THE PROVINCIAL EXHIBITION.

Some preliminary steps have already been taken in reference to the Annual Provincial Exhibition. The members of the Board of Agriculture went to Kingston on Thursday, and had an interview with the local committee. Contracts were entered into for painting and repairing the existing building, which, as will be recollected, is built of wood and glass, and for the construction of permanent stables for 300 head of cattle, and for stabling to accommodate about 100 horses. The total expenditure contemplated is about £1500, which will be met by subscriptions from the City and County Councils and the local agricultural associations. There is a fountain within the building, and the whole circuit of the interior has been dug to a depth of two feet, and a width of about three feet, as a preparatory step to the planting of grape vines. The grounds are in excellent condition, and are partially planted with trees. Arrangements are in progress for constructing a temporary track from the railroad depot to the building, which, if completed, as there is little doubt will be the case, will be a great convenience to exhibitors and the public generally. Altogether, we understand, the local committee are acting in a very energetic and public spirited manner. At their head is Mr. Ferguson, the President of the Association, who lives in the neighborhood.—[Colonist.

THE PROVINCIAL EXHIBITION.

The gentlemen to whom is entrusted the task of making arrangements for the approaching Provincial Exhibition in Kingston, have already commenced work. On Thursday last the Board of Agriculture met the local committee, by whom a most laudable anxiety to render the Exhibition second to none which has yet been held, is manifested. As our readers are aware, a building suitable for the purposes of the fair, is already in existence. It is constructed of wood and glass, and stands in the centre of twenty acres of ground to the north of the city. The fences are all intact; and the approaches are good, an excellent macadamized road, one of the best in the province, having long been made. These facts will materially lessen the expense and trouble of the undertaking. The building will require some alterations, but not much, all things being considered. Tenders for painting it inside and out were some time ago asked for, and on Thursday that of Mr. W. Robinson was accepted, at $490. The unsuccessful applicants were G. Howe £262 10s.; C. Cameron £140, ——— 675, and Mr. W. H. G. Savage $749. The inside of the building will be decorated with a variety of colours, so as to produce a brilliant and harmonious effect. Upon examination, it is found necessary to renew the flooring. At the Toronto exhibition the accumulation of dust was very great. It injured many of the goods exhibited, and was exceedingly disagreeable to the public. The boards of the new flooring will be laid an inch or so apart, and it is hoped, by the practical men who form the committee, that the flowing robes of the ladies will sweep the dust through the crevices into the space beneath. For the exhibition of stoves, carriages, and heavy machinery generally, a new building is to be erected, 100 feet long by 36 feet wide. The idea is a good one, the space for lighter articles having on previous occasions been trespassed upon to a considerable extent by the above-mentioned description of goods. In all the arrangements in course of progress, an eye to future use, beyond that of the next exhibition is being kept. Thus the cattle shed to be erected is to be substantially built, and will be capable of containing 300 head of cattle. A passage, six feet in width will traverse the centre. Besides this, a range of stabling to accommodate 100 horses will be provided. Around the inside of the principal building the earth is being removed, and a compost placed therein, with the intention of hereafter planting it with vines, so that at future exhibitions the walls may be covered with clusters of grapes. A fountain, belonging to the corporation, already stands in the centre. Arrangements have been made with Mr. Lesslie to plant the ground on the outside with trees in addition to those already in existence. This, however, will not be done until after the Fair. The high road to the Exhibition, as we have already mentioned, is in good repair, but, for the greater convenience of visitors, the railway track will probably be continued to the grounds. Negotiations are in progress with Mr. Morton, and it is hoped to bring them to a successful termination. The whole cost of the improvements is estimated at £1,500; which it is fully anticipated will be raised from the City Council, the County Council, and the local societies.

The following gentlemen have been appointed a committee to draw up the prize list and to select the judges:—Col. Thompson, President of the Board of Agriculture; Col. Denison, Treasurer; Professor Buckland; Dr. Beatty, President of the Board of Arts; Coun. J. E. Pell, Vice President; and Mr. Edwards, Secretary. Whilst mentioning this, we may also call attention to a point of importance to some people. At the last exhibition, certain parties entered goods as of Provincial manufacture, which were in truth made on the other side of the Atlantic, and not only so, but they received prizes for the same. A renewal of such deception will in future be strictly guarded against.

The corporation we are assured, will make every provision in their power for the accommodation of visitors. The Park belonging to the city will be an object of attraction, and it is intended to provide a band for the amusement of the public. An ornamental building for the use of musicians has been furnished by the liberality of the city.

On Dit.—The Leader, in a most circumlocutory way, asserts that a certain re-construction of the Cabinet is about to take place. The Ministry are tired of governing Upper Canada with a sectional majority against them; they want to liberalize the Upper Canada section of the Cabinet, so as to command a majority. This, we opine, is altogether easier said than done. We think very few of the Opposition are willing to commit political suicide by joining their fortunes to a sinking ship.

It is also rumored that the Hon. John Ross refuses to go to Quebec, and that this refusal has produced a crisis. What next!—Chronicle.

There is to be a patched up government—some of the present ministers, joined by individuals taken from the Opposition side of the House. But the Free Press, like the Leader, wrinkles the nose. Is it offended? then, as we understand the matter, it is offended at the Ministry for not having taken in Mr. Cartier. Does it believe that any Reformer representing an Upper Canada constituency will venture to accept office under Mr. Cartier?—will, in truth, accept office with a knowledge of the fact that he will be dependent in Parliament upon the votes of the present Lower Canada majority? The Free Press presumes somewhat upon public credulity. Having itself enlisted, it hopes to persuade the public that others will be found ready to follow its example. We shall believe this when we see any man now enjoying confidence stepping forward to take Mr. Cartier's shilling. At present the ranks look thin and ragged.—[Globe.

STRAWBERRIES.

Carlisle & McConkey, of the Terrapin, received yesterday a quantity of strawberries. They are the first that have appeared in our market. They cost 30 cents a quart in Cincinnati.—[Colonist.

 What a mighty fuss those Torontonians make about a few strawberries brought from Cincinnati. It was only on Monday last when the British Whig acknowledged the receipt of some Ripe Strawberries, grown and gathered in a Kingston Garden.

Suspected Murder at Niagara Falls.

Yesterday forenoon information reached this city by telegraph, that the body of Mr. Olif Oisson, a clerk in the Queen's Wharf Freight-house, Grand Trunk Railway, had been found near the edge of the Niagara River, in such a condition as awakened the suspicion that the deceased had met with foul play. It appears that Mr. Oisson left Toronto with some friends on the evening of Monday week, to spend the anniversary of the Queen's Birthday at Buffalo. Accompanied by Mr. Symington, a clerk in the employment of Messrs. John Scoulden & Co., and Mr. Jas. Buchanan on his return, deceased reached the Suspension Bridge about half-past eight o'clock on the evening of Tuesday. The party found upon enquiry there, that they could not get to Toronto the same evening. Mr. Symington urged Mr. Oisson to go on to Hamilton, where they might get to Toronto by a special or freight train, as he was anxious to arrive home by Wednesday morning.—Oisson, who was slightly intoxicated, stated that he would stay at the bridge all night, and go on by the first train in the morning. Symington still urged him to proceed to Hamilton, but he persisted in his resolve to stay at Niagara, especially as he felt tired with the day's jaunt. His friend considering that there was no danger in leaving him, as he appeared able to take care of himself, left the bridge by the 9.10 p.m. train, and Mr. Symington reached Toronto on Wednesday forenoon. Thinking Mr. Oisson would come home by the afternoon train he paid no further attention to the matter. On the evening of Friday he went to the residence of Mr. Oisson, Spadina-avenue, and was astonished to find on enquiring of Mrs. Oisson, that her son had not returned. She was very much concerned at his continued absence, and told Symington that she felt certain he had been killed or murdered on the evening of Wednesday, as she had heard three distinct knocks at the door, similar to those Olif was in the habit of giving, between ten and eleven o'clock.—She went to the door but no one was there. Mr. Symington communicated with R. Christie, Esq., Superintendent on the Grand Trunk, and by that gentleman was directed to proceed to the Falls and make enquiries. Mr. Symington went off on the afternoon of Saturday, and reached the Bridge in the evening. He commenced making enquiries at the Great Western Station, and elicited information to the effect that a person answering the description of Oisson had been seen on Wednesday in company with an hotel runner of bad character, named George Reid. With this man he had crossed the Bridge in the forenoon, and the Bridge-tender (Mr. G. Henderson) seeing he was a stranger, cautioned him relative to the person he was with. Reid resented this interference, and the two passed over the Bridge to the American side, Reid paying the toll. About two hours afterwards, they returned, when Mr. Henderson observed that Oisson and Reid had exchanged clothing, the latter having obtained possession of Mr. Oisson's black coat and vest in lieu of his own well-worn clothes of Canadian gray. From the Bridge they proceeded along the bank of the river, where a cab-driver, named Jackson, appears to have joined them. This man states that Reid bet them after a short time, and then Mr. Oisson informed him that his cash was nearly all spent. To procure a supply, Jackson took him to an old man of respectable appearance named Brown, with whom Mr. Oisson left his watch, receiving $2 on it. Deceased informed him that he wanted his money to pay his fare to Toronto, as his 'pass' was in his coat pocket, and his coat was in possession of Oisson, Jackson, and Reid were not seen together in the evening about ten o'clock, at Hubbard's tavern, Bender's Cave. Deceased was at this time wishing to get back his clothes. To this Reid objected, alleging that he had given Oisson $3 in cash, besides his own clothes for the exchange. He however agreed to revoke the bargain if deceased would give him a handsome gold chain which he wore, but to this he declined to accede. Reid and Oisson then left the place together; Oisson being at this time under the influence of liquor, and this was the last time he was seen alive by any person except Reid. On the forenoon of Sunday, about thirty of the residents of Clifton volunteered to make a rigid search with Mr. Symington along the banks of the river for the body of his friend. They divided into two parties, one party going up the river on the Canada side, and the other going down. After a minute search for about two hours, the body was discovered by Mr. George Henderson and another person, in a sitting posture, a short distance from the water, about midway between the Suspension Bridge and the Whirlpool. The unfortunate young man must have fallen from a height of sixty feet down amongst the rocks, and it is as yet uncertain whether he was thrown from the top of the bank or fell down accidentally. Preparations were immediately made for hoisting the body to the top of the bank; but this was a work of great difficulty as the bank is very precipitous at this particular point. Ultimately their endeavours were successful. The body was found to be somewhat decomposed, leading to the belief that life had been extinct for three or four days. It was much bruised about the head and face, and one of the legs was broken. At Clifton, to which place the remains were conveyed, an inquest was held by the Mayor, Mr. Vincent Cornwall, Coroner. Several witnesses were examined; among them were Mr. Symington, Mr. Henderson, Hubbard, the tavern-keeper, Jackson, the cab-man, and Mr. Brown, with whom the watch was left, when the facts above stated were elicited. George Reid, who was last seen with deceased persists in stating that he parted with Oisson some distance below the Bridge, that they each took different roads, and that he cannot tell what further took place. He appears, however, not to be very communicative on the subject. His evidence will be taken this afternoon, as well as that of other persons who saw them together, and it is anticipated that something important will be elicited so as to throw light on this very strange and lamentable occurrence. The gold chain was found on the person of deceased, and also his pocket-book containing about 75c. Mr. Oisson was about thirty years of age, and was born in the city of London, England, where he received his education. He accepted a situation on one of the English railways, where he continued till he was about twenty years of age. At this time he went to Scotland, where he entered the service of Messrs. Wordie & Co., Glasgow, the well-known railway carriers, and was stationed at Alloa. Here he continued over two years, and made a considerable number of friends through his urbane manner and anxiety to oblige the customers of the firm. When Wordie & Co. dissolved partnership, he was appointed to a situation in the freight department of the Caledonian, where he continued till 1857, when he embarked for Canada, and became an employee of the Grand Trunk. He was appointed to the Queen's Wharf station, where he continued up to Monday week. He leaves a mother, a widow, to almost his untimely fate. Deceased was brother-in-law to Rev. George Onions, who a short time ago left Toronto for England. Reid is reported to bear an exceedingly bad character, and is said upon former occasions to have been charged with crimes of a serious nature. No arrest has yet been made. Mr. Christie broke the intelligence of the unfortunate young man's death to his mother yesterday morning.—The body reached Toronto by the Great Western Railway train last night, and was conveyed to Mrs. Oisson's residence, Spadina-avenue, by a number of the employees of the Grand Trunk. The funeral takes place this afternoon at one o'clock. Mr. Christie gives Mr. Oisson an excellent character for industry, sobriety, and general attention to his duties. He was quite a favorite with all who knew him. A large number of his acquaintances were at the depot waiting the arrival of the body.—[Globe of Tuesday.

We understand that small pox has broken out among the prisoners in the gaol of Toronto, of a very virulent description. Dr. Richardson, the physician to the institution, vaccinated a large proportion of the inmates, and sent some of the worst cases to the General Hospital.

An inquest was held on Saturday in the township of Pittsburg before Mr. Coroner Bryant on the body of Maurice Powers, a sailor who was drowned off Nine-mile Point from the schooner Omar Pacha on the 8th April last. The body washed ashore at Milton's Point on the 2 th. The Omar Pacha happened to be loading close to the place, and the body was at once identified. A verdict of accidental drowning was returned.—[News.

The Buffalo banks and bankers were victimized to the amount of about $1,000 by the Brighton Bank swindle—the Manufacturer's Trader's Bank, the Buffalo City Bank and the Marine Bank were the principal losers. In Chicago, some two or three thousand dollars of the spurious money was taken; at Kenosha about $1,000, and at Milwaukee and other western cities, the bankers were badly sold in the purchase of the $1000, queer bills of the Brighton Market Bank Brighton, Massachusetts. The plate is said to be genuine, but the signature a forgery. The rogues who successfully practised the game have as yet eluded the clutches of the law.

France.

Some of the Paris journals accuse Germany of coldness toward Italy, from which it is to be inferred that the French do not anticipate that the German states are likely to abandon Austria in case their services should be needed.

The army of Paris, which it was supposed would be diminished by the war in Italy, is in reality augmented. Before the declaration of war it was composed of four divisions of infantry, and only one division of cavalry. It is now composed of four divisions of infantry and four of cavalry. The military force has been increased by the creation of two regiments of infantry—the 101st and 102d regiments of the line, and of whom the colonels have just been appointed. General Feray has been appointed to to the command of a division of cavalry, to be encamped at Chalons.

The French squadron, under the command of Admiral Jurien de Lagraviere, composed of the ships of the line Eylau and Napoleon, and the frigate Impetueuse, which sailed from Genoa to blockade the Austrian ports in the Adriatic, was at Messina on the 9th inst., and was taking in coal there. On its passage it captured an Austrian merchant vessel, which has been sent to France under charge of a naval officer. It is said that a division of light cruisers will shortly be placed under the orders of Admiral Jurieu de Lagravier.

The book entitled La Question Romaine, by M. About, has been seized in all the booksellers' shops in consequence of the article which appeared in Univers yesterday, denouncing it.

Marshal Randon, Minister of War, has addressed a circular to the colonels, commanding regiments in Italy, forbidding any officer to correspond with a newspaper.

DOMESTIC.

MARKET REGULATIONS IN HAMILTON.—Some very important alterations have been made in the regulations of the Hamilton market. It will be seen that no fee is to be exacted from producers, the only thing required being that all such as bring produce to market shall first report to the clerk of the market what they have for sale. A free market is a novelty, but we think there can be no doubt of its success, for of what moment is the amount wrung from the farmers when compared with the advantages arising from increased and profitable trade, which the bringing together of buyers and sellers invariably produces. Indeed, we shall be greatly disappointed if this new movement on the part of our ambitious neighbours does not result most satisfactorily, and induce other places to adopt the same course. Monthly fairs have also been established, for the sale of live stock, to be held on the second Wednesday in each month. This too, is a very judicious provision, and should it succeed, will prove of great benefit to all classes. It is only by bringing buyers and sellers together in numbers that the maxim can be fairly applied which teaches that the value of a thing, is just what it will bring. The establishment of fairs and regular market days would afford conveniences which Canada knows little of, and fix prices to the benefit alike of producer and consumer.—[Globe.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE OF DEATH.—His Excellency the Governor General has been pleased to commute the sentence of death passed upon Louis Larue, at the Court of Queen's Bench, Kamouraska, to fourteen years' imprisonment in the Provincial Penitentiary.

THE WILL FORGERY.—COMMITTAL OF ROBERTSON FOR PARRICIDE.—The Brantford Expositor has the following:—"This extraordinary and mysterious case has been under investigation before the magistrates, Messrs. Mathews, Weyms, &c., during the past week, and we learn, has been brought to a conclusion, as far as they are concerned. Sufficient evidence has been elicited to justify the magistrates in committing Wm. Wallace Robertson for the murder of his father in November, 1851, and his brother George as accessory; evidence has also been obtained proving that the will was forged by William, with the connivance and assistance of his mother; and Mr. McDiarmid we are given to understand, is so far implicated in this latter transaction as to be under the necessity of procuring bail for his appearance at the next assizes as an accessory."

The Minister of Finance had yesterday a lengthened interview with a Committee of the Council of the Board of Trade of Montreal, on the following questions:—

1. Exacting duties on cash discounts.
2. The addition to invoices of arbitrary sums for supposed discounts on cash purchases.
3. The exaction of duties on trade discounts.
4. Charging duties on interest in accounts current.
5. Additions to the form of oaths or affirmations not warranted by statute.
6. The extension of Custom House office hours.
7. Fees for examining goods at the public warehouses.
8. Permanent provision for payment of Tide Waiters.
9. For a revision of the system of book-keeping at the office of the Collector of Canal Tolls.
10. For blending commercial statistics from various points.

We understand that other subjects were also discussed. The Minister of Finance listened with care to the representations of the Committee, and promised to meet their views, in as far as he could.

Mr. Galt, we learn, left by the evening train for Toronto.—[Montreal Gazette of Tuesday.

THE WEATHER AND THE CROPS.—A correspondent writing from the neighborhood of Galerich, says:—"The weather has been very favorable in this section of the country for the spring crops, and farming operations are in a very forward state. Farmers are looking forward to better times in anticipation of an early and abundant harvest. The fall wheat looks remarkably well, and has escaped all injury from the winter and spring frosts."—[Spectator.

Dalley's Magical Pain Extractor.

In all diseases inflammation strikes at the root of disease—hence an immediate cure.

DALLEY'S MAGICAL PAIN EXTRACTOR,

and nothing else, will allay inflammation at once, and make a certain cure.

DALLEY'S MAGICAL PAIN EXTRACTOR

will cure the following among a great catalogue of diseases; burns, scalds, cuts, chafes, sore nipples, corns, bunions, bruises, strains, bites, poison, chilblains, boiles, scrofula, ulcers, fever sores, felons, sore ache, piles, sore eyes, gout, swellings, rheumatism, scald head, salt rheum, baldness, erysipelas, ringworm, barber's itch, small pox, measles, rash, &c. &c.

To some it may appear incredible that so many diseases should be reached by one article: such an idea will vanish when reflection of ingredients, each and every one applying a perfect antidote to its opposite disorder.

DALLEY'S MAGICAL PAIN EXTRACTOR, in its effects is magical, because the time is so short between diseases and a permanent cure; and it is an extractor, as it draws all disease out of the affected part, leaving nature as perfect as before the injury. It is scarcely necessary to say that no home, workshop, or manufactory should be one moment without it.

No Pain Extractor is genuine unless the box has upon it a steel plate engraving, with the name of Henry Dalley, Manufacturer.

The Reasons why we are a Dyspeptic People: The most prolific source of Dyspepsia is probably the combined influence of Sedentary habits and errors of diet. A certain amount of exercise is necessary to support every part of the body in due vigor: and the stomach consequently participates in that debility which results from the want of it. If the quantity and quality of the food were in proper relation with this reduced energy, the whole system might remain unfeebled, but the stomach would not especially suffer. The fact, however, is that while the gastric energies are impaired by sedentary habits, the diet is scarcely modified, and the quantity of food taken, and its quality, are those adapted to undiminished powers of digestion. Hence, it results that the weakened stomach is stimulated to undue exertion in order to effect the process of digestion, and fails subsequently into a proportionate degree of languor; and this alteration, being continued with a steadily diminishing energy of the stomach, and a steadily increasing disproportion between its powers and the task it has to accomplish, and at length in the production of a permanently morbid gastric depression, below the general standard of action for the rest of the system, thus constituting the much dreaded though common and troublesome disease, Dyspepsia.

One Bottle of CORY'S STOMACHIC BITTERS will give tone to the digestive organs, and permanently cure this fearful disease. See advertisement in another column. 1m-101
