STRICKEN BY A MALADY

A Queer Disease Downs British Sailors.

YELLOW FEVER SYMPTOMS.

WILD DELIRIUM FOLLOWS FIRST ATTACK.

Vessel Left St. Kitts With All on Board Well—Disease Developed Soon After Leaving Port—One of the Men Died While Awaiting Transfer to Hospital at Philadelphia—Difficult in Navigating the Vessel.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 1.—Mysterious, to say the least, is the peculiar sickness which developed on the British brig Sunlight on her trip from St. Kitts to the Delaware breakwater, and whose arrival at the latter place was reported yesterday.

When the Sunlight, bound for New York, but forced to put in at the Delaware Capes to seek medical aid, was hailed by the tug Protector shortly after midnight she signalled the tug away with "sickness on board." The actions of the brig, however, suggested to the master of the tug that immediate help was needed, and he accordingly stood by until morning in the expectation of towing the steamer into port.

As soon as the line had been thrown Capt. Davison, of the Sunlight, informed the Protector that he wished to be taken ashore in the vicinity of the marine hospital, saying that an illness of the most peculiar character had broken out on board his ship and one to which he was totally unable to assign a name.

The Sunlight was accordingly taken in tow by the Protector and brought into harbor at the breakwater. From the latter place yesterday came a despatch to the Maritime Exchange, stating that four of the crew and one passenger were sick with "logwood fever." Just what this is has been a puzzle to the authorities and the afflicted ones themselves. It was suggested that there may be a grave epidemic raging on board the Sunlight, but from the communications received in this city from the captain and others this is not the case.

The Sunlight left New York June 29th, for Point a Pitre, arrived July 10th and sailed July 29th for St. Kitts, where she was to take a large cargo of sugar for New York. While at St. Kitts it is said that captain Davison agreed to take on passengers who desired to avail themselves of the limited accommodation provided by his vessel. At the time of his arrival at St. Kitts the crew were all in good health, and the health of the little city where they were receiving their cargo was also excellent. This fact makes all the more remarkable the curious malady, which appeared only twenty-four hours after leaving port.

One of the passengers was the first affected. The symptoms suggested yellow fever, but in a very short time they gave way to wild delirium and the patient had to be bound to his berth. The next day two of the crew gave indications of a similar disease, one man being seized while in the act of refilling a sail and nearly losing his life by falling into the sea. Violent hysterics accompanied the strange complaint. Wild shrieks of laughter emanated from the sufferers as they ran up and down the decks, striking terror to the hearts of the remainder of the crew, who knew not the next victim.

Three days later three more men were affected and the working force of the little brig was greatly reduced, so much so, in fact, that Capt. Davison, fully alive to the gravity of the situation, gave up all thought of reaching New York and clapped on all sail for a harbor of refuge at the Delaware breakwater.

Lock, however, was against the Sunlight and several agonizing days were in store for the remnant of the crew before they finally saw the welcome light of Cape Henlopen. It was with the greatest difficulty that the vessel could be navigated, and had a storm come up in all probability the Sunlight, with her strange malady and faithful remaining men, would have perished.

The Sunlight remained off Lewes during the afternoon and preparations were being made to remove the men to the Marine hospital. Before this had been accomplished, however, one of the sick, a seaman, succumbed to the mysterious malady.

Commission May Be Soon Appointed. QUEEN, Oct. 1.—It is understood that the government will shortly appoint a commission to investigate the charges of official mal-administration and hoodlumism in Kintyre. Such a move has been equally urged by its friends and political opponents. One result will be the abolition of the rights of officials to hold claims, another may be wholesale dismissals from the service. There is good reason to believe that the government is seriously considering the advisability of abolishing the ten per cent. royalty tax.

Overruled, He Resigned. LONDON, Sept. 30.—The Vienna correspondent of the Daily Telegraph, referring to the Austro-Hungarian situation, says Count Von Thun-Hohenstein, premier of Austria, wanted the opposition to obstruct the Ausgleich bills so as to enable him immediately to prorogue parliament and to pass the Ausgleich by an ordinance. The opposition parties, however, outwitted the premier by temporarily abandoning obstruction. Count Von Hohenstein thereupon resigned.

Big Crop Crop. SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 1.—It is estimated that the total crop of the state this season will be worth $7,000,000 and 20,000 bales. Picking will be finished this week. A considerable portion of the crop has already been contracted for on a basis of ten and twelve cents per pound.

IN MEMORIAM.

The Late Miss R. J. Rogers, Glen Logie. A large circle of friends in town and country were painfully surprised by the death of Miss Sarah J. Rogers, which occurred at Glen Logie on September 25th. Though her health had for some time been a source of anxiety to her friends, yet until very recently it was hoped that she would regain again a reasonable measure of health, but these hopes were not to be realized and death, the relentless, claimed her as his own.

Sarah Jane Rogers was the daughter of the late D. D. Rogers, Glen Logie, sister of D. D. Rogers, M.P., Frontenac, and of Samuel Rogers, late member of the provincial legislature of British Columbia. She was the eldest of a family of ten who survive her.

Miss Rogers was a fine type of the highest Christian character. She was never so happy as when performing kindnesses for some of her many friends, or ministering to the sick or sorrow. Her loving disposition, though unintrusively, many opportunities for her activity. Though past middle life she was a friend and companion of the young, and among the most sincere mourners are the young friends that she delighted to gather round her. She was the devoted daughter and loving companion of her aged mother. Her loss to her will be irreconcilable.

The memory of a good life and of loving service to her sorrowing friends and mourners was beautiful in the loving service of her deeds and in the outpouring of a deeply sympathetic and loving nature to family and friends. Sarah Rodgers will be long and lovingly remembered in the community in which she lived.

The Son Steals The Money. BEVERLY, N.Y., Oct. 1.—John Schooley, Ridgeway, Ont., is in trouble and mourns the loss of $700. Recently Mr. Schooley received $1,000, part of the estate of his wife, who died several months ago. He spent part of the money and then put the rest in a bag and hung it up in a pantry in his house. His son Edward found it and according to Schooley's statement stole $610. On Tuesday he asked the police to this city to assist him in finding his son and the money, but yesterday Capt. Forestier received word that a boy answering the description had been arrested in Chicago, and the father at once started for there. He does not care to prosecute the young man.

REBELLION IN CHINA.

Rebel Leader Chung Issues a Proclamation.

ARE MARCHING ON CANTON.

IMPERIAL SOLDIERS SENT TO OPPOSE THEM.

The Rebellion Assuming Serious Proportions—The Cantonese Reformer in Harbors at Hong Kong—The British Consul Clear of Action—Li's Opponent Banished.

VANCOUVER, B.C., Oct. 1.—The following is the proclamation of Chung, the famous Chinese rebel chief—a very interesting proclamation inasmuch as the victory of Canton has forbidden all newspapers to discuss the rebellion, and from the fact that the rebel chief seems to have his plans for succession on the fact that Chinese living inland hate foreigners and would stoop to England to checkmate the plans of the alleged aggressors. The translation of the proclamation in the rough is as follows:

"I, Chung, being appointed by the Almighty to be commander-in-chief of the Sieng Chung Long (name of the rebellion), issue this proclamation with the special view of kicking out the barbarians and protecting China. The barbarians are, as is unknown, the powerful people of Europe, who are aiming at the exercise of their tyrannical powers throughout the whole world. Depending upon their craftiness they try to find prey on the way. Their greedy desire has been to take possession of land everywhere, and to seek out all the rich men for the last ten years. They have done a great injury under the pretence of carrying on trade and have despoiled the people of their wealth. Their cruelty, wickedness, outrageousness and tyranny have kindled the anger of the gods and cannot be forgiven by heaven or earth. They say they are friendly to China, but it is a lie. They violate the treaties and act in such a way as to corrode and eat up China. Their crimes, such as breaking the temple of Confucius, destroying the images of the sage, forcing officers to yield to their despotism, the foreign evils they protect, many innocent people and enabling the missionaries to carry on their evil designs, are too numerous to be mentioned and their shame cannot be washed clean by all the water of the West river. It is most painful to see the stupid officers of China, beguiling the people at the behest of the foreigners into enslavement, are aiding them in carrying on their evil work.

"Therefore, I, Chung, obeying the orders of the Almighty to gather all the brave and heroic warriors together with a special view to seek revenge for the people, to drive away foreign devils and to protect China, have assembled over three hundred philosophical scholars, about one thousand militia officers and more than thirty thousand brave soldiers. The twenty-fourth day of sixth moon has been chosen to raise the standard. We are first to march to Ping-Fa and Ta Wong, and thence away to Tai-Fing and Wing-On to drive away the foreign evils and protect the Chinese. You, the gentry and people, should take counsel together to co-operate in driving the foreign devils away immediately. When we pass we will cause no molestation to the people, who should expel our cause and not obstruct our soldiers. Written on the sixth moon."

The natural inference on reading the proclamation is that the situation is more serious than expected. It has been stated that the rebel army within twenty days march of Canton. There is no doubt, says the Chinese press, that the rebellion has not been blacked. From Canton large numbers of black flag soldiers have been sent to quell the rebellion and black flag chiefs and braves have been stationed at the north gate of the city to avert the attack. Besides the black flags there are also a large number of volunteers awaiting the rebels, ready to advance to the attack at the first call to arms.

Inventory Horse Races. The horse races at Inverary were watched by 300 or 400 spectators yesterday, and were conducted with satisfaction to all. The winners were:

THREE MINUTE CLASS. Jennie Allen, F. Ferguson, 1 2 1 1; Nettie P. P. Freeman, 1 1 1 1; John J. J. Sherman, 2 1 1 1.

FREE-FOR-ALL. Bob of Bileam, W. Merriman, 1 1 1 1; Long John, A. Kow, 1 1 1 1; Prince of Bileam, P. Pixley, 1 1 1 1.

In the third heat of the free-for-all Bob of Bileam took first place, but was given an account of jockeying Prince of Bileam. The track, though small, was in good condition and the races were well contested. The judges were George Darragh, Kingston; S. Sloan, Senbury, and W. McGarvey, Mount Chesney.

The Registrar's Court. The session of the police court this morning was short and only five minor cases being submitted to the magistrate for hearing.

Richard Harris, Allie Moore, Arthur Willis and Albert Monary were charged with trespass on Mrs. Stratford's property and were remanded for a week.

John Bush entered complaint against George Eccles for assault and using abusive language, but the charge was withdrawn.

Frightened By The Storm. When the storm opened on the city last night a horse ran away from the Lake View hotel yard and headed up Queen street. It was headed off by police constable Ballantyne, and on turning into King street fell, upsetting the buggy. The animal was caught by the constable and J. F. McDermott and returned to the Lake View hotel. The buggy was slightly damaged.

The football games in the city to-day are between the Nationals and Ganacans, Falmouths and Reggipolis colleges, Victorias and Limestone. The Ganacans played in Montreal and the R.M.C. team in Brockville this afternoon.

WANT THE PATENTS.

Seeking to Prevent The Disposal to Other Parties.

New York, Oct. 1.—James A. Simons and the International sanitary gas company of West Virginia have begun suit in the United States court against Louis G. Harris, of Toronto, to enforce a contract which they claim he refuses to carry out. Harris is the patentee of a method of making gas from garbage. It is alleged in the complaint that he agreed to sell to Simons, or to a company which he was to form, all the patents he had obtained, or might obtain, for the sum of $800,000. He was to receive $1,000 on the signing of the contract, and $5,000, $24,000, $25,000 and $200,000 in one, two, four, five and six months from that date, the balance to be paid within one year. It was further agreed that when the company was formed all of the capital stock was to be turned over to Harris as security, and he was to deposit it with the Manhattan trust company. In case of default of the payments Harris had the right to break the agreement. The company was formed, the agreement was signed April 27th, 1898, and since that time it is alleged Harris has been paid $10,000. When a tender of the stock was made he refused to accept it, claiming that the contract was void. The claimants ask that the court issue an order compelling him to carry out the terms of the contract and restrain him from disposing of patents.

CHINA'S EMPEROR DEAD.

Englishmen Are Assailed—London, Oct. 1.—A special despatch from Shanghai says that telegrams furnished by the local governor to a Chinese paper there, allege that the emperor of China committed suicide on September 21st, after signing the decree which placed the dowager empress at the head of affairs in China. This, it is added, is understood to mean that the emperor was assassinated.

All the English speaking secretaries and principal members of the Chinese foreign office, it is further announced, have been seized and banished.

Railway Arbitrators Selected. MONTREAL, Oct. 1.—Word was received at C.P.R. headquarters this morning that Edward S. Wazburn, president and general manager of the Kansas City, Fort Scott and Memphis railway, had been appointed the third arbitrator in the matter of the two per cent. differential on freight enjoyed by C.P.R. trans-continental business.

Wazburn was submitted to a board for settlement. The other arbitrators are J. W. Midgley, for the C.P.R., and W. A. Day for the American lines. There has been some delay in the selection of the third member of the board, which gave rise to many rumors, one of which was that the two gentlemen named could not agree on the subject. It was said Mr. Midgley wanted a railway man and Mr. Day, a lawyer. If there was any truth in such reports the result would tend to indicate that Mr. Midgley was successful in his contention.

Has Been Arrested. LONDON, Oct. 1.—Dr. Nancy Galford, the midwife of Bridgeport, Conn., who is wanted by the American police on the charge of having been connected with the death of Miss Emma Gill, the young woman whose body, cut into several pieces, was found some time ago in the Yellow Mill pond near Bridgeport, has been arrested.

Verdict Of "Not Guilty." LONDON, Oct. 1.—After being out nearly four hours the jury in the case of actor Emmeret, charged with the murder of manager Tattle, returned a verdict of "not guilty." Emmeret was thereupon discharged.

DRESS GOODS OF COURSE.

To say that we have done our best this year would only be a reiteration of similar statements every season. But this time our best means more than it has ever signified. Our scope is greater, the gulf that lay between your ideas and our ideals has been narrowed more and more, and in the lines of goods that we present this year is mirrored more taste, more beauty in color and weave, and more downright attraction than the pick of all the other years' styles. Quantity buying, too, has left its imprint on prices, an indelible mark that tells of an unequalled position in the world's markets.
