Prof. Gant at the Foresters' demonstra. HENRY'S FORGERY WAS COM-MITTED AFTER THE TRIAL.

> The Minister of War Says That a Revision of the Trial Will Not Occur Henry Had No Conception of Bis Crime Until Its Enormity Was Pressed Upon Him. Paris, Sept. 3 —A member of the chamber of deputies had an interview with the minister for war, M. Cavaignac, on the recent developments in the Dreyfus case. The minister raiterated that he was convinced of the guilt of the prisoner. But at the same time he was determined to punish all who had derelicted their duty.

The deputy afterwards declared that so long as Mr. Cavaignac was minister of war there would be no revision of the on Thursday, aged fifty years. Mrs. Dreyfus case, adding, that in the event of Lally had been an invalid for a number of a revision the trial could not again be held years. behind closed doors, the enquiry would possible to produce some of the documents. Hence the acquittal of Dreyfus must cerare drinking the ideal | tainly result from a re opening of the case.

Col. Heary's confession of having forged the famous document, upon the authenticity of which Gen. De Boisdeffre, chief of stati of the French army, in his impassioned appeal to the jury in the Zola trial staked his own reputation and the honor of the army, and Col. Henry's suicide in the fortress of Mont Valerien, have caused an emotion throughout France which has not been witnessed since the fall of Sedan.

Col. Henry, a peasant's son, promoted from the ranks and imbued with all the instincts, low cunning and narrow personal animosity often characteristic of French peasants, had no conception of the enormity of his crime until overwhelmed by its detection. This brave but infatuated chief of the intelligence department of the French army embodied the whole head and front of Dreyfus' conviction, of Zola's condemnation, of Esterhazy's acquittal and of Picquart's degradation and imprisonment.

Although the document which Col. Henry forged in 1896 cannot technichally have any effect on the Dreyfus trial, which took place in 1894, it is nevertheless with consternation that the people are asking what eart of evidence Dreyfus could have been convicted upon, if, in the judgment of Col. Henry, it was so flimsy that he thought it could not stand investigation without being propped up by official forgery.

It is significant that such newspapers as the Gaulois, the Echo de Paris, and journals which are known to be in cless touch with the army, now declare that the feeling of military men is out and out for revising the court martial, and that many prominent efficers insist that it is the honor of the army itself which necessitates euch revision. Gen. de Boisdeffre, whose monstrous threat to resign with the whole general staff of the army if Zola was acquitted, has now, by his resignation, admitted that he was the blind dupe of a

The movement in favor of a revision of the Dreyfus case is growing stronger in the papers which until now have been hoe-tile to the prisoner. The Matin says: "The absence of M Burgeois, (the minister of education) prevented the ministers from coming to a decision yesterday, and another meeting of council will be held to day."

Gen. Pellieux has tendered his resignation, but it was withdrawn on the ineigtence of Gen. Zurlinden. London, Sept. 3. - A special despatch to the Standard from Paris, published, says the French cabinet has decided upon a re-

The Back Man In a Tandem At the Mercy Of the Steerer.

OTTAWA, Sept. 3. - A rather novel bicy cle case came up in the county court yesterday. Harold B. Woodland and A. D. Sturrock, of this city, procured a tandem bicycle and rode out the Richmond road When Hintonburg was reached the streets were not in good condition and wishing to avoid a particularly large mudhole the bicyclists took the sidewalk and rode on it for the space of a few feet. In the county police court yesterday they were charged with an infraction of the village by-laws. Now comes the interesting feature of the case. Mr. Sturrock was riding on the rear seat of the tandem where the handle bars are stationary. He claims that his fellow rider suddenly steered the wheel towards the sidewalk without his consent, leaving him powerless, but holding on and following. Ottawa's talented singer made a brilliant defence, claiming that his position coincided with the passenger in a vehicle, who is not responsible for the particular part of the road which the driver is to take. Mr. Woodland was absent, and magistrate Smith was evidently impressed with the argument, and adjourned the case until next Friday, when judgment will be ren-

CAN MAKE TIME ENOUGH TO TO MEET RIVALS.

The Commission Does Not Want Any Settlement of The Controversy on Any Terms in Violation of Anti-Trust Law-What May be Presented in The Annual Report of The Interstate Commission. WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 -The interstate commerce commission, by a decision in the matter of passenger rate disturb. ances, involving the propriety of differential passenger rates between eastern points and the Pacific coast, hold that the C.P.R. is not entitled to the differentials States. contended for. The case is one of the most important that has been before the commission for a long time, the American railroad lines and the Canadian Pacific having been engaged six months or more in a war in passenger tariffs between the east and west. are compared, and the claim of the Cana dian Pacific that it ought to have a differ ential on account of longer time consumed is found to have little force, from the fact that it makes much better time via St Paul than over its main line, the presumption is that it could make as fast time over the latter route. A railway must create a disability for sake of obtaining a differential. Every other consideration except that of time is against the granting of dil ferential. The commission, however, states that it has no power to allow or disallow the differential in dispute, but would consider it extremely fortunate if the conclusions reached should be made the basis of an early adjustment.

The commission, in conclusion, says: "I must be distinctly understood that we do not recommend the settlement of this con troversy by the making of any agreement involving arbitration or otherwise, which is in violation of anti-trust law, as interpreted by the United States supreme court. Such features of the past or future history of this controversy as may in our judgment render appropriate any statement or recommendation to congress will be presented in our annual report to that body. So far as our official action can affect the matter, we conclude that we ought not at present to rescind the suspension orders hereto made; but if the difficulty should be adjusted in accordance with the views above expressed, it may become our duty to revoke the permission granted by these orders." A FIVE MILE WALK

Can Cover the Gold Bearing District About Dawson City.

WINNIPEG, Man., Sept. 3 -In an interview regarding the output of gold in the Yukon, major Walsh said prior to his departure for Brockville : "When I left Dawson the spring and summer wash-up had aggregated eight and a half million dollars, and it was estimated that there was still two million dollars on the dumps, which had not been cleaned on account of the lack of water, but which should be cleaned up by the middle of September. The total output of the year will, therefore, exceed ten million dollars, and may, perhaps, reach eleven millions. As it is, it will require three and a half million dollars to do the business of the now in Dawson and district 30,000 people, about eighty per cent. of them foreigners and the balance British subjects. I had a census of Dawson taken before I left which showed the population of the place just 16,000. The district in the vicinity of Dawson is over-populated by 10,000 people, and they must either move to new creeks or leave the country. The country for fifty miles around Dawson is staked out, but the present gold producing area can be covered by a five mile walk. "Gold mining in British Yukon has only ust begun. Next year the output should be $20,000,000, and it should continue to increase every year until it reaches a sum that will place the Yukon among the greatest mining camps known in world's history. With improved transportation facilities, prices of miners' requisitee and the cost of living would be so reduced that thousands of acres of ground will be mined that cannot now be worked with eatisfactory returns. The Klondyke district will be a mining camp for the next twenty-five years and will give rich returns. The creeks that are being worked now assure that there is much unbreken territory of which one cannot speak with certainty, and the Indian river district, which embraces such creeks as Dominion. Hunker, Salphur, etc., is likely to produce more gold than the Klondyke district."

Various Matters Have Been Before the Meeting-No Decisions. QUEBRC, Sept. 3.—The matters so far discussed by the British American join high commission have been the allen labor laws, the Behring seal fisheries, the At- day. lantic shore fisheries, the Alaska boundary dispute and the bonding privilege. The nearest approach to a positive agreement has been reached in the alien labor laws. The American commissioners are safe to be ready to consent that the United States alien labor laws shall not operate on the Canadian frontier providing Canada passes and enforces laws including identically the same classes of immigration as the United States do. Canada will gladly do this so far as the abrogation of the Rush Bagot convention is concerned. The other matters discussed have all been held over fer recensideration. The Alaskan boundary dispute is under-

The inshere fishery question is far from settlement. Not only is very little importance attached by the American commissieners to the use of the Canadian fishing grounds by Americans and very much to the value of American markets for fish, but Sir James Winter, on the The time and distance by various routes part of Newfoundland, wants to step in and have authority to nego tiate a direct treaty with the United States, irrespective of Cauada, protesting against her colony being commercially ostracised by the United States, because of Canada's action in extending preferential trade to Britain.

The Behring sea question bids fair to be settled if the question of indemnity can be arranged. It will cost about $740,-000 to buy off the Canadian pelagic sealers, which amount represents the actual capital they have invested in their undertaking. It is argued that it would pay the United States to spend this sum because of the return to would yield in the increased seal-life upon the property of the union. The deminion government would rid itself of a barassing subject by paying the indemnity itself, but is unlikely to do se unless sure of some equivalent therefor. If Canada makes an agreement on this head she would enforce it or have the British government do so by enacting a close time for seals for twenty sears, or whatever period that may be agreed upon, in Canadian waters and by declaring pelagic sealing in the Pacific illegal to British subjects for the same per
