

KINGSTON, ONTARIO, TUESDAY, JULY 12, 1898.

65TH YEAR. NO. 161.

THE HAT SALE

is bringing us new customers. Just think 25c and 50c for your pick of five hundred New Summer Hats, almost every one placed in stock since first of June.

HALF PRICE.
Every Trimmed Hat in stock at half price.

We carry nothing over from season to season if possible, this is our reason for such small prices at this time.

BLOUSE WAISTS.
Our highest aim in Shirt Waist selling was to out-do last year's big sales. We have done it, and now like the hats we want a clear deck for next year. Therefore our very small prices of all seasons get another cut this week.

50 cents.
The best and latest pull at 50c. to day. Waists that were $1, $1.25 and $1.50, your choice this week 50c.

65 cents.
A special line Black and White Waists, all sizes, at 65c.

75 cents.
A special line of Black and White Muslin Waists, separate collars, for 75c. Fancy Muslin Waist 75c.

$1.00.
A very select line of Muslin and Lawn Waists, separate collars and cuffs, reduced from $1.50 to $1.

$1.25.
The greatest collection of up-to-date Waists ever shown in Kingston for $1.25. Some were as high as $2.50, many $2.25, none worth less than $2.

ADAMS' GINGER BEER.

RECIPE.
Adams' Extract.....One bottle
Fischmann's Yeast.....One ounce
Sugar.....Two pounds
Cream of Tartar.....One half ounce
Lukewarm Water.....Two gallons
Dissolve the Sugar, Cream of Tartar and Yeast in the water, then add the Extract; stir until thoroughly mixed and immediately bottle in strong bottles or jars, corking and tying the corks securely. Place the bottles in a warm place for several hours until the yeast can work sufficiently to make the contents effervescent, then store in a cellar or other cool place.
If these directions are strictly followed and Fischmann's or true home-made yeast is used, failure to produce a bright, sparkling, foaming and refreshing drink is an impossibility.

THE REAL MANGO TRICK.

It is to Eat the Fruit Without Having to Take a Bath Afterward.

Some people take to olives, carlars and cognac, and without any preliminary training by a sort of instinct. They are so very few that they serve only as a hinted proof of the doctrines of heredity and atavism. The mango of the tropics falls in the same class.

The mango is of the size of a large apple and something the shape of a pear that has turned a somewhat and has landed on the stem big end. Its color is a rich and dark green with a blotch of salmon on one side. It is impossible to bite into it as one would into a pear for two reasons—the skin is too tough and the stone is fully half as large as the whole fruit. The only way is to nibble off the skin, for it is too juicy to be pared. Gnan the skin off one side until a considerable portion is exposed of the red flesh. Then suck in the juices and the meat together until the stone presents itself. The next feat is to get the stone and the other end of the fruit into the mouth while leaving the remainder of the skin outside and clear of the meat. In this ungraceful operation one speedily learns that the mango belongs to the natural order of clingstones. The remainder of the process is to eject the stone, which is an uncomfortably large mouthful. When one has eaten all the mangoes he cares to take at one sitting, it is necessary to take a bath and change into the face and dand the apparel despite all precautions.

As to the flavor of the mango, and no one would bother with the extremely sloppy fruit if it were not for real enjoyment of the flavor, it is possible to make a trial trip. Set a large clingstone peach to soak overnight in diluted turpentine and the next morning it will satisfactorily suggest the first taste of the mango. The smack of turpentine and resin is quite marked in the juice and pulp. After cultivating the taste most people consider the mango the finest fruit of the tropics and recognize a dozen varieties by the varying strength of the turpentine. But no amount of cultivation of the taste will ever avail to solve the real trick of the mango—that is, to eat it without needing a bath afterward.

THE ROAR OF BATTLE

Now Echoes Amid The Hills Around Santiago.

A ONE-SIDED ENGAGEMENT.

SPANISH FIRE IS WEAK AND AIM BAD.

The Thunder And Flash Of The Elements Overhead Joined With The Roar Of Opposing Armies' Guns—The Fight Will Be Resumed This Morning—Sampson Joined In Last Night's Attack, But Seems To Have Rendered Little Aid.

SIBONEY, July 11.—Gen. Toral, military commander of Santiago, having refused Shafter's demand for an unconditional surrender, fighting was resumed on land at 4:15 this afternoon when the American batteries opened fire on the Spanish entrance surrounding the city. The engagement was a short one, darkness setting in and the bugles sounding "cease firing" at 5:30 p.m. The armistice came to an end at noon, when the enemy sent a flag of truce, asking for more time. A second flag was sent at 3 p.m. with word that Gen. Toral would not surrender the city. The white flag, which had been floating over a house on the enemy's lines, was hauled down; a Spanish flag was hoisted in its place; Gen. Shafter, Col. Noble, and Lieut. Morley, of his staff, and the foreign Attaché at Nashes, hurried to the front and orders were given for the attack to be made in conjunction with the fleet.

As the soldiers were preparing for battle the sky filled with clouds and the mountain tops were lost to view. Vivid flashes of lightning and the deep roll of thunder reverberating from the mountains and valleys gave notice of an impending attack. The dust blew up in clouds and rain began to fall. After fifteen minutes there came a lull in the storm and the engagement followed.

One of the most one-sided artillery duels ever seen. The American field guns, mortars and galling guns hammered the enemy's position, but evoked only a spiritless, occasional reply from the Spanish guns. Volleys of musketry were fired from the American trenches, and the Spaniards, entrenched on the other side, returned them vigorously.

Heavy reports from seaward showed that the fleet was engaged in shelling the city. At the same time the navy's shots the American soldiers cheered. The first shot from the American side was a shot from the dynamite gun that struck the enemy's trenches, blowing a field piece into the air. It was some time after the signal "cease firing" was given that the batteries obeyed it. Gen. Shafter will send Lieut. Reckenbach, Gen. Gay Henry's aide, to bring up reinforcements from Siboney during the night. The attack will be renewed by land and sea in the morning.

During the battle Gen. Wheeler stood in front of his tent, carefully watching the surface of a little pool in the valley below, in order that he might judge by the splashes of the shot striking there whether the enemy was getting the range of the American position. On Saturday night a council of war was held by Gen. Shafter at which he submitted to his officers Gen. Toral's message setting forth the terms on which he would surrender the city.

Gen. Shafter announced that he had submitted the matter to Washington and was expecting an answer. The only promise Gen. Toral would make was that he would leave the city during the night, and all the arms, artillery and other things belonging to the army of the Spanish army but would not inflict any damage to the city.

MADRID, July 12.—Gen. Toral reports that only one Spaniard was wounded during the bombardment and that the material damage was slight.

Shafter's Despatch.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—The following despatch was received from Shafter this morning:
"It has been very quiet with little fighting. A flag of truce up since two o'clock considering proposition for surrender. Now that I have the town surrounded on the north, lines were completed at 5 p.m. by general Ludlow right down to the bay. The line is rather thin but I will have it strengthened in the morning by general Henry who just arrived at headquarters."
"Only three or four casualties; no one killed so far as I can learn. Expect to have two of the new batteries in position to-morrow. Great deal of suffering among people who have gone out of Santiago. Am doing my best to relieve it, but not entirely successful. (Signed) SHAFER."

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Commander Schley has cabled to the navy department expressing regret at the controversy which has arisen regarding the officers who should have the credit for the victory of Santiago de Cuba on July 3rd. The credit, he says, properly belongs to Sampson. He is the commander in chief. Rear Admiral Sampson has cabled to the department declaring that there is no friction between himself and commodore Schley.

From The Field of Action.

So far the war has cost $50,000,000 in appropriations, with more to follow. The misery of the non-combatants, who have been flocking from Santiago since Monday, is on the increase. Mr. Ramden, British consul there, secured a little flour, which he made into tiny cakes and gave to the British subjects who are in distress.

The United States has made no peace propositions, either directly or indirectly, nor has any proposition been received from Spain.

La Lucha, Havana, in its editorial column, says the problem confronting Spain is the easiest the nation has had in all her history. It is only a question of resistance which can be sustained if the Spaniards have only provisions and ammunition. To beat the Yankees in Cuba needs only three or four hundred men for a period of two or three years.

While a party of Alcazar guerrillas were reconnoitering along the rail road and examining a drain between Alcazar and Canas a dynamite bomb exploded, killing fifteen members of the party.

The different companies of admiral Cervera's fleet, including Lieut. Manuel Bustamante and Jose Caballero and naval commandant Ramon Navarre, arrived at Santiago on Friday. All the officers of the Spanish garrison, in spite of the bloody engagements already fought and the prospects of to-day's encounter, are animated with the determination to fight to the end and declare their willingness to seal, with their blood, another of the glorious pages of their country's history. They have a quantity of provisions and ammunition.

Two ships of admiral Cervera's squadron, the Cristobal Colon and the Infanta Maria Teresa, may be added to the American navy. This was determined by a board of survey.

Queen regent Christina is willing to negotiate for peace direct with the United States. The maximum concession that she will make at present is a declaration of absolute independence of Cuba.

Owing to the necessity for the presence of the battleships of Santiago the government has decided not to send the eastern squadron to Spain until Wednesday.

THE SPANISH VERSION.

Americans Destroyed the Alfonso XII—Failed to Relieve Santiago.

MADRID, July 12.—The following despatch has been received by Gen. Correa, minister of war, from Blanco: "Havana, July 10.—The enemy refusing our proposal for evacuation and demanding the unconditional surrender of Santiago, hostilities were renewed at 4 p.m. yesterday. The enemy renewed the attack on the Alfonso XII, stranded near Mariel, and completely destroyed her. They are also threatening Bacuranao. The steamer Pennsylvania, chartered by me to carry 30,000 rations, attempted to reach Santiago. Returning to Jucaro, after sheltering the squadron near Mariel, and completing the last effort to relieve Santiago was fruitless."

Another cable despatch, believed to be from Gen. Toral, says: "The enemy at 4:45 p.m. Sunday attacked San Juan with rifles and cannon. Our troops kept their positions. The enemy abandoned their trenches on the San Juan hill. Simultaneously the squadron bombarded the city. The firing ceased at six o'clock. The conduct of our troops was admirable. We had few losses."

CROW'S NEST CLAIMS.

The Government Takes a Hand And Will See That The Men Are Paid.
OTTAWA, July 12.—The report that has already been made public respecting work on the Crow's Nest Pass and in the discussions that have taken place on the subject, it has been represented that in many cases unjustly dealt with and suffered severe losses. Now, Hon. Mr. Fielding, acting minister of railways and canals, has notified the Canadian Pacific railway company that the government will look to the company to see that ample justice is done, and that if it be shown that just claims for labor remain unpaid the government will withhold the amount from the company's subsidy.

At the request of a large number of settlers in Manitoba the department of the interior has decided to postpone the sale of school lands until harvesting operations are over.

ANTI-RITUALIST WINS.

Mr. Kenah's Conviction Quashed—Urged In The English Church.
LONDON, July 12.—Mr. Kenah's flibbering expedition against ritualism has been condoned, if not justified, by the action of the full bench of county sessions quashing a conviction against him for breach of law.

Unless the bishop of London can bind him over to keep the peace, he will be encouraged to go on with his campaign. The English church is indeed pulsating with unrest and agitation, and the bishops need to be astute politicians as well as pious prelates. The Roman pilgrimage to the shrines of Canterbury is insignificant in comparison with the dissatisfaction of a large body of English laymen over the steady increase in ritual practices and medieval dogma within the church.

Is Not Compelled To Go.

MONTREAL, Que., July 12.—Senator Du Boe will sail from here to day for Liverpool. He has given for publication the correspondence with Sir Wilfrid Laurier regarding his presence in this country. It appears that the premier intimated that Mr. Du Boe ought to leave here and that nothing wrong and could not be expelled, but that he intended to go away.

LONG FINGER NAILS.

Indicate Rank and Good Breeding In Many Oriental Countries.
The countries where the long finger nail is most affected are Siam, Assam, Cochinchina and China. The approved length varies from three or four to 23 inches. A Siamese exquisite permits the nails on his fingers to grow to such an extent that his hands are practically useless. The aristocrats who affect these nails cannot write, dress themselves or even feed themselves.

The Siamese hold the long finger nail in the same reverence we hold the family tree. Many of them never have had their nails cut from the day of their birth. On the first finger the nail is of moderate length—three or four inches—while on the other fingers the nails grow occasionally to the length of a yard, after reaching a certain length they curve around like a corkerew.

In both China and Siam the owners of long nails wear metal cases over them to preserve them, made of gold or silver, and jeweled. While long nails are not regarded as singular in China, they are rarely met with except on fanatics and pedantic scholars.

Among the fakirs in Hindustan a peculiar custom is that of holding the hand tightly clenched and in one position so long that at last the nails grow through the palm, emerging at the back of the hand and growing thence almost to the wrist. When the wasted muscles refuse to support the arm any longer, it is bound in position with cords.

In Cuba the long nail is regarded as indicative of good breeding. The aristocrats constantly subject their finger tips to cedar wood fire to insure a good growth. The inhabitants of the Marquesas Islands are answer to the most expert tattooers on earth, and not even the crown of the head, the fingers and the toes are exempt from the needle. The hands are ornamented with utmost care, all the fingers having their own patterns, so the hand would look as though incased in a tight fitting glove were it not for the finger nails of enormous length which complete the hand adornment of the wealthier natives.—Chicago News.

Miss French's Mexican Pottery.

The following is said to be altogether characteristic of Miss French (Octavia Thackeray), who is described as being amiability and sweetness itself. On one occasion an individual in common workman's garb came up the elevator to her apartments and presented himself at her study door.
"There's some freight for you just come in on the steamer, mum," he said.
"Why, what is it?" Miss French inquired.
"Two crates of Mexican pottery, mum."
"But I haven't ordered any," she expostulated.
"Sure, but someone is sending it, most like, and I come to ax fur the job of hauling it up for you," said the man.
"Why, I shall be very glad to give you the job, my man, and pray be careful in handling it," Miss French answered kindly.
"That I will, mum, sure, and there's 96 freight charges before the stuff can leave the yard. I'll take it along if you'll give me the change and bring the crates right up."
All this happened more than a year ago, and to this day Miss French is wondering what has become of the man, the 96 and the Mexican pottery.—Philadelphia Times.
