FAREWELL, O SUMMER SCENES!

Farewell, O Summer scenes, no more
I walk these bowers, pine-clad hills;
No more for me the sunset's glow
Or moonlight's calm the valley fills.
Ah! not once only, though your forms
Have faded from my outward eye,
In hours of darkness shall ye come
To strengthen and to purify.

Farewell, O summer friends, with whom
I dreamed the sunny hours through?
Warm-souled you were no social shades.
But gave the love you lived and knew.
Mere, pure, forget? you pass and fade,
And leave my heart but half content;
Still must I hope some mother-end
Than simply that we come and went.

Farewell O Summer hopes, though dear,
With willing hands I let you go?
Dreams cannot feed the hungry heart,
Nor unworked soil fair harvests grow.
Nor ours be rest in stagnant pools,
Nor lilting mouth a summer's woo,
But strength to cut deep channels out
Wherein an earnest life may run.

C. P. R.

Composition and Power of the New Railway Syndicate.

The following is a synopsis of schedule referred to in the Pacific Railway contract:

Kennedy, of New York, banker; the firm of Morton, Rose, & Co., of London, England, merchants; the firm of Kohn, Reinach, & Co., of Paris, France, bankers; Richard B. Angus and James J. Hill, both of St. Paul, in the State of Minnesota, with all such other persons and corporations as shall become shareholders in the Company hereby incorporated shall be, and they are hereby constituted a body corporate and politic by the name of the "Canadian Pacific Railway Company."

The capital stock of the Company shall be twenty-five million dollars, divided into shares of one hundred dollars each, as soon as five million dollars of the stock of the Company have been subscribed, and thirty per centum thereof paid up, and upon the deposit with the Minister of Finance of the Dominion of one million dollars in money, or in securities approved by the Governor-in-Council, for the purpose and upon the conditions in the foregoing contract, provided the said contract shall become and be transferred to the Company. The said Geo. Stephen, Duncan McIntyre, Jno. S. Kennedy, Richard B. Angus, J. J. Hill, Henry Stafford Northcote, of London, aforesaid, Esquire: Pascoe Du P. Grenfell, of London, aforesaid, merchant; Charles Day Rose, of London, aforesaid, merchant; and Baron J. De Reinach, of Paris, aforesaid, banker, are hereby constituted the first Directorate of the Company. The chief place of business of the Company shall be at the city of Montreal. The first annual meeting of the shareholders of the Company, for the appointment of Directors, shall be held on the second Wednesday in May, 1881.

JUNCTION WITH OTHER LINES.

The said Company shall afford all reasonable facilities to the Ontario Pacific Junction Railway Company when their railway shall be completed to a point of junction with the Canada Pacific Railway, and to the Canada Central Railway Company, for the receiving, forwarding and delivering of traffic upon and from the railways of the said Companies respectively, and for the return of carriages, trucks, and other vehicles, and no one of the said Companies shall give or continue any preference or advantage to or in favor of either of the others, or of any particular description of traffic in any respect whatsoever. Growth of New York.

It is remarkable that in 1870 the tenth and three adjacent wards forming the east central portions of New York city contained 350 people to an acre, or considerably more than the most thickly populated district of London. By the census of 1880 it is shown these four wards have gained 25,000 people, rendering them now probably the most densely populated spots on the earth, in some places not less than 600 people being crowded upon an acre of ground. These wards harbor not only great numbers of poor working people of all nationalities, but also probably one-half of the criminal population.

A walk through this locality gives one some idea of the mass of humanity packed in the tenements. The streets in the evening are swarmed with people, and it looks as though something unusual had occurred to draw so many together. But it is not so, the crowd being composed simply of the denizens of the tall houses lining the streets turned out on the sidewalk to air themselves and chat with their neighbors. Probably no other city in the world outside of China could show such a mass in such a space.

TEN YEARS OF HORRIBLE TORTURE.—Mrs. Sarah Hanlon, of East 33rd street, New York, for ten years bore as patiently as she could the agony of a leg swollen to four times its natural size, which was red and raw, and from which constantly oozed a blistering secretion. One week's application of Giles' Liniment Iodide Ammonia restored the hideous member to complete soundness. Giles' Pills cure headache. Sold by all druggists. Send for pamphlet. Address Dr. GILES, 120 West Broadway, N.Y. Trial size 25 cents. For sale by J. G. King, druggist, Kingston.

BUCKLEN'S ARNICA SALVE.—The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all kinds of skin eruptions. This salve is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction in every case or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box For sale by all druggists.

FREE THOUGHT FUNERAL.

Address at the Grave of a Wife Interrupted by the Mourners.

In the London Free Press we find an account of a scene at a grave in Wardsville. Mr. J. M. Dykes informs the Free Press that it was his wife's dying wish that any words said at the grave side should contain [illegible] as he scientious convictions. He accordingly, when the end drew near, spent many hours in preparation which he thought would be suitable to the occasion. This he proceeded to read at the open grave on Saturday last. He read as follows: "We have assembled today to perform the last sad rites to the dead. I say my friends, for I verily believe there are none present who have come here simply to measure, by the tears he shall shed, the anguish that wrings the heart of an afflicted husband and father. The kind and affectionate wife, the tender mother! at an age when the "Shadows were still falling towards the west," death touched her tired heart, and she fell into the dreamless sleep that "Kisses down the eyelids still." She embarked on the dark, misty ocean of eternity, whence no breeze ever blows hitherward. But if

THERE BE A HEAVEN

and if there be a righteous God, His breath must swell the sail and direct its course to that beautiful shore where sorrow is known no more, and where happiness reigneth forever. O, Sorrow! how close thou treadest on the heels of enjoyment. The rose hath its thorn, the peach its worm, and decay lies concealed in the chalice of the flower. All earthly things are doomed to pass away. Death is a debt of nature we all, rich and poor alike, sooner or later, must pay. When the grim messenger on the pale horse shall call for us we must go. We see the grave open to-day to receive its tenant, and the withered turf and the cold clay fold her in its bosom to sleep the sleep that knows no waking. Born of poor but respectable parents, her heart was none the less pure, her mind none the less noble. In the language of the poet, she "gave to misery all she had, a tear. Possessed of a superior education and insatiable thirst for knowledge, and a firm determination to examine into all matters for herself, she eagerly devoured the standard works of science and philosophy, and formed for herself the basis of a

RELIGION PURELY HER OWN.

No, not purely her own. She venerated the name of him who said, "The world is my country, and to do good is my religion."—Although rocked in the Calvinistic cradle, she abhorred with all her heart and soul, that infamous doctrine of foreordination. She could not believe that the mother could be happy in heaven and look down upon her little fair-haired boy writhing in the red hot agonies of hell." At this point he complains that the murmurs of dissent which had followed the reading so far broke out violently. Some of the bystanders, vexed at the turn of his remarks, went up to him and snatched the paper out of his hand, and tore in pieces, vowing that such sentiments were utterly intolerable in a Christian community. After this rude interruption the burial was proceeded with. Mr. Dykes claims that there was nothing objectionable in the paper.

The Death-Rate of

Our country is getting to be fearfully alarming, the average of life being lessened every year without any reasonable cause, death resulting generally from the most insignificant origin. At this season of the year, especially, a cold is such a common thing that in the hurry of every day life we are apt to overlook the dangers attending it and often find too late that a fever or lung trouble has already set in. Thousands lose their lives in this way every winter, while had Boschee's German Syrup been taken, a cure would have resulted, and a large bill from a doctor been avoided. For all diseases of the throat and lungs, Boschee's German Syrup has proven itself to be the greatest discovery of its kind in medicine. Every druggist in this country will tell you of its wonderful effect. Over 950,000 bottles sold last year without a single failure known. For sale by J. G. King, Kingston, and all first class druggists.
