F. W. Wodell. of Boston, Tells About it and What it Proposes Doing-A Cradit to Kingston to Bave so Many 1 huriastic blugers

Enthusiasm is contagious and this may account for the remarkable fact that at this date, in the middle of summer, sixteen of Kingston's leading soloists are rehearsing twice a week a concert programme. F. W. Wodell, of Buston, once a resident of this city, is responsible for the organization of the quartette club, as it is called, and it is his enthusiasm which is keeping the members at work practising with delight some of the best and most beautiful compositions written for the human voice.

A Whig reporter learned from Mr. Wodell that the organization and rehearsal of this club was one of the greatest pleasures of his vacation. "The voices are very good indeed," said be, "and the singers bring to their work experience and an inchrity. We make telligent interest which makes it a real pleasure to have them. We are a semiprivate organization, but we shall probably give the Kingston music lovers a chance ' hear our programme, and so would be factly willing to have our membership made known. The sopranos are : Mrs. Betts, Miss. Rose McCartney, Miss M. Bailey and Miss G. Dancan, Contraltos, Mrs. Martin, Miss Bates, Miss Sherk and Miss McGillivray. Tenore, Messrs. O'Connor, Wainwright, T. Cook and Kelso. Bassos, Messrs. Arthur Ellis, Malcolm, Nelson and Arthur Craig. The programme will contain a novelty for Kingston three grand selections for baritone solo and male voice chorus for piano accompaniment. I have heard these done by Andrew Black, the Scotch barrione, and the men of the great Loads select fes tival chorus when in Loudon two years ago and I brought them out with me. It is summer, I know, and I think it is great ly to the credit of Kingston that so many of its leading singers have been ready to study and perform this fine music at this time of the year."

There are hundreds of citizens who hold the opinion that the city has a white elethe city last night at about eight o'clock. phane on its hands, in the sheps of the fair grounds and the crystal palacs. For sev. eral years now the place has been practically uselnes to the city, while the expense of keeping it up has been considerable. A city official suggested yesterday, while a Whig representative had him by the buttonhole, a meane by which the city might derive a revenue from the grounds and buildings thereon.

"Why not," he said, "util zo the place during the entire summer season. Let the leaders of the different sporting societies or clubs get their heads together and put on a mixed programme of bicycle races, horse races, vaudeville entertainments, travelling shows and everything else that is legitmate. It is handy of access, and would soon he a very popular resort of the citizins. What is the use of people going out to Lake Ontario park when they have a much better place within easier reach The city could make money of the scheme, as well as the different sporting clubs. I hope to see the council consider the matter."

Ruby Violet Eggleton ie again in trouble. It will be remembered that she was gathered in by the police on Monday last while hanging around the city station of the Grand Trunk railway company. She was taken to rooms of the Y. W.C.A. and there cared for, but yesterday morning she ran away and gists. went up to Picton on the steamer America. The ladies of the association notified the police of her escape and last night she was caught by police constable Navion as she landed from the eteamer. Buby is only about fifteen years old, but has a mania for wrong doing. She was taken from a Belleville immigrant home about eight years ago by an Eiginburg farmer named Leake, who kept her seven years. At the expiration of that time he found it necessary to return her to the home. She was again given to a farmer residing near Deseronto, where she re mained nearly a year, but ran away on Monday last and came to the city, where she fell into bad company and was taken charge of by the police. E sis not a bad looking girl, and would fin. a home any where if it were not for her desire to take the world too easy by following the broad path that leads to destruction. While with the Elginburg farmer she was sent to school regularly and has a fairly good education.

Ruby was brought before the police magistrate this morning and asked to give an account of horself. She said that after being sent back to the Marchmont home by Mr. Lake she was sent to Picton. From there she went to Trenton and then to Deservato Junction, coming to Kingfrom the last named place. She came here to look for work. She claimed she did not run away from the Y. W.C. A. here. She merely went up to Picton to visit friends. She had plenty of money when she started but had only fifty cents left when she got back. The ladies here have provided her with a place at Mrs. Wood cock's.

The magietrate consulted with a representative of the Y.W.C A., when it was decided to write to the authorities of the Marchmont home with a view to having her returned there. A citizen who knows Ruby well says she has been wrongly inclined since she was a little girl, and she is not yet fifteen.
