FAST ATLANTIC SERVICE.

Negotiations Have Not Been Dropped in London.

London, Aug. 30 - Despite the general idea, negotist one concerning the Canadian fast Atlantic line are still on foot. Some difficulty has apparently arisen with the imperial government. The British treasury previously consented to bear one-third of the subsidy in case of two specific contracts, which fell through. When last March they were asked, on behalf of the Canadian ministry, whether they were prepared to give part of the subsidy towards three steamers and one steamer as a reserve. the imperial government refused on the ground that the proposal was wholly inadequate to meet the mail, admiralty and the general needs of the service.

Nevertheless, should the Capadian gov ernment succeed in procuring a substantial contractor for an effective twenty-one knot service, no difficulty is expected with was in a crushed and mangled state.
