teen-year-old girl, were found yesterday in a vacant lot at . River avenue and One Hundred and tigth street. A bullet hole over the heart of each told of the sad ending an elopement, which ten days ago. Hetween the two lay the revolver with which the deed was done, and that it was deliberately planned and executed was shown by the fact that under the head of each was placed an outer garment and by the fact that the girl had bared her breast to receive the fatal shot.

Her fingers, still clutching at the dress over her bosom, were stained with the powder from the weapon. Landauer, a married man with wife and three children, left home Sunday a week ago during the absence of his family, who were in Yonkers. At the same time Josephine to whom he had been paying attentions for five or six mentle, and futuated, said she was going to a 'Hello, sergeant,' he said. 'I wonder pienic.
