A Fine Church.

Rev. Father Walsh has just had th R. C. Church, Phillipsville, ornamented with a centrepiece in the ceiling, eight feet in diameter. A correspondent of the Brockville Recorder says the windows are all ornamented with mouldings and caps. Behind the altar there are three Roman arches, the largest or centre one being a masterpiece of worknanship. It is supported with large ornamented brackets with caps, and the space between the heavy arch-work in filled in with a grape vine of flowers and nauve color. The church is now of the finest in Kingston diocese.

"For scarcely for a righteous man will one die; yet peradventure for a good man some would even dare to die. "But God commended His love toward us that, while we were yet sinners. Christ died for

Dr. Caven said that it was of the greatest importance that all should believe in the love of God, and also that God loved them. The Apostle in the beginning of the epistle had been dealing with the subject of justification by faith, and having by argument proved his premises in the opening of the fifth chapter he begins to triumph. It might be said that the trials through which men passed were an objection to triumph, but Paul showed that even trials were proofs of the goodness of God. From the sixth to the teath verses the Saturday ovening near Queen's College. Apostle showed the greatness of the love of God. To all people, as an aid to peace and comfort the belief in the love of God was highly necessary. Without such a belief life was all dark. It was especially absolutely essential as a belief to those who were studying with the gospel ministry in view. They must be conscious of the love of God. The Bolleville harbour at the Government's preacher then spoke of the contrast given in the text between human love in its highest form, and divice love as manifested by the gift of God's only Son. The difference between a righteons man and a good man was noted. Human nature was selfish, and the instances of where a man gave his life for his friend were rare. But the love of His only begotten Son to die. It was costs this morning at the police court men, looking at Him as an omnipotent and glorious being, but this belief must exist. He showed His love in a way which proved it conclusively. A reference was made to the fact that some of the ablest scientists were unable to grasp the idea of God; but when the truth broke upon the mind darkness

God was clear by the fact that He gave difficult to believe in the love of God for ville Cutario shares with the children of the bringing of a switch track into the flew away. The best proof of the love trated by maps, tablets and images. of God was in the gift of His Son, and whoever believed in this must believe was manifested. "God commanded His love towards us while we were yet sinners." It was easy to love a good man, but here was God loving men even while they were sinners, as Paul characterized them in the 10th verse. The preacher shortly after closed by refer ring to the happiness which followed a did number. In beauty of illustrations The sermon next Sunday will
