

WEAKENING DIARRHOEA

Promptly Checked And the Weakened System Strengthened by Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.

Diarrhoea does not need to persist for any length of time until the whole system is weakened and debilitated. No other disease so quickly undermines the strength and brings about a condition of prostration and often collapse.

Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is not only prompt and effective in checking the diarrhea, but at the same time it stimulates and strengthens the heart and braces up the system.

Mrs. Joshua Stevenson, of New South, Ont., says that her little girl was weak and almost ran to nothing through a severe attack of summer complaint. Nothing would check it till she gave her Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry which acted like a charm. She considers no household should be without this valuable remedy. Write parents should take to heart this advice of Mrs. Stevenson's, as they do not know when they themselves or one of their children may be attacked by diarrhea, dysentery, cholera, colic or cramp.

Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is not an expensive remedy—only 35c. a bottle, and the dose is so small that it goes a long way.

Don't accept a substitute or imitation. Many of them are dangerous compounds.

MONEY AND BUSINESS.

J. H. McCANN, ACCOUNTANT AND Real Estate Agent. Money to loan at lowest rates. Estates managed. Office 832 King St. over Wain's Drug Store.

ALEXANDER BLANCHARD (CHARTERED) ACCOUNTANT. Books opened, posted, audited. Trial balances and financial statements taken. Business confidential. Address 472 Brock Street, or Regiopolis College, Kingston.

MONEY TO LOAN IN LARGE OR SMALL SUMS, at low rates of interest, on City and Farm Property, and on notes on City and County Deposits. Apply to THOMAS BAIRD, Manager of Prudential Loan and Investment Society. Office opposite the Post Office.

ARCHITECTURAL.

POWER & SON, ARCHITECTS. Merchants Building, corner Brock and Wellington streets. Phone 212.

ARTHUR ELLIS, ARCHITECT, OFFICES—Exchange Chambers, Ottawa Block, 81 Brock Street, Kingston, Ont.

W. M. NEWLANDS, ARCHITECT AND Appraiser, corner of Brock and King streets, over Wain's Drug Store. Entrance on King Street, next to Oak Hall.

LEGAL.

D. A. GIVENS, Barrister, Solicitor, over Merchants Bank. Money to loan at 5 and 6 per cent.

SMYTHE & LYON, BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS and Notaries Public. Office 81 Brock Street, Kingston, Ont.

SMYTHE & LOSCOMBE, ASSIGNED IN TRUST. Office 283 Bait Street. Assignments solicited.

MEDICAL CARDS.

R. K. KILBORN, M.D., M.C., F.R.S., LATE Medical Superintendent Kingston General Hospital, (Corner for City and County Office formerly occupied by the late Dr. Saunders. Telephone No. 312.)

D. E. SPARKS, D.D.S., D.S., M.D., DENTIST. 1315 University Avenue. Office hours, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.; Saturday evening, 8 to 10. Telephone 468. F. Sherman, D. D. S., D. D. S., Assistant.

HORSE LIVERY.

DIBBY'S LIVERY OPEN DAY AND NIGHT Telephone 291.

INSURANCE.

London, Liverpool and Globe Fire Insurance Company. Funds over $2,000,000. In addition to which the policy holders have for security the unlimited ability of all the stockholders.

FIRE AND CITY PROPERTY insured at lowest possible rates. Before renewing old or giving new business get rates from W. J. FAIR, Special Agent, King Street, Ontario Bank.

TO LOAN.

Two Hundred Thousand Dollars in sums from one thousand to ten thousand dollars. For particulars apply at Godwin's Insurance Emporium, Over Express Office, Market Square.

AUGUST SALE.

Special Prices until Aug. 31st only. Parlor Suits reduced from $75 to $50. Bed Room Suits, mahogany, reduced from $75 to $50. Suits, oak, reduced from $60 to $40. Suits, antique, reduced from $40 to $25. Suits, oak, reduced from $45 to $35. Suits, oak, reduced from $45 to $35. Couches, silk covers, reduced from $25 to $18. Cushions, reduced from $15 to $12. Cottage celebratory Bed Couches are in this sale.

T. F. Harrison Co.

Furniture and Undertaking.

DON'T READ THIS AD.

If you don't wish to deal at the cheapest prices, we wish to draw your attention to our Terms. Our prices are the lowest in the city. We have them all prices from $1.50 upwards.

I. H. BRECK - 339 KING ST.

PIANOS FOR RENTAL. A NUMBER OF EXCELLENT INSTRUMENTS available for rent at reasonable rates. Apply at Wain's Drug Store.

MYSTERIOUS GYPSIES.

They Are Making No End of Trouble For Spain.

CARLIST SPIES AND MESSENGERS.

Wherever Disorder Is Present There the Gypsy Is Also—Riot and Robbery A Ford Agreeable Recreation From Their Ordinary Life.

Gypsies flourish in Spain. Laws and customs place very few restrictions upon them and in many respects they resemble the lower class of Spaniards. The Spanish gypsy has not been in the least misrepresented by the dramatists in his ability to intrigue, and from this reason he becomes a political factor of no mean importance in times of social disorder and revolution. The gypsy bands throughout Spain are everywhere in communication with each other and are able to spread intelligence in some mysterious way with inconceivable rapidity.

How they communicate with each other has not been discovered, but in more than one Spanish revolution the gypsies have been utilized by the conspirators to spread intelligence of a proposed uprising for their workmen have everything to gain and nothing to lose by revolution and social disorder and are consequently always on the side of the revolutionists. Rioting, the looting of shops, the plundering of houses, are occupations which very pleasantly vary the monotony of gypsy country life, and wherever disorder is present there and the gypsy is also. It is therefore with some degree of apprehension that the government contemplates the mysterious movements recently reported of the Spanish gypsy bands toward the north.

The north is for Spain a dangerous direction for the wanderers to take. The north is the Carlist country, and the movement of the gypsy bands toward the Pyrenees, it is feared, forebodes a coming revolution.

In the Iberian peninsula the women do most of the fortune telling and assist the men in the various swindling schemes that promise good results, but it is stated as a singular fact that in Germany the fortune telling and palmistry dodges are more frequently walked by the older men of the tribes, and the spectacle of three or four credulous women eagerly listening to the promises and prophecies of an old rogue who is to die for a chance to swindle or steal is more common than edifying.

The gypsy women in Spain when young take naturally to music and dancing and when old to fortune telling. Some of the cleverest dancers on the Spanish stage are of gypsy extraction and frequently when the season is over they rejoin their tribes for a few months' vacation and a renewal of the wandering life which possesses an indefinable but perceptible charm for all who become accustomed to it. The young gypsy women are often strikingly beautiful, but their mode of life causes them to fade early, and at the time when an English or American woman is in her prime the gypsy is a hag without a trace of her former good looks.

As dancers, however, they possess a fascination. They have an abandon and suggestiveness of manner, of look, that rarely falls to take with a miscellaneous crowd, and when a gypsy dancer makes a success at all it is complete. There are some writers who take the position that what are known as the country dances of Italy and Spain, the tarantella, the seguidilla, the fandango and others, are neither Spanish nor Italian, but gypsy dances. Whether this is true or not it is certain that the gypsies are extremely adept in this form of amusement and entertainment, and the gypsy dancer, posturing before a select company to the music of a guitar and castanets, is the nearest approach to the nautch girl that Europe possesses.

Gypsy music is closely analogous to the music of the country, being quite different from the music of the north of Hungary. What is called Magyar music, the music of Liszt's rhapsodies, is really gypsy music, constructed without the slightest regard to the rules of composition or laid down by the great masters, the different parts having neither connection nor sequence. The gypsy character must be understood before the gypsy music can be appreciated.

The gypsy lack of history has caused many theories to be advanced as to their origin, but the most satisfactory regards them as the descendants of low class Hindus, who, in the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries, were driven from their native land by the military conquests of hostile kings. It is certain that throughout Turkey, Persia and north Afghanistan there are tribes which, in habits, customs and language resemble the gypsies of Europe. These tribes are closely analogous to the lowest class of the Hindus, so this theory, in default of a better, is generally accepted.

The gypsy has no religion of his own. He has ever had one, he has lost it in his wanderings. The fact, however, does not worry him in the least for when he feels the need of spiritual comfort he possesses a religious faith which is shared by the people by whom he is surrounded.

The late Thomas Hester, drowned near his home in the town of New South, Ont., had $50 in one pocket and about $2 in the other when he was found. When found and before the money was missing. Measures will be taken to discover the guilty parties.

THE LADIES' AID SOCIETY of the Methodist church, Tweed, has been reorganized with a strong membership and the following officers: President, Mrs. Houck; vice-president, Mrs. James Finley; secretary, Mrs. Tuttle; treasurer, Mrs. Black.

A sad death occurred on Tuesday when Mrs. Davis, Oxford Mills, died at the residence of her father, John Leach, Montague, aged only about twenty years. She had been married about a year and a half, and a husband and child left to mourn.

At Point Peninsula on Wednesday, Miss Martha A. Wiggins, formerly a teacher in the Cape Vincent school, and John R. Kilborn, of the first mentioned place, were united in marriage. They left in the evening for Montreal and other Canadian cities.

Charley Wright, aged eleven years and the only colored boy in Chateaufort, N.Y., on Tuesday swam out and brought to shore young James Smith, as he was going down for the last time. The boys were all in bathing, and had for Wright's heroic act James would have lost his life.

John Johnston, Watertown, N.Y., after being confined to bed for five months, passed away on Monday. She was born in Waterford, Ireland, in 1828, coming to Smith's Falls, Ont., with her family when eight years old. For the last twenty-eight years she lived in Watertown.

Mr. and Mrs. John Milikin, Smith's Falls, celebrated the sixtieth anniversary of their wedding day on Monday evening. Eight children, a large number of grandchildren and two great-grandchildren were among those present. The old couple have been devoted Methodists all their lives.

One year ago this month E. Grondin's store, Smith's Falls, was burglarized. Through cards dropped, bearing the names of girl acquaintances of the thief, chief McGowan succeeded, after a diligent effort, in arresting William Clark, Hillsburg, Ont. The guilty man is now in Perth jail.

H. O'Brien, lately employed in Ottawa as an engagement agent for the C.P.R. and McKenzie & Mann, has just closed a contract that will last a number of years. On Wednesday he and Miss M. Halladay, Smith's Falls, were married. Once before they were engaged, but they quarreled and parted.

For over a year John Lison, a laborer in the Smith's Falls mill, has been suffering from a case of insanity. Lately he showed a disposition to do violence. Brookville jail was being full, he was arrested and thrown into Perth jail, and no doubt will be sent to an asylum. A wife and four children remain at home.

Cleopatra DeBoe and Mrs. John LeFlair sloped together from Ogdensburg, N.Y., on Monday. They crossed to Prescott and bought tickets for Ottawa. The man leaves a wife and six children. The woman, only twenty-eight years of age, leaves five children and a husband. Before leaving the burg they together purchased a baby carriage.

Test the KIDNEYS

They are the Great Defenders of our Bodies. The Purity of the Blood is Dependent on their Cleansing Powers.

There is a time to all old and young, man or woman, when poor health brings trouble and burdens hard to stand up under, and one's efforts to rid himself of himself seem only to be baffled at every turn, and we are made to feel that it is not the time to give up—but the time for action: the time to seek out the seat of the trouble, and act as your best judgment and the experience of others will help you, guarding against mistakes in the treatment adopted for your particular ailment.

MR. GEORGE BENNER, WILSON, ONTARIO, SAYS:—As a life saver to mankind, I hereby state what Dr. A. W. Chase's K. L. Pills did for me. For nearly four years I was troubled with Constipation and general weakness in the kidneys, and in my various positions with strongly advised to use Chase's Pills, and to-day I am well, and testify that they have saved my life.

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS are the only Combined Kidney and Liver Pills what they have accomplished is but a guarantee of what they will do.

DISTRICT DASHES.

News of the District Condensed From the Weekly Exchange.

Roland Papp leaves Tweed next week to resume his duties in New York. Horse races will be held at Deseronto on Labor day, $275 being the amount of purse.

The fourth annual meeting of the Tamworth driving park will be held on September 14th.

Miss R. Rowson, Wilketown, has resigned from the teaching staff of Brockville school.

P. J. Stagnana, Collingwood, Ont., at a salary of $400, has been appointed a teacher in Smith's Falls school.

David Mackay, a farmer near Newbliss, died on Friday aged seventy-three years. He leaves a wife and two grown up children.

John Dobbs, Athens, died on Friday last, aged forty-two years. He had been sitting for some time but was seriously ill for only one day.

Michael Neely, resident in Smith's Falls for many years, died at the residence of her son Neary, on Wednesday, aged eighty-three years.

On Saturday, Mrs. Antoine Steblin, Cape Vincent, died after suffering long from a stroke of paralysis. Deceased was a kind wife and mother.

Frank Carpenter, son of sheriff Carpenter, died at Ras Portage during the early part of July. He was in Tweed a few weeks prior to his death.

Grace Margaret Barber was born August 18th, 1893, to Dr. and Mrs. A. E. Barber, Mishawaka, Indiana. Athens friends extend congratulations.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Robertson passed through Smith's Falls on Tuesday on their way to Chica. Mrs. Robertson was Miss Bella Hunter, of the above place. Gilmour company will resume operations in Tweed district this winter. The machinery will be removed to the Trent mills, which will be put in full operation next summer.

W. H. Grant, Clayton, is the proud possessor of a this year's swarm of bees which have made 140 pounds of honey, besides filling the main hive for their winter's use.

G. T. Rooks, C.P.R. despatcher, Smith's Falls, has been transferred to Toronto, and Stephen Robinson, who went to Toronto a little over a week ago, returns to Smith's Falls.

A painful accident happened to Mr. Sheffield, Frankville, on Monday. He was turning his horse and wagon around, and his thumb was caught between the wheel and the box, completely severing the end.

Miss Maggie Tweedy, daughter of the late James Tweedy, died at Easton's Corner on Thursday of heart failure, the result of contracting a cold. She was the possessor of a gentle and lovable disposition.

The ladies' aid society of the Methodist church, Tweed, has been reorganized with a strong membership and the following officers: President, Mrs. Houck; vice-president, Mrs. James Finley; secretary, Mrs. Tuttle; treasurer, Mrs. Black.

A sad death occurred on Tuesday when Mrs. Davis, Oxford Mills, died at the residence of her father, John Leach, Montague, aged only about twenty years. She had been married about a year and a half, and a husband and child left to mourn.

At Point Peninsula on Wednesday, Miss Martha A. Wiggins, formerly a teacher in the Cape Vincent school, and John R. Kilborn, of the first mentioned place, were united in marriage. They left in the evening for Montreal and other Canadian cities.

Charley Wright, aged eleven years and the only colored boy in Chateaufort, N.Y., on Tuesday swam out and brought to shore young James Smith, as he was going down for the last time. The boys were all in bathing, and had for Wright's heroic act James would have lost his life.

John Johnston, Watertown, N.Y., after being confined to bed for five months, passed away on Monday. She was born in Waterford, Ireland, in 1828, coming to Smith's Falls, Ont., with her family when eight years old. For the last twenty-eight years she lived in Watertown.

Mr. and Mrs. John Milikin, Smith's Falls, celebrated the sixtieth anniversary of their wedding day on Monday evening. Eight children, a large number of grandchildren and two great-grandchildren were among those present. The old couple have been devoted Methodists all their lives.

One year ago this month E. Grondin's store, Smith's Falls, was burglarized. Through cards dropped, bearing the names of girl acquaintances of the thief, chief McGowan succeeded, after a diligent effort, in arresting William Clark, Hillsburg, Ont. The guilty man is now in Perth jail.

H. O'Brien, lately employed in Ottawa as an engagement agent for the C.P.R. and McKenzie & Mann, has just closed a contract that will last a number of years. On Wednesday he and Miss M. Halladay, Smith's Falls, were married. Once before they were engaged, but they quarreled and parted.

For over a year John Lison, a laborer in the Smith's Falls mill, has been suffering from a case of insanity. Lately he showed a disposition to do violence. Brookville jail was being full, he was arrested and thrown into Perth jail, and no doubt will be sent to an asylum. A wife and four children remain at home.

Cleopatra DeBoe and Mrs. John LeFlair sloped together from Ogdensburg, N.Y., on Monday. They crossed to Prescott and bought tickets for Ottawa. The man leaves a wife and six children. The woman, only twenty-eight years of age, leaves five children and a husband. Before leaving the burg they together purchased a baby carriage.

THE HOME CIRCLE.

Contributed.

—Annette L. Noble, in Youth's Temperance Banner.

Perhaps no boy was ever more scolded about and less scolded at than Jim Pratt. When he would not learn his lessons (he seldom did) his teachers said it was shameful in so bright a boy and he should be whipped. Next day when he came whistling along with a bunch of wild flowers, learning like a sunbeam—well, he never got whipped.

His mother was very poor, and farmers would gladly give him work, but he set at some task he kept the other men roaring with laughter and did very little else. He was not so lazy either; but all life seemed to him one big joke. His mother was a very sad and silent woman, who would have died if Jim had been taken away from her.

One day Mrs. Pratt was called to her father's funeral. He had been very ill, and she believed that he must have died by some terrible accident, for his mother never could or would speak of him.

One lovely September day Jim sat on the bench, lovingly "John Brown" at the top of his voice, which was like a trumpet. He was vaguely thinking how stupid it must be in school, and how tiresome it was to hulk corn.

Farmer Wells offered him good wages to come over that day and help. It was such fun just to run about and find amusement everywhere. By-and-by Jim strolled over to the Well's farm to make things lively about lunch time.

He was such good company; he often picked up a meal in that way. This day he was out with the biggest bar he had when he overheard farmer Wells talking, and he was such a good, wise man that people listened to whatever he had to say.

Yes, there is nothing really bad about being "jolly" now, but there is going to be just as much to be had for his father's right over again. He was Jim, too, and jolly as the day was long, but lazy, and I tell you, "Satan always finds some mischief still for idle hands to do." Old Jim fiddled and idled about all day, and he never had any work. While he was young he had fun. Soon his old comrades went to college, went to business, got homes, made men of themselves. Jim only got a good wife.

The Lord pity her! Of course she took to drink—loafers all ways do. And I am a big man, I have not work. While he was young he had fun. Soon his old comrades went to college, went to business, got homes, made men of themselves. Jim only got a good wife.

About sundown Jim went home. His mother was milking the cow. He took the milk-pail away from her, saying, "You shall never do this again." Then he chopped wood, mended the garden gate, and astonished his mother as much as his former wife astonished him. He kissed her goodnight, saying, "Tomorrow I am going to begin to be a man, and a man you can trust. Mother, I never will be a drunkard."

Next morning he was at farmer Wells' bright and early. The work he did that night surprised everybody, and so it was for six weeks. When school began he went half-day, and studied as he had worked; the other half day he worked for a grocer.

Within a year "Jolly Jim" lost his name. He was so business-like, so prompt and intelligent, people began to say "James," although he was full of fun when off duty. When Jim was fifteen years old he took his mother to the prison where his father was dying. If he needed another lesson he had it then, and it was one that he never forgot.

Jim's father was twenty-seven when he was sent to state prison. When Jim, the son, was twenty-seven he had a good education, the respect of all his acquaintances, a fine business, and a home of his own. He was "jolly" still, but he had reason to be.

O thou wonderful Protector, Who dost never, never fail, Swift we turn to Thee for refuge; Though our foes surround us, Still our hearts shall know no fear, Safe in Thy pavilion hiding.

In Thy presence, near and dear, In our trouble and our sorrow, In our darkness and our night, Thee we seek, for thou art ever Our "Salvation" and our "Light." Often through perplexing passes Thou hast led us hither; Oft, when cannot count the darkness, But Thy light can lead us through!

Lord, we come to-day rejoicing—That Thou dost not hide Thy face! Thou dost brighten all our pathway, With Thy favor and Thy grace! Though earth's closest ties may fail us, Till our hearts shall grieve and ache, Thou art faithful and unchanging, Thou wilt never forsake us.

—Margaret W. Snowgrass.

The Man Who Cooks The Grub. Cleveland Leader.

We have read in song and story Of the man behind the hangings, He is given all the glory, Of the battles that are won; They are filling up the papers With his apotheosis, And they tell about his capers While the shells above him hiss, But behind the grimy banner, Steadfast through the wild hubbub, Stands a greater god of battles— 'Tis the man who cooks the grub.

When the sky is rent with thunder, And the shell screams through the air, When some fort is rent asunder, And destruction reveals there, When the men in line go rushing On to glory or to woe, With the maddened charges crashing, Heroes who are lying low, There is one but for whose labors There could be no wild hubbub, And the greatest god of battles, 'Tis the man who cooks the grub.

What of ships with armor plating? What of castles on the heights? What of anxious captains waiting While the careful gunner sights? What of men with valiant hearts? These were but impotent trifles, But incessant menial parts, Of the whole, without the fellow, Who must scour, scrape and scrub— For the greatest god of battles.

I used to be continually fired, now I am strong and well—Miller's Compound Iron Pills did it. Sold by all druggists. Sandwiches, poultry, cold meats, candies, ice cream, etc. Frontenac Cafe.

SCHOOL OF MINING, KINGSTON, ONT.

QUESTION 1888-1889. BROWN'S SECT. 26TH. Matriculation Examination at Queen's University beginning Sept. 19th. Courses in Analytical Chemistry and Assaying, Geology and in Mining Engineering. Special Students admitted without matriculation. W. L. GOODWIN, Director.

COLLEGE OF REGIOPOLIS, KINGSTON, ONT.

DEPARTMENTS—UNIVERSITY, COLLEGIATE, and Business and Shorthand. Through Classical Course. Preparation for Matriculation. Teachers—Certificated. Efficient staff of experienced qualified High School Teachers. A Chartered Accountant has charge of the Business Course. Call at 12 College for Calendar for 1888-1889, or it will be mailed you on application to VERY REV. THOS. KELLY, V. G., Dean.

KINGSTON Business College.

Business Course, Shorthand Course, Civil Service Course.

Agents for Remington Standard Typewriter. For full information call at College Office or address J. B. MCKAY, Kingston, Ont.

Kingston Ladies' College.

A BRANCH SCHOOL, under the patronage of His Grace the Archbishop and the Very Rev. the Dean of Ontario.

THE HOME CIRCLE.

Contributed.

—Annette L. Noble, in Youth's Temperance Banner.

Perhaps no boy was ever more scolded about and less scolded at than Jim Pratt. When he would not learn his lessons (he seldom did) his teachers said it was shameful in so bright a boy and he should be whipped. Next day when he came whistling along with a bunch of wild flowers, learning like a sunbeam—well, he never got whipped.

His mother was very poor, and farmers would gladly give him work, but he set at some task he kept the other men roaring with laughter and did very little else. He was not so lazy either; but all life seemed to him one big joke. His mother was a very sad and silent woman, who would have died if Jim had been taken away from her.

One day Mrs. Pratt was called to her father's funeral. He had been very ill, and she believed that he must have died by some terrible accident, for his mother never could or would speak of him.

One lovely September day Jim sat on the bench, lovingly "John Brown" at the top of his voice, which was like a trumpet. He was vaguely thinking how stupid it must be in school, and how tiresome it was to hulk corn.

Farmer Wells offered him good wages to come over that day and help. It was such fun just to run about and find amusement everywhere. By-and-by Jim strolled over to the Well's farm to make things lively about lunch time.

He was such good company; he often picked up a meal in that way. This day he was out with the biggest bar he had when he overheard farmer Wells talking, and he was such a good, wise man that people listened to whatever he had to say.

Yes, there is nothing really bad about being "jolly" now, but there is going to be just as much to be had for his father's right over again. He was Jim, too, and jolly as the day was long, but lazy, and I tell you, "Satan always finds some mischief still for idle hands to do." Old Jim fiddled and idled about all day, and he never had any work. While he was young he had fun. Soon his old comrades went to college, went to business, got homes, made men of themselves. Jim only got a good wife.

The Lord pity her! Of course she took to drink—loafers all ways do. And I am a big man, I have not work. While he was young he had fun. Soon his old comrades went to college, went to business, got homes, made men of themselves. Jim only got a good wife.

About sundown Jim went home. His mother was milking the cow. He took the milk-pail away from her, saying, "You shall never do this again." Then he chopped wood, mended the garden gate, and astonished his mother as much as his former wife astonished him. He kissed her goodnight, saying, "Tomorrow I am going to begin to be a man, and a man you can trust. Mother, I never will be a drunkard."

Next morning he was at farmer Wells' bright and early. The work he did that night surprised everybody, and so it was for six weeks. When school began he went half-day, and studied as he had worked; the other half day he worked for a grocer.

Within a year "Jolly Jim" lost his name. He was so business-like, so prompt and intelligent, people began to say "James," although he was full of fun when off duty. When Jim was fifteen years old he took his mother to the prison where his father was dying. If he needed another lesson he had it then, and it was one that he never forgot.

Jim's father was twenty-seven when he was sent to state prison. When Jim, the son, was twenty-seven he had a good education, the respect of all his acquaintances, a fine business, and a home of his own. He was "jolly" still, but he had reason to be.

O thou wonderful Protector, Who dost never, never fail, Swift we turn to Thee for refuge; Though our foes surround us, Still our hearts shall know no fear, Safe in Thy pavilion hiding.

In Thy presence, near and dear, In our trouble and our sorrow, In our darkness and our night, Thee we seek, for thou art ever Our "Salvation" and our "Light." Often through perplexing passes Thou hast led us hither; Oft, when cannot count the darkness, But Thy light can lead us through!

Lord, we come to-day rejoicing—That Thou dost not hide Thy face! Thou dost brighten all our pathway, With Thy favor and Thy grace! Though earth's closest ties may fail us, Till our hearts shall grieve and ache, Thou art faithful and unchanging, Thou wilt never forsake us.

—Margaret W. Snowgrass.

The Man Who Cooks The Grub. Cleveland Leader.

We have read in song and story Of the man behind the hangings, He is given all the glory, Of the battles that are won; They are filling up the papers With his apotheosis, And they tell about his capers While the shells above him hiss, But behind the grimy banner, Steadfast through the wild hubbub, Stands a greater god of battles— 'Tis the man who cooks the grub.

When the sky is rent with thunder, And the shell screams through the air, When some fort is rent asunder, And destruction reveals there, When the men in line go rushing On to glory or to woe, With the maddened charges crashing, Heroes who are lying low, There is one but for whose labors There could be no wild hubbub, And the greatest god of battles, 'Tis the man who cooks the grub.

What of ships with armor plating? What of castles on the heights? What of anxious captains waiting While the careful gunner sights? What of men with valiant hearts? These were but impotent trifles, But incessant menial parts, Of the whole, without the fellow, Who must scour, scrape and scrub— For the greatest god of battles.

I used to be continually fired, now I am strong and well—Miller's Compound Iron Pills did it. Sold by all druggists. Sandwiches, poultry, cold meats, candies, ice cream, etc. Frontenac Cafe.

THE HOME CIRCLE.

Contributed.

—Annette L. Noble, in Youth's Temperance Banner.

Perhaps no boy was ever more scolded about and less scolded at than Jim Pratt. When he would not learn his lessons (he seldom did) his teachers said it was shameful in so bright a boy and he should be whipped.