

Daily British Whig.

THE FALL OF DE FREYNET.

For some time past Gambetta, President of the Chamber of Deputies, and De Freynet, Premier of France, have not as public men been working very cordially together. The difference in their views mainly turned upon the execution of the March decrees for the suppression of the Jesuits and other religious fraternities; De Freynet being in favor of the firm but moderate enforcement of the decrees, and Gambetta of sterner expulsive measures.

The Toronto Telegram thinks it may possibly be shown that "there is a dissatisfied element in Maine, and that Grant's friends, failing to get the nomination for him skated at home in the sulks." This is rather rough on Blaine who was Grant's most powerful rival at the Chicago Convention, and whose supporters went over to Garfield rather than let Grant have it.

Hanlan is daily at his practice upon the Tyne. He seems to have suffered less or else recovered sooner from sea-sickness than on the occasion of his previous visit to England for aquatic purposes. His style of rowing and general form give much more satisfaction to English scullers than the clumsy antics of his huge rival from Australia.

There must certainly not be blushed at Dalgemo if the naval demonstration is going to be anything more than a mere promenade. The Albanians have taken the lead and decisive step of entering and taking complete possession of the place, and now of course cannot be expelled without the employment of force.

Not very long since a series of able and interesting addresses or lectures were gratuitously delivered in the local Model School by a member of the present City Council who is also a member of the medical profession, and who therefore knew whereof he affirmed when among other good things he insisted upon an abundance of fresh air being supplied to the pupils of the public schools.

The Oddfellows' demonstrations did not by any means terminate with the magnificent procession of last Friday. On Saturday a large party of them took a railway trip to Penetanguishene, rather a curious destination. Of those who didn't go north, certain Encampments belonging to the Order paraded the streets of Toronto headed by their bands of music and blowing at intervals through the sword exercise and other drill.

UNITED STATES DISPATCHES.

Leading Events in the Adjacent Republic. Dover, N.J., Sept. 21.—A boiler in the roller mill exploded yesterday and was thrown eighty feet in the air, crushing the end of the stock-house in the fall and killing Alexander Mosher, a laborer, who was passing. A fireman and two policemen were severely scalded and seven others slightly injured.

Green Bay, Wis., Sept. 21.—Sixty dwelling houses and thirty barns, the Presbyterian church, and several residences were burned, among the best in the city. The fire is now under control. The flames were only stopped when they reached the river. The loss is estimated at $150,000.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 21.—Emanuel, the actor, went to the Asylum to rest, but disappeared yesterday and was found in a feverish state. Physicians express an opinion that brandy cocktails, the only liquor he drinks, will kill him in one month if he continues.

New York, Sept. 21.—The receipts of the Erie Railroad for the year ending 30th June amounted to about $1,250,000, an increase in business from this source during the past six months over the preceding year of over $200,000.

Quebec, Sept. 21.—The English Loan Commission of London, with a capital of $600,000, has made arrangements to open an agency in this city. There is now at South Quebec, opposite this city, an exhibition of cattle as a rule, and it is expected that the place is the quarantine stables at No. 3 Fort, and as the animals have to remain in quarantine for three months there will be ample time to visit them.

light and very little roof cutting. The rolling stock of the Company is in a good state of efficiency, and for further equipment will be required, till the further extension of the road to the completion of the road. The stock of the shareholders consists of 2,130 shares of $50 each or $106,500. Shortly after the passing of the Act, dated May 12th, 1879, the Board of Directors, consisting of Messrs. J. H. Flower, George W. Flower, the balance, being held for future demands. The Directors are E. F. Flower, G. W. Flower, H. H. Porter, James Tillman, George W. Flower, C. F. Gilderleeve, W. A. Kirkpatrick, J. A. Swift, Joseph Watson and T. L. Snow. Mr. Gilderleeve is President and Mr. E. F. Flower Vice President. The Directors receive no pay, the President and officers receive pay. The grant by the Ontario Government, available for the extension of the road to the completion of the road, and a further assistance may be had on the completion of the road. I cannot but notice the laches and apathy of the Board in not pushing on the construction of the road when under such favorable circumstances, as well as the great danger of delay. Although by the above Act the time for the completion of the road has been extended to May 1889 yet no doubt the inability of the Company to proceed with the work with due diligence still remains the same, the only charter only excepted. No one doubts the feasibility of the construction of the road will be amply remunerative if completed, and the time work should be at a standstill I fail to understand.

The Toronto Telegram thinks it may possibly be shown that "there is a dissatisfied element in Maine, and that Grant's friends, failing to get the nomination for him skated at home in the sulks." This is rather rough on Blaine who was Grant's most powerful rival at the Chicago Convention, and whose supporters went over to Garfield rather than let Grant have it. We hardly think there was much sulking in Maine, on Grant's account. It is much more reasonable to suppose that the sulking was done, if at all, in the interest of "Maine's gifted son," who was the strongest candidate at the Republican Convention four years ago and who would have got the party nomination this last time but for the pertinacity of the Grant third terms.

Hanlan is daily at his practice upon the Tyne. He seems to have suffered less or else recovered sooner from sea-sickness than on the occasion of his previous visit to England for aquatic purposes. His style of rowing and general form give much more satisfaction to English scullers than the clumsy antics of his huge rival from Australia. True, the latter may be feigning a lack of style in order to affect the betting, with the intention of "coming out of his shell," as the phrase is, when he gets into it on the day of the race. However this may be, the general feeling is in favor of the Canadian champion, and the general opinion is that he will vanquish the giant from the antipodes with his usual ease. We sincerely hope so, and that our man may come home again crowned with the laurels of the championship of the world.

There must certainly not be blushed at Dalgemo if the naval demonstration is going to be anything more than a mere promenade. The Albanians have taken the lead and decisive step of entering and taking complete possession of the place, and now of course cannot be expelled without the employment of force. The Turkish behaviour on the entrance of the Albanians affords a fresh proof of Turkish duplicity. There were two battalions of Turkish troops in Dulcigno, but Riza Pasha their commander "not having received instructions from the Porte to oppose them withdraw." From this it is clear that the Turks, instead of being desirous of giving effect to the treaty, or of carrying into effect the wishes of the powers, played in the very opposite direction. The arrangement was that the Montenegrins were to take possession of Dulcigno under protection of the guns of the fleet if necessary, but the Albanians have literally stolen a march on them, and it now only remains to dislodge them if the purpose for which the allied fleet repaired to Ragusa is to be accomplished.

Not very long since a series of able and interesting addresses or lectures were gratuitously delivered in the local Model School by a member of the present City Council who is also a member of the medical profession, and who therefore knew whereof he affirmed when among other good things he insisted upon an abundance of fresh air being supplied to the pupils of the public schools. Nothing could be more appropriate than were these lectures, in view of the lack of school accommodation and consequent scarcity of fresh air which prevails just now in our public schools. Would it not be a good idea to request the repetition of the lectures we refer to in our Council Chamber and to our city fathers? Who knows but that before the repeated and eloquent pleas for "fresh air for the children" which those lectures contained the rigid opposition of certain members of the City Council would relax and disappear, and the reasonable request of the Public School Board be complied with. The very re-delivery of those lectures may even have a beneficial reflex effect upon the learned lecturer himself.

The Oddfellows' demonstrations did not by any means terminate with the magnificent procession of last Friday. On Saturday a large party of them took a railway trip to Penetanguishene, rather a curious destination. Of those who didn't go north, certain Encampments belonging to the Order paraded the streets of Toronto headed by their bands of music and blowing at intervals through the sword exercise and other drill. On Sunday the chaplain of the Sovereign Grand Lodge preached to a crowded congregation in St. James' Cathedral. The fun is not yet over. Yesterday Bunker Hill and Excelsior Encampments paraded the city, escorting the Grand Lodge to the Parliament Buildings and otherwise diverting the citizens of Toronto. Altogether this "musing of representative Oddfellows in the Queen city has been very serviceable to the latter in giving a grand finish to their exhibition and prolonging the public interest and excitement incident thereto for several days after it was over. The Toronto press speaks in the highest terms of the Oddfellows' exhibition who seem to have conducted themselves, as might be expected, in the most gentlemanly and creditable manner, and to have favourably impressed all with whom they came in contact.
