good reason; are prolonging the carnival.

But you see what a deplorable result has followed. Let me then beg of you to have pity on a poor mother, and take off your nose. But, Madame-said Arago, a man, he hastens to the nearest newspaper and demands that the editor shall dication of defence. And if the jaded editor does not with alacrity espouse the cause of his patron he will make an enemy for life. 'Members of the press' are managers of a public meeting who do not find the reporters at the table, suffer etings of disappointment; the Judge who sonorously blows his nose after reading his opinion, looks anxiously for the stenographers; the preacher who descants upon presentatives of the press are not there; even the burglar on the way to the prison covets a talk with the 'newspaper man.' newspaper men are dead-heads, and envies them the fine times they have in the way of free dinners and free tickets to all manner of shows. There never was a greater mis ake. People do not seem to realize that, on the part of the journalist, it is merely a matter of business; that horse gees to the plough-because he journalists intolerable bores. The press is the victim of the public's rapacious and unceasing demand for services without A WARNING NOTE. - Here is a warning note to those individuals who, first get into trouble; second, are brought before the Police Court, and third; threaten to 'bulldoze' every person connected with the newspaper because there name receives a gratuitous insertion in it.
