> The Ladies Were Calm. KINGSTON, July 8 - (To the Editor): In conducted meeting at Sandhurst in commemoration of the McDowall centenary, I regret that in the report given of the acci dent that occurred on the boat on nearing the city, it is said "the ladies became panic stricken and some verged on hysterics." As an eye witness I can assert, Save. and this I feel sure will be the opinion of every gentleman on the boat, that the ladies conducted themselves in the most admirable manner under the circumstances. The flames that burst out from around the engine were well calculated to create alarm, but there was no panic and no undue excitement on their part. It was thought well to get the women and chil. on which you save five or six doldren safe in case of an explosion from the lars.
