There does not appear to be any good reason for the prejudice against the Canadians. THE AMERICAN VIEW.

Generous Tributes Of The New York Tribune To Canada.

The following generous tribute to Canada and the national day is paid by the New York Tribune:

This is the day our northern neighbors celebrate; this year for the thirty-first time, and we may well believe, with greater zest than ever heretofore. It is in the anniversary of the act which created the dominion of Canada, and which transformed a group of separate and not infrequently half-hostile provinces into one united, harmonious, and mighty nation.

The date almost coincides with that of our own independence day, but is not to be compared with the latter rather with the too-little regarded day on which our constitution was adopted and the thirteen loosely connected states were united into one indivisible nation.

The high anticipations of our constitution-makers were vastly more than realized in the benefits which have accrued to this nation from the adoption of that instrument. Similarly have the Canadian provinces been blessed by the results of the great act of 1867.

The population has increased, industry and commerce have prospered and the arts have been extended. Great public works have been successfully completed. A true national spirit has been engendered. Devotion to the mother country and to the empire has been strengthened and confirmed.

And all these things have been achieved to a large extent which would have been not only impossible, but inconceivable without the unifying bond of the dominion.

In this and in the significance of this day Canadians may well rejoice. From the fisheries of Cape Breton to the gold-diggings of the Klondyke, there is no more worthy interest of theirs that has not been served, and not one laudable ambition that has not been promoted toward fulfillment by the creation and maintenance of the dominion.

If they have wished domestic tranquillity and prosperity, they have secured them in abundant measure. If they have desired a place among the nations of the world, they have attained it. If they have sought, as doubtless the majority have done, to maintain and strengthen the bonds that bind them to the British empire, that purpose has been effectively served—the preferential tariff arrangement with the mother country goes into force this very day.

If any have desired, as it is doubtful some have done, complete national independence, assuredly the creation of the dominion marked the only way in which that could be attained. And, finally, if any have looked, as some, we know, have looked, toward ultimate union with the United States, it is certain that the same act was an absolute bar to that end.

There are varying parties and party policies in Canada. But on this one point, of rejoicing in the significance of dominion day, all have cause for an entire agreement. All the United States parties have in thanksgiving for the acts of 1776 and 1789.

Nor is the occasion devoid of profound interest on this side of the St. Lawrence and the lakes; an interest this year far greater than ever before. It has been greatly to the advantage of this nation to have the dominion established, and to have it prosper as it has done. And while in strengthened imperial relations this present anniversary has a new significance to the United States as well as to England, a friendship with our neighbor and a fraternal settlement and passing away of the old controversies that have so long been vexatious between us and her. He is no friend of either country who would prolong those differences for one moment.

It is the complete adoption by our government of the president's statesmanlike plan, already adopted by Canada and Great Britain, for an international conference which shall discuss and settle the unsettled questions and bring the two great English-speaking nations of this continent into the complete accord for which they are designed by nature. In the prosperity of the dominion the United States may well rejoice, and toward the closer relationship with it may well desire.

For in them this day may be served and progress be made toward that commonwealth of man, if not that federation of the world which is the goal of civilized desire.

Always ready, day or night; Always willing—she's a sight. When it comes to doin' right: Thank the Lord for Susan!

GOVERNMENT SUSTAINED.

SMALL MAJORITY, IN BRITISH COLUMBIA.

The Results As Far As Heard From—Joe Martin Elected In Two Constituencies—A Difficult Task For The Government Now To Hold Together.

VANCOUVER, B. C., July 11.—The results of the British Columbia election so far as returns received indicate, are as follows: Government nominees elected—Dawson, Richard McBride; East Yale, Price Ellison; East Kootenay, W. G. Neilson; South Kootenay, Col. Baker (not final, but assured); Comox, J. Danemuir; North Nanaimo, J. Bridgton; Esquimalt, Hon. G. E. Pooley and W. T. Ballen; North Victoria, Hon. J. P. Booth; South Victoria, Hon. D. M. Eby; Victoria city, Hon. J. N. Turner, H. D. Holmecke, R. Hall and W. E. McPhillips; New Westminster, W. Henderson; Cowichan, W. R. Robertson; Lillooet West, A. W. Smith. Total, 17.

Opposition elected—Vancouver, Joseph Martin, F. C. Cutton, C. E. Tiedalle and R. McPherson; Richmond, Thomas Kidd; Delta, Thomas Forster; Chilliwack, Charles Munroe; West Yale, Charles Semlin; North Yale, J. T. Dean (one place to hear from; election assured); West Kootenay and Revelstoke, J. M. Kelley; Slokan, R. J. Green; Nelson, major Home, claimed as certain by opposition; one place to hear from; Roseland, Joseph Martin; Nanaimo City, Dr. McKechnie; H. Southan, R. Smith; Cariboo, H. Helgeson and major Kennerly; East Lillooet, Prentice. Total, 13.

Alberta is claimed by both parties. There are two places to hear from, Neil, opposition, leading. The election of two members for Cassiar will not take place for some time, but it is conceded by the opposition that the government will take both seats.

The above list may be subject to some change, but it will not materially effect the result, which will make it an extremely difficult task for the government to hold together. These returns account for thirty-five seats out of thirty-eight. Leaving all doubtful seats out would not change the result, and giving all doubtful seats to the government, including Cassiar, would give it a majority of three.

A coalition government is impossible, the feeling of sectionalism in certain constituencies on the main land, where ambitious opposition members have been elected, preventing such a course. The votes polled in Vancouver were as follows: Tiedalle, opposition, 1,793; McPherson, labor, (opposition), 1,795; Cotton, opposition, 1,661; Martin, opposition, 1,611; mayor Gordon, government, 1,167; Dr. Carroll, government, 954; W. J. Bower, government, 879; McDonald, labor, government, 735. The opposition majority was thus 1,063.

In Victoria city the result was as follows: Helmecke, government, 1,481; Turner, government, 1,352; Hall, government, 1,274; McPhillips, government, 1,129; Gregory, opposition, 1,149; Stewart, opposition, 1,063; Bolyea, opposition, 949; Beaven, opposition, 916.

Dominion politics did not figure in the contest. FAVORING SPAIN. Blanco Is Out For "War To The End"—Invoking God's Office.

PARIS, July 11.—A letter from Madrid says that Gen. Blanco, in reply to the government's request for his views of the situation, urges "war to the end," and asserts that the Cuban volunteers cannot be reconciled to the idea of the handing over of the island to the Americans, especially now that a great majority of the Cubans favor Spain.

It is believed in Paris that the interview between Sagasta and the Austrian ambassador at the end of June, with the archduchess Elizabeth of Austria, are connected with the invoking of the good offices of the Austrian government with a view to establishing peace.

OFF AGADORES, July 10.—At 5:12 p.m. to-day vessels of the United States fleet began the bombardment of the city of Santiago de Cuba. MADRID, July 11.—The Imperial says the Spanish government will probably telegraph Blanco that Spain would respect his wishes by negotiating for peace before Santiago, Manila and perhaps Porto Rico are captured.

New York, July 11.—A despatch to the World from Madrid says: Capt. Anon, the Spanish minister of marine, says: "It will take admiral Camara's warships (the Payago and the Emperor Carlos V) ten days to reach Carthage where there is more safety than at Cadiz."

"The torpedo boat destroys the Osado, and the Proserpina and the Aliz, and the auxiliary cruiser Fabrice, and the Spanish cruiser La Panay will be back soon, and will go to Cadiz and to Ferrol."

"The present danger is that if America despatches her fastest cruiser with the Oregon, Texas, New York and Iowa, they will lay Admiral Camara in the Mediterranean."

"The coast defences will be ready in ten days."

PORT SAID, July 11.—Admiral Camara's ships have been allowed to take on board some coal after furnishing a written guarantee that the entire squadron is returning to Spain direct.

LONDON, July 11.—A special despatch from Madrid says: All the talk of peace seems up to the present to have led to no tangible results. No doubt the government would welcome an opportunity to negotiate directly with the United States over direct propositions, but there are many circumstances to be considered that it looks as though the policy of drift and waiting for something to turn up would continue until Santiago has fallen.

The fall of Santiago will convince the most sanguine of the hopelessness of the struggle and will give the government the desired opportunity at least to suggest an armistice for the discussion of terms.

Every day that passes without disturbances strengthens the peace party. It is believed, however, that there is a strong undercurrent in favor of continuing the war and the attitude of the Carlists and republicans causes anxiety.
