

A CLOUD BURST.

MIGHTY RUSH OF WATER—A FRIGHTFUL SCENE—UNFORTUNATE VICTIMS.

Particulars of the death of C. J. Smith, who was drowned last Wednesday in Mercer county, have just been received in the city. He was visiting his sheep range, on Deadman's Creek, near Harrisburg, intending to begin shearing as soon as the weather should moderate sufficiently, and he had a gang of men camped on the ground for that purpose. The camp of the sheagers was on high ground, overlooking a gush, which at that instant ran between high and precipitous banks, and Smith, who was leaning lower down and near to the edge of the gush, lost his hold. Wednesday afternoon, the weather showed no sign of abating, he left the pens, and, accompanied by a Portuguese, went to the lower cabin. Shortly after the sheers on the hill above heard a rushing sound, quickly succeeded by a terrible roar and crackling, as if every rock and boulder on the mountain side had been torn from its hold and was being hurled along the bed of the gush. They knew in an instant what had happened, and realized the position of Smith and the Portuguese. They rushed toward the cabin, yelling at the top of their voices for help, and succeeded in saving him; but when Mrs. Rattle arrived in a carriage, belonging to a sister of the child's mother, No trace of that sister can be found. While the asylum committee were searching the act of Mrs. Rattle, however, it is by no means certain that they have not yet other guilty persons free. Enough evidence has accumulated to warrant a thorough investigation of all the workings of the asylum. This should be done by a proper legal tribunal, and not by a few whose good name and that of the asylum are identical. In a community like this, who boast of their service in freeing the oppressed black slaves, the suspicion of trading in the living bodies of white children is the kind of inquiry. In a community where grave-robbing has received such punishment as is given here, the practice of robbing a grave before burial should merit something equally great. Because the evil doers in this case are among the highest in the city, and their victims among the weakest, justice should be the more severe.

SCANDAL IN CLEVELAND.

DEPOSING OF CHILDREN—AN INFAMOUS INSTITUTION—GRAVE ROBBING.

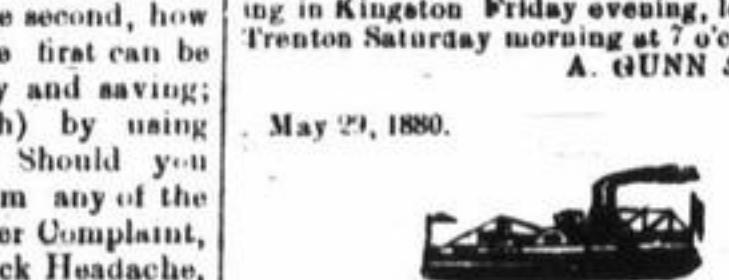

(Penny Press.)

Cleveland's Protestant Orphan Asylum has lost the confidence of the public. Their last Committee report, made on Saturday, shows that grave practices have been going on for years under cover of the institution, and by one, at least, of the officials. Strip the report of its sugar-coating, and it says that Mrs. Rattle had deliberately and systematically falsified to the asylum trustees as to how she disposed of infants placed in her charge; that she had failed to leave the names of names of children for whom there was no record; that at the same time she was drawing ample pay from the asylum for such work. She is charged with irregularities in hurling dead children, leaving the inference that she had disposed of the bodies for profit. One instance is quoted where Mrs. Rattle conveyed from the home of Mrs. Woodin, on the south side, to her own present residence, a dead baby which the physicians were anxious to obtain possession of. This baby hung in a basket in her woodshed from Saturday evening until some time during the night, when Mrs. Rattle removed it in a carriage, destined to a sister of the child's mother. No trace of that sister can be found. While the asylum committee were searching the act of Mrs. Rattle, however, it is by no means certain that they have not yet other guilty persons free. Enough evidence has accumulated to warrant a thorough investigation of all the workings of the asylum. This should be done by a proper legal tribunal, and not by a few whose good name and that of the asylum are identical. In a community like this, who boast of their service in freeing the oppressed black slaves, the suspicion of trading in the living bodies of white children is the kind of inquiry. In a community where grave-robbing has received such punishment as is given here, the practice of robbing a grave before burial should merit something equally great. Because the evil doers in this case are among the highest in the city, and their victims among the weakest, justice should be the more severe.

How It Is Done.

The first object in life with the American is to get rich; the second, how to regain good health. The first can be obtained by energy, honesty and saving; the second, (good health) by self-restraint and the avoidance of the known evils.

A CARD.

About three weeks ago a young man named Walton and a companion, while working in the harvest field, discovered a snake coiled up in a shock of wheat. Walton advanced near the shock and was preparing to skin a blow, when the serpent darted at him, springing near his face with a hissing sound. Walton fell fainting to the ground and it was thought that he had been bitten. Young Walton was carried to his home, and remained weak and slightly unwell for a short time, but was soon sufficiently recovered to be able to resume his usual duties. It was then thought that it was only a bad case of gout, and that his encounter with the reptile had injured him to no great extent. However, after remaining at his parent's health for some days on last Tuesday he suddenly took sick. He began to deteriorate intensely, and at first the nature of his illness could not be ascertained. He grew worse hourly, until at this time his life is despaired of. His flesh began to swell and turn spotted, and of a peculiar color, an in the last day or two it has begun to scale and fall off. So far it has been impossible to relieve his intense suffering. He seems to be suffering the horrors of indescribable torture, which will certainly end in death. No improvement in his condition can be noticed, and with his flesh dropping off inch by inch he is slowly wasting away and dying a slow death, accompanied by unimaginable suffering. Those who have seen him say that his present sight too strong to describe. The general opinion is that when he reaches his last he will inhale his breath, and that the poison has now passed through his entire system. This seems to be the correct solution of the case. Great sympathy is expressed for Walton, the unfortunate youth, and his agonized friends. —Cincinnati Commercial.

Kimball's Triumph.

Mr. Edward Kimball, the gentleman who has made himself a reputation in the States as the "Debt Raiser," was recently residing in Toronto and engaged in the carpet trade. He suddenly appears in a town, hunts up the church with the biggest debt, and then, getting among the congregation, starts to "lift it" by asking for subscriptions. Recently, at Philadelphia he "raised" a debt of $30,000, the fruit of an architectural firm, and Dr. Beadle, the pastor, was so overcome with pity that he fell dead on the way home. In one Sunday Mr. Kimball raised $20,000 on the Memorial Baptist Church in the same city. If there is $20,000 to be raised he begins on a large scale. He says, "We must have $15,000 in sums of not less than $2,000 each." Though Mr. Kimball is known as the "Debt Raiser" yet he is very fair, large bodied, great-headed and cheerful, full of energy to all that touches religion and humanity. Paying off the debt of a church is but a part of his work. He never fails to leave a church without its faith strengthened, its members united, and its spiritual power increased. Dr. Wayland says that during the eight years that he has been conversing with the condition of the Baptist churches of Philadelphia no greater blessing has come to this world than of Mr. Kimball during the past few months.

From a Physician.

Hyde Park, Vt., Feb. 7, 1876.
Messrs. Seth W. Fowle & Sons, Boston. Gentlemen you may perhaps remember that I wrote you several weeks ago in regard to the use of the "PERVIN SYRUP" for my wife, who was suffering from neuralgia, the consequence of Typhus Epidemic. I had tried the most noted "Remedies" in this State, and also in Canada, without relief. At your recommendation she commenced the use of the Syrup, the first four bottles made, but little impression, but while taking the fifth she began to improve rapidly, and now, after using six of the dollar bottles, she has regained her strength, and is able to do most of the work around the house; and I feel that I cannot speak too highly in praise of the PERVIN SYRUP. I have prescribed it to several of my patients, and have procured the sale of several dozen of it here. You can make any use of this letter you see fit.

Yours very truly,
H. D. BEMIN, M.D.

It costs less to use SOZOZON than any other beautifier. A few drops only are needed, and when regularly applied to the skin it is not only beautifying but healthful. Much other adorning is dangerous, but this never. In the sick room, or on the toilet, it is equally well come.

By using SPAULDING'S GLUE, on the first appearance of a defect in the furniture, it will prove itself to be the most economical thing about the house.
