoted to his hospital duties. In his leisure moments he edits the French portion of the Canada Military Gazette. Sergeant Ballantyne is a veteran of old. He is the post office orderly. His well known figure, weighed with messes which were missed in the streets of the old Rock City. Soon he will be no more of a stranger to Kingstonians. Sergeant Sloane is the beau ideal of the young soldier. THE LATE ACCIDENTS. THE REELEY'S BAY DROWNING CASES.—DOUBLE CALAMITY—THE POTTER DEATH. We have already briefly announced the drowning of a child and one Neil near Seeley's Bay. A correspondent supplies the full particulars thus: On Saturday afternoon a child of Wm. Richardson, M.P.P., about 3 years of age, strayed from the house into the village and wandered to the bay near Mr. D. Collinson's saw mill. Here it had played around for some time. About 4 o'clock a girl was sent to find it, and being told that it had been seen near the mill prosecuted the search in that direction. On nearing the water the girl noticed a hat floating and a few yards farther on found the child in 12 or 18 inches of water. As it had probably been a half an hour or more in the water life was, of course, extinct. As Mr. Richardson was not at home two persons, John Neil and Louis Douglas, were dispatched in a skiff to acquaint him of his loss. On arriving at the opposite side of White Fish Lake they learned that Mr. Richardson had already started for home by another route. While on their way back the steam barge "Rose" came along, and the two men concluded to have a tow. They accordingly pulled along side the barge, and both men caught hold of the rail. Neil, however, being in the stern of the boat, pulled that end too close to the barge, thus causing the bow to swing out so far that young Douglas had to let go his hold. When Neil felt the boat swinging away from the barge he attempted to regain his upright position in the skiff, his body being extended out over the side. In so doing he fell overboard, and as he could not swim was drowned before any assistance could be rendered. In justice to the Potter brothers, of the "Rose," it must be said that they did all in their power to rescue him. The engine was reversed at once, but as the barge was going at full speed they had no chance to reach him in time, and as there was over 18 feet of water they could not recover the body. On Sunday morning at daylight a large party started from the barge, and after two hours' search succeeded in finding the body. As decomposition set in rapidly he had to be interred on Sunday evening. Mr. Neil was a quiet industrious man, and leaves a wife and one child. Mr. Richardson's child was buried on Monday morning at 10 o'clock. Messrs. W. E. Holton, F. Ross and John Grant accompanied the remains of Miss Potter to Belleville. Several of the pleasure party, which the deceased purposed joining when the fatal accident occurred, felt so much impressed by the event that they left the boat at Brockville and returned home. —What the world needs now is a fire-proof, non-sinkable steamboat.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS. EXAMINATION OF QUEEN STREET SCHOOL YESTERDAY—THE LAST OF THE SERIES—A DECIDED SUCCESS. The examination of the several departments of the Queen street public school yesterday proved to be an interesting and successful termination of the series of public examinations that has occupied the attention of our local educationalists during the past few days. The same difficulty was experienced here as in all the other large schools of the city, viz., that the time allotted to each department was entirely inadequate to overtake the classes and give them fair play. To partially make up for this drawback the plan was adopted of running the examination in two of the junior departments simultaneously during the morning, the examinations being held at 9 o'clock and 10 o'clock by Mr. Horney taking supervision of the examination in Miss Scott's room, containing the primary department, Mr. Packer, teacher, was also present, not only in this room but throughout the day in all the departments. A few parents and friends manifested their interest in the room as they were present, and they were repaid by the way in which the children went creditably through their elementary exercises. The prizes awarded in this class were to Harry McNeils and Freddie Godwin, with a special prize added by the Chairman of the school, and won by Annie Laird. Mr. Horney addressed a few words of cheerful encouragement to the little folks, and dismissed them for their holidays. MORE ADVANCED WORK. In Miss Hentig's room, which was the next examined, there were present Messrs. Horney and Tandy, trustees; Mr. Kidd, the Inspector, and a number of visitors. The classes here were examined minutely by the Inspector, assisted by the gentlemen above named. The examination was necessarily simple, including reading, writing, tables, enumeration, &c., but the answers were prompt and correct, and the performance of the pupils spoke well for the good work that must have been done by their teacher. The writing upon slates from dictation was especially good for children of their tender years, and altogether the examination was satisfactory. A recitation was well given by one of these, Master Parkhill, on the school boy's days of twenty years ago, the theme and point of which the little fellow will much better appreciate in twenty years from now. The pupils were brightly and encouragingly addressed by Messrs. Tandy and Horney, and prizes were awarded to John Savage and James Ager, Ernest Harsey and Thomas Healy equal, in general proficiency, while one of these Master Harsey received an additional prize, presented by Mr. Tandy, for regular and punctual attendance, and another by the teacher to John Wilmut. Twenty-seven were examined for promotion from this room and all passed, a very good proportion indeed. DOUBLE EXAMINATION. At this stage of the proceedings Mr. Tandy repaired to Miss McRoy's department, and Mr. Horney to Miss Phippen's, and the exercises proceeded under their individual supervision in these classes until half-past twelve o'clock, when the two divisions were combined for the closing exercises and the distribution of prizes. In Miss Phippen's room there was a good turnout, and the pupils were tested in reading, spelling, arithmetic, etc., Mr. Packer assisting in the examination. In all these exercises the pronounced satisfaction and the result was pronounced satisfactory. Mr. Horney complimented Miss Phippen on the creditable condition of her classes. Prizes for good conduct and general proficiency were awarded to Richard Taylor, Susie Pond and May Nisbet, the last two equal, also Mr. Tandy's extra prize to Addie Donnelly. In addition to these prizes, due since last December, were given to Jennie Rutherford and Harriet Bouny. In Miss McRoy's junior third department a capital exhibit was made by the pupils. Mr. Tandy, who presided, and the teacher, being the examiners. The pupils answered readily and even eagerly every question put in geography, grammar, spelling, arithmetic, etc., while their reading was admirable. There was not time to go at any length into the subjects taught here, but what was done elicited many expressions of satisfaction. Besides thirty-nine certificates of promotion prizes were awarded to Charles Hale and Stanley Walker for coming out best in the promotion examinations, while Robert Marshall secured the prize given by the Chairman of the school for regular attendance and punctuality. This closed the work of the morning, and the examination of the junior departments, the pupils being dismissed for their holidays with a few words of encouragement from Messrs. Tandy and Horney. IN THE AFTERNOON the work was resumed at 1:30 in the room of the principal of the school, Mr. W. H. Godwin. Here the turn out of visitors was appreciably increased, the Board of Trustees being represented by Messrs. Horney, Irving, and Tandy; the teachers by Messrs. Summerville, Wood and Packer, with a good contingent of parents and friends of the pupils. Rev. W. B. Carey, of St. Paul's, and Rev. H. Wilson, of the "Cathedral," arrived later on. The unwritten programme in this room consisted of reading, spelling, geography, and arithmetic written and mental. The want of time seriously interfered with this examination, the adjoining female department being overdone and in readiness to proceed some time before the boys were disposed of. In spite of this drawback the exercises here were quite interesting, the geography being good and the blackboard exercises conducted by Mr. Godwin himself, as 'put through' by the boys, being adjudged the best of the programme in this room. In the promotion examinations, the true test, the boys did much better than yesterday, 18 having been advanced to the fourth class and 9 from the fourth to the fifth. A goodly number of awards were made in this department, the following being the complete list of prize-winners. For proficiency and general good conduct in School Fourth—John A. Macdonnell, Robert English. In Junior Fourth—Hastion Miller, John W. Hunter.

Mr. Tandy's extra prize were awarded in this department to pupils whose school work had earned the highest number of marks during the term, and were won by Harcourt V. Colquhoun and John K. Wood, the last named taking also one of the teacher's prizes for proficiency and good conduct. Mr. Godwin also awarded prizes to George A. Hoag and Robert Marshall for well kept reports. Teacher's prizes were also given to George F. Watson, R. J. McConnell and J. W. Lytle for R. J. McConnell and J. W. Lytle for punctuality, neither of these having been late or absent for six months, although the two first named live at Williamsville, the Speeches had to be omitted here as the examiners and visitors were obliged to hasten at three o'clock to the SENIOR FEMALE CLASSES. The interesting female departments in this room are presided over by Misses Crawford and Gill. The number of visitors was here largely augmented, there being present the Chairman of the school, Mr. Tandy, and Messrs. Horney, Irving and Waldron, trustees; Rev. Messrs. Wilson and Carey, and a large number of ladies and gentlemen. The room was very tastefully decorated with handsome needle work, notices, flags and flowers, and well furnished besides with a full quota of the intelligent young girls who somehow seem always to find their way to this uniformly interesting department. The exercises began with an exercise in English History, conducted by Mr. Kidd, and supplemented by a few apt questions from the Rev. Mr. Wilson. The young ladies evinced a thorough familiarity with this subject, answering readily and correctly all the questions put to them. The work performed in arithmetic was excellent, the solutions in mental arithmetic being exceedingly interesting. Geography was equally good, and the reading was very much enjoyed and admired. In this department the teachers kept within the expressed wish of the School Board, not to occupy the time with dialogues, etc., but excellent readings were given between the other exercises by Misses Lilla Irving, Jennie Corfield, Sarah Davidson, and Maggie Sangster. As the time was wearing on towards 6 o'clock, the balance of subjects taught in this room had to be reluctantly omitted. Prior to the distribution of certificates and prize strings addresses were delivered in the following order—Mr. Wm. Tandy, Rev. Messrs. Wilson and Carey, and Messrs. Irving, Waldron, Horney, Summerville and Kidd. One and all expressed satisfaction at the examination and with a school system which could produce such a gratifying result, while there was also a significant unanimity of condemnation for that policy of obstruction and postponement of the School Board's wish to extend the necessary school accommodation in conformity with the explicit requirements of the law. Mr. Tandy also read a letter from Mr. Wilson, Chairman of the Board, expressing regret at unavoidable absence, and his great interest in the Queen street school examination. The following prizes were then awarded: Junior Division—(Miss Gill)—Lilla Irving, Minnie Muller. Extra prizes by the school Chairman for punctual attendance—Florence Simmons. Prizes won at Christmas examination, Lilla Irving, Marion Clarke, Minnie Muller, and Sarah Fourth—(Miss Crawford)—Clara Richard, Jennie Barker, Ellen Henderson. Extra prize donated by Miss Crawford—Lizzie Aroell. Prizes given to Lizzie Marshall for punctuality and good conduct. Back prizes for Christmas work were also presented to May Clark and Ellen Landersy. This completed the examinations in Queen street school, and for that matter, throughout the city, and the proceedings were appropriately brought to a close with "God Save the Queen" from the entire company.
