THE WORLD'S VERY LATEST. When the Ross government proposed to run down the wrong loors in the bye election, the tory papers, and even Mr. Whitney, pooh-poohed the idea. It would not amount to much. The offenders would ekip the country. The opposition would have to be represented by nounsel, etc.

The judges proceeded, pursuant to com mission, to arrange for a most effective discharge of their daty, and as the work of erquiry is about to commence the World produces what it calls a convecting link between a minister and 'the machine. Furniture just ! It is a letter, addressed by Mr. Dryden to Mr. Tooley, of Manchester, in reply to one asking for the address of Jack, a friend, during an agitation in the township of Reach for an option liquor law which meant the death of Mr. Tooley's business. Mr. Dryden, replying, intimates that Jack wil not be home for a couple of weeks and that the letter will be forwarded to him. That was all.

The World sees in this letter the evi dence that the Jack referred to is J. W. Thompson, who was an active worker in the bye elections. It sees, what no one else sees, that Mr. Thompson was a represent vtive of the machine, and purting this and that together in real old womanly fashion -it has came to the conclusion that J. W Thompson represented the government in the distribution of boodle. A conspicuous feature of several election petitions against the liberal members was the charge that the government had created a reptile fund, collected from lumbermen, railway capitalists and contractors, and that to was expended in bribery, treating, and except practices, to scene the return of government candidates. No evi dence could be offered to the courts in sup port of it. The charge had to be abandoned in Kingston with a well-mericed retuke | them.

A VERY PERVERSE ORGAN. The Toronto News is very persistent in its representation of the French people as being dislayal to the empire in its present erisis. It holds that the premier, the minister of public works, and Mr. Boursess, are against the sending of troops to South Africa. It says the French-Canadian papers are similarly minded, and it does them all an injustice. The premier never wavered in his loyalty to the emp're. He simply hesitated about taking a step, sa leader of the governmen which, in his opinion, should be authorize by parliament. Hot. Mr. Turte questroned the wirdom of entering upon new relations without a perfect understanding of all'abov mount. He has explained, over and over again, that Canada should have e'acides' eath at organges or acque belies at of wars. And there are a good many, regard. of the Topper Dulby Graham game in

Tale means that they are individually, wholly, and absolutely disloyal, that not one of them is to be trusted. A slander of the most atrocious.

If the Toronto News' exampling be prop erly understood to is that the Buglish speaking people must unite against the French, that these French must answ be treated as a conquered remnant, that they must be taught the supremacy of the Englieb in everything, that their language, their aspirations, their professions must be ignored, that in order to avoid "the disin tegration of the empire," and "the erect on of a French state on the St. Liwrence river," they must be effectually suppressed or scattered. From hatred of the French premier, who is a passion and a kentleman, it has, by rapid stages, advanced to the point of bating all his race, and if our contemporary had his way there would be a racial war in Canada with all its mementous consequences. The man that favours such a cause, teat agitates for it and labours toward it, is not bimeelf loyal to the empire. He wants to get out of himself, to rid himself of his small and narrow views, to look at the teene as does the Hon. Mr. Fiyen, the con servative leader of Quebec, in whom he should have confidence. Speaking at a recent public function Mr. Flynn said :

"I cannot omit to register my colemn protest sgninet the incinuations and im putations which have been directed against the province of Quebec in certain parts of the country. There is not a part of the Dominion of Canada where the sentiment of true loyalty ex'ete in a higher degree, in the true sense of the word toyalty - has is, layalty to the constitution of the country, to the established laws and to the gracione covereign who rules over us (Cheere.) In is enough for me to register my protest, reserving the right to return to this question at a future time. "The attacks upon us may be the result of a mi-understanding, but they are very regrettable. Before long we are going to be obliged, without any doubt, to drecure a question perious for the future of confederation and for the province of Quebro I have not the least doubt on the matter, for I have studied it carefully. The question I refer to is whether our present acbon is committing us to imperial federa-

"It is children in my opinion to pretend that by sending a contingent to the Trans vaal we are committed to something which we have not been able to direct to parlia.

"The confederation we have in Canada is the union of all the provinces, with hgislature for each and a central parlia ment. Imperial federation would mark the union of the colonies with a central parliament in Lundon and parliaments in each colony.

"No one will pretend that what has taken place has committed us to a project like that, without our being able to study to to all the phases before deciding, after thirty years of confederation, that a change

"I shall take another occasion to place my views on this question before the pub lie : but I intend, so far as I am concerned to maintain the position that I do not con rider that I commit myself to imperial foderation by the fact of sending troops to Africa "

Mr Plyan approaches the question in candid and open fashion, and what he says is correct and it does not smatter of dis-

The ideal nation is, of course, that in which the people have one language, one religion, one faith, one hope, one line of action. It would have been better had Canada, at the outset of fee career, shaped its course so that the French would, in time, have lost their ideaticy, so that all would have become English in name and influence. But that was not done, and after an experience of thirty years, as a federation, there is nothing to cry about, and the tears that are shed are of the croco-

J. W. Be't-called by a tory print, in one place, Dr. Bell-has had himself renominated for Addington at a common representative. It's time be was retired He is absolutely useless in the house and should be replaced by a younger man. His hold on the Aldington party is held by his everlasting canvassing, in reason and out of season.

Sir Edward Clarke, conservative mem ber for Plymouth in the Imperial com mone, will retire from public life at the next election, as a protest against the policy of the government. In what respect is not stated. He's acting like Mr. Bourassa, except that he has not gone ch at half cock and at a time when his protect may be misunderstood.

If the suit of Mr Philip, of Brandon, goes on the Puppers will have a chance to tell all they know about the Yukon. S.r. The centre of war interest, Esteourt, is probably called after the Right Kon. Thomas Sutton Sothern Bucknall Est court, who died to 1876. He entered perliament in 1829, was sworn of the privy council in 1845, and retired with his party, in 1859; belonged to a family which has been seated on the same property, on the borders of Wilts and Glousesbarehire, for upwards of 500 years.

An Ottawa newspaper comments ad versely on the appointment of Mr. Mann, from an English militia corps, as A D C. to the governor-general. Just now to is almost impossible to get an army officer, as this class is being more seriously emplayed in Africa and the east. Then these appointments are purely personal, and the custom very properly is to permit his excellency to freely exercise his own choice in members of his staff. But there are other appointments, not personal, which have been made painful to Canadiane. Some British officers may be respeciel but they exempt be love t.
