SECOND EDITION MATTER ALSO ON PAGE FIVE.

INCIDENTS OF THE DAY.

Newsy Paragraphs Picked Up By Reporters on Their Rounds.

A. L. Jaquith, Toronto, is visiting friends in the city.

Rev. Mr. Jones and wife, Tamworth, are the guests of city relatives.

The annual freshmen's reception at Queen's takes place on Friday evening, November 2nd.

A Sydenham married man and a girl of the same place, who eloped four months ago, have returned.

On Oct. 10th, James N. Sanderson, Northport, and Miss Ann Morley, of the same place, were married at Deseronto.

Mrs. Hester Hall, died at Watertown, N. Y., on Saturday. Five sons live in Canada, one in Gananoque and two in Brockville.

Mrs. Jane Stinson, aged ninety four years, died on Monday in the township of Storrington. She had been ill but a few days. Her husband is one hundred years old.

The 14th P.W.O. rifles will have regimental drill on Friday evening. The drill hall will not be ready for occupation until December. Inspection takes place about the middle of November.

At one o'clock this afternoon, the city clerk commenced to strike and continued without ceasing for five minutes. Some said the strokes represented Britton's majority, others the death knell of Mr. McIntyre, and still others the number of votes registered at the city buildings.

Miss Edna and Norman Mitchell, William street, entertained a number of their friends last evening in honor of Miss Alys Skinner, Gananoque, the guest of Miss Gertrude Randolph, Johnston street. Games and dancing were the chief amusements of the evening. A very enjoyable time was spent.

There is great cackling when a typographical blunder appears in the Whig, as a result of the constant high pressure to get out a paper a little better than the average for 20,000 people. There have been at least forty distinct efforts to found and conduct profitably a Kingston journal. Prior to the eighties one man was successful, John Rowlands. The Whig is not infallible, but very human, yet it will be a long, long time before its equipment, circulation and management are duplicated in Kingston.

STRIKE MAY END MONDAY.

PRESIDENT MITCHELL MAKES A PREDICTION TO MINERS.

Big Companies in the Scranton Region Will Take Important Action Tending to Smooth Out the Trouble — President Mitchell Tells of Victory.

Scranton, Pa., Oct. 24.—The Delaware, Lackawanna & Western and the Delaware & Hudson, the Hillside coal and iron (the Erie), and the Lehigh & Wilkesbarre coal companies, through their general superintendents, have agreed upon an additional notice as to the ten per cent. increase. The same will be posted at once and will help to settle the great coal strike speedily.

Thomas Nicholls, president of district No. 7, of the united mine workers, admitted that the end of the strike will come in a few days. A meeting of all the district and national officers has been called, and at the meeting positive action will probably be taken.

Parkville, Pa., Oct. 24. President Mitchell, accompanied by members of the united mine workers' association are here, and participated in the procession, the largest ever held in Schuylkill county.

President Mitchell's speech was listened to with great interest. His most important utterance bearing directly on the ending of the strike was as follows:

"I believe it will be but a few days longer until the operators in the Hazleton and Lackawanna and Wyoming valleys will consent to meet us in conference, agreeing to pay ten per cent. increase in wages until April 1st. I believe that if you stand together the rest of this week by Monday at the latest you can return to work with everything you ever struck for."

May Have Another Strike.

Hazelton, Pa., Oct. 24.—A sensation of rumor was current this morning to the effect that as soon as the big coal strike had been settled a strike of the coal carrying railroads will be ordered. Vice grandmaster Valentine Fitzgerald, of the brotherhood of trainmen attended a meeting of the local lodge of trainmen in Freeland yesterday. The men are well organized, excepting in one district. Great interest centres in the meeting of the executive committee of the united mine workers of America which take place here to-day. Presidents of three districts are in the city.

McLennan died two hours later from the injuries he received. His remains will be brought to Kingston this evening. Novel Way Of Stealing.

Quite a novel case of theft took place last evening. About 7.30 o'clock a stranger about thirty two years of age and having the appearance of a working man, entered Woods jewellery store and asked to see some watches. He was shown a hunting case watch, which would not suit, and then an open face silver one. He examined the watch carefully, asked Mr. Woods to wind it up for him and taking it in his hand walked about to the door. Mr. Woods supposed that he was going to the door to get out, but upon seeing the entrance the fellow made a clean dash across the street. Mr. Woods returned to the store and the man ran up Sydenham street. Mr. Woods was right second to the pursuit, but as the thief was well in the lead he was unable to catch him. The watch also proved to be worthless, the works being found to be worn out. The police were notified of the theft, but up to the present time no trace of the thief has been discovered.

By A Mere Chance

New York, Oct. 24. The whereabouts of Cornelius Fleming Alvord, who looted the First National bank to the extent of $200,000 is unknown and by handsome, keen-eyed Mount Vernon men being closely watched by detectives.

W. G. Stevens, assistant cashier of the bank, says the stolen money came out of the pocket of nothing to the bank, and not out of the depositors. The stealing has been going on for two years and says that the bank examiners and bank officials failed to detect it. Alvord was trusted implicitly and there was not the least suspicion of him up to last Thursday, when a mere chance revealed what had been going on.

What Is The Outlook?

New York, Oct. 24. Rev. W. A. P. Martin, of the imperial university of Pekin, is staying at the house of his son-in-law, Prof. Hume, of Yale college. The best remedy for the situation is the restablishment of the young emperor, who possesses liberal and progressive ideas. It is hoped to put on the throne the two princesses, Pu Lun, Kuang Hsu's cousin, and the latter's wife. Either of these princes will divide the country or foreign powers will split up and rule through native princes. The latter plan is believed would be the better of the two.

Made No Settlement.

Queen's management tried to effect a settlement with the Limestones to-day, but failed. The latter wanted Queen's to guarantee them the $25 paid for the protest, but the college people would not do this. So the protest goes ahead, and will be before the O.R.F.U. executive to-night. Queen's threatened to protest several Limestone players, but can gain nothing by this, as all the Limestones are within the age limit.

COLONEL OTTER'S REPORT.

HE TELLS ABOUT THE RECENT MISUNDERSTANDING.

Says Lord Roberts Asked the Regiment to Remain—The Men Did Not Want To—Regret That They Came to That Decision.

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 24.—A number of reports were received to-day at the militia department from South Africa. The only one of consequence is Col. Otter's. He explains misunderstanding between himself and his men over their leaving South Africa. Col. Otter says that Lord Roberts met the main body of the R.C.R. and expressed his pleasure to learn that the battalion would prolong its services in Africa, as different action would likely cause other colonial corps to withdraw. This was on the 10th Sept. On the 12th letters came to Otter from Capts. Barker and Fraser saying their men would not stay.

On the 13th Otter received letter from Maj. Pelletier, Capts. Barker and Fraser, and Lieut. Swift, notifying him on behalf of "C," "E," and "F" companies to re-engage for further services and also from Capt. Stairs, of "H" company. Col. Otter then wired Lord Roberts desire of officers and men and asked that it be complied with. A wire was received from Lord Roberts regretting decision they had come to, as it was unlikely their services would be required much longer and it could show in the annexation commission as well as the review in England. Capt. Stairs reported that all his men would return and Capt. Lawless 107 returns, said that thirty two of his men wanted to leave and twelve to remain.
