Later, report of the customs officer showed that not only passengers, but baggage had been landed, and that this baggage had theen left for considerable time, as he had to make his way back to Maryswille and towards Long Island park wharf to inspect it. There could be no doubt that the passengers were innocent of any wrong doing, but if reguhtions are not kept very soon improper baggage would be landed and spirited away in the absence of officers. The collector, upon the report of the customs officer, had no option but to impose a that the fine fell on an innocent com-
