

THE DAILY BRITISH WHIG.

65TH YEAR. NO. 249.

KINGSTON, ONTARIO, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 25, 1898.

4 P.M. EDITION.

To Your Order

or ready to wear, as you prefer. You'll find "HARDY" Coats to your liking in every particular.

All the little things that go to make the perfect Coat are attended to here—Button-holes, Staying, Pockets, shape and set of Collar, Buttons and Tailor stitching.

We are our own severest critics. This business must not get into ruts.

Good Coats $5. $6.50
$7.50 $9. $10.

HARDY & CO.

123 Princess Street.

Sunny Side of Street.

FOUNDOUT

A good many ladies have found out that our Cloth Jackets, in addition to being up-to-date in style and finish, are decidedly lower in price and better value than those shown in Dry Goods stores. Our specimens being Fins and Mantles enables us to concentrate our energies on these two lines, so that, as a rule, we are able to offer a little better article for a little less money than our competitors. No uscoting prices until you see the goods, but we do say that our New Cloth Jackets at $4.00, $5. $6.25 and $7.50 are unsurpassed in texture, softness, materials or price.

GEO. MILLS & CO., Phone 238.

PICTURES

Such as you can see at

Kirkpatrick's Art Store,

Make beautiful presents.

Christmas Novelties arriving. Gallery always open to visitors.

159 PRINCESS STREET, DANCING AND DEPARTMENT

PROF. O. O. SHEETS, Whig Hall, Tuesdays and Fridays.

New Classes Forming.
Young Ladies' and Juvenile Class Day
Evening Class 7.30
Assembly 8.30

All the Latest Fancy and Society Dances
Brought
Private Lessons 20/-

SECOND HAND CLOTHING, FURNITURE, STOVES, ETC.

Drop in a postal card and I will pay the postage in cash. Second-Hand Goods.
I have a large stock of New and Second-Hand Goods, which I sell at very low figure.

I. ZACKS,

Brock Street 27, Princess Street, between Bay and George Streets.

W. J. Keeley, Jr., GRADUATE OPTICIAN.

Eye-drops, Constrictors, Soothing
Gentleman's Optical Establishment.
Office in connection with Keeley's
Jewelry store, Brock Street.

LOCAL MEMORANDA

The Daily Note Book For Whig Readers
To Post Themselves by.

Prof. Sheets dancing class, Whig hall, this evening.

"McSorley's Twins" at the opera house this evening.

"Frontenac" assembly in Whig hall Wednesday evening.

"Frontenac" assembly in the estate of the late Antonio R. Ford should be delivered to B. M. Britton on or before Wednesday.

Rabbi A. Lazarus, of Toronto, will lecture in the opera house on Tuesday, November 8th, under the auspices of the local Jewish congregation.

CRISIS DRAWING NEAR.

Anglo-French Tension Liable To Break.

BRITAIN MEANS BUSINESS.

TORPEDOES AND GUNBOATS ORDERED TO PREPARE.

ARMED PROTECTOR AND ARMED Factories
Working Day and Night—Another Blue Book Issued by the British Government—French Papers Say War Would Be Useless. British Cabinet and French Chambers Meet To-morrow.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—Today's afternoon newspapers discuss the report of the French ambassador, Baron De Courcel, on the subject of secession. He had with the marquis of Salisbury regarding the proposed French loan on the Nile as being the leading feature of the French yellow book. The conservative organ sent out by the marquis of Salisbury entertaining the ambassador of Baron De Ghezalzay to the French, and Gen. Paul Max Gaize to the Globe suggest that the English yellow book is the leading feature of the French yellow book. It is generally believed by London papers which are writing their stories on the subject of the Egyptian loan that the French yellow book is the leading feature of the French yellow book.

The liberal and radical papers are also of the opinion that the French yellow book is the leading feature of the French yellow book.

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

This is not true. The blue book received a copy of the French yellow book, which, according to the Times, has been issued to all the English-speaking countries.

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."

The Times says: "Lord Salisbury's version of the interview with Baron De Courcel is probably a dispatch to relieve the British mind."