Facts About Man.

Human beings are of all sizes, but the tall man is less common than the short, only one in ever 208 exceeds the height of six feet. For every foot of stature a man should weigh from twenty-six to twentyeight pounds, a proportion that is not the lot of all in these hurrying, scurrying days. An average-sized man weighs 140 pounds; a woman 125 pounds, Curiously enough, the mean weight and height of lunatics are below those of same people. Another unexpected thing in this respect is that a negro's skeleton weighs more than that of an Englishman. The vitalizing power is the blood, a drop of which takes but twentytwo seconds to go the round of the body. There passes through the heart once every three minutes an amount of this precious fluid equal to all that is contained in the body. The mileage of the blood circulation reveals some astonishing and undreamed of truths. It is estimated that assuming the average speed of the heart to be sixty-nine beats a minute, the blood travels 207 yards in sixty seconds: in other words, seven miles an hour, 168 a day, or 6,320 If a man of eighty-four could have one single blood corpuscle floating in his blood all his life it would have traversed in that period no less than 5,150,808 miles.
