They were put to all manner of inconvenience by the emergent call into active service. Some of them are alleged to have lost their employment by their enforced absence from places of employment for several days. The town was expected to pay the claim, $4,000, it having been incurred in the maintenance of the public peace. But the town declines to pay and the government does not accept the liability. | mending It seems to the Whig that the government, whose orders the volunteers obeyed, should pay account prompt ly and quick to, and sue if necessar the town of Valleyfield. It is not fair that the volunteers should be deprived of their wages for nearly a year. They cannot afford to be without their earnings, in this way, and it is a scandal that they have been forced to do it. Less politics and more business is the demand of the hour.

MINTO, MAUDE AND YORK

Major's Instructions Concerning The Royal Visit.

Bobcaygeon Independent. Minto and Maucie, that's major Maude, are arranging everything real nice for the royal visit. Those who are to have the divine privilege looking at York and his missus are to be selected with the greatest care, washed, dressed, placed in position, and not a move or a yawn out of them will be made except by direction of Maude. It will be perfectly charming, and all the Canadian oi polloi will feel proud. And as for the select few who will actually gaze on royalty. they will be too stuck up to ever again look upon common truck, or pay their debts. As an instance of how things are being arranged, Maude, major
