

Startling Fatality of Croup

The terror of childhood is croup. It is the most fatal of all diseases among babies and young children. It usually begins with all the appearance of a common cold.

Shiloh's Consumption Cure is a sure cure for croup, as half a century of successful experience clearly shows. Mrs. J. B. Martin, of Huntsville, Ala., writes to the S. C. Wells Co., of Le Roy, N. Y., as follows:

"GENTLEMEN: I write this letter to tell you that a valuable medicine you have in your Shiloh's Cure. I think it is the greatest remedy ever discovered, and several of my friends to whom I have recommended it are as enthusiastic as I am."

Shiloh's Consumption Cure is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee that the purchase money will be refunded in case the medicine does not do everything that is claimed for it.

Mr. Calder was the peer of Mr. Dryden, and that he would be the commissioner of agriculture in the conservative cabinet. But those who have to do with the agricultural affairs of the province know how silly is this talk.

EDITORIAL VIEWS.

Croker is the name just now. By and by it will be Croker. The boss of Tammany hall has been consulting an oracle, and believes that his ticket will win in the state by a plurality of 22,814.

The verdict from South Ontario is crushing to conservative hopes. The party was so hopeful. It expected so much, and has got too much of defeat.

The government's position is getting stronger. With South Ontario redeemed, and Halton and Lennox now open, the majority will be nine. With North Waterloo added—and there is a great probability of it going liberal—the majority will be eleven.

The New York Sun has it that "with Mr. Croker's candidate for governor, Augustus Van Wyck, in the chair at Albany, and his mayor of New York city, Robert A. Van Wyck, in the chair in the city hall, Tammany hall would have absolute sway in the state."

The Mail and Empire on Tuesday announced that South Ontario was garrisoned with thugs and blacklegs. "But," it observed, "let decent men get out and vote, let honest, unpurchasable electors aim a blow for political morality, and the honour of the constituency will be saved."

Sir Wilfrid Laurier does not have time to correct all the misrepresentations of the conservative press, but he pauses, in his busy life, long enough to say that Mr. Sifton is not going to retire from the cabinet. "He is too good a man, and too efficient a minister of the interior to dispense with his services," says the premier.

YOUTH AND AGE.

An Old Man of Ninety-Five Weds a Girl of Twenty-One. Cincinnati Enquirer.

Upon arriving in the city he went at once to the house of his friend, S. K. Jones, at First street and Broadway. The old man told Mr. Jones he was looking for a wife, that he was well, had good health and, in fact, everything to make him happy but a companion. He finally asked Mr. Jones to find him a suitable companion with whom to spend the remainder of his life. Mr. Jones was, of course, considerably surprised, but promised his old friend he would do the best he could for him.

MR. DRYDEN'S ELECTION. The contest in South Ontario is over, and Hon. John Dryden has been elected by a good majority. Victory has been achieved, and it is the result of concentrated effort.

Was Badly Injured. LONDON, Nov. 2.—The British steamer Manchester City, which sailed from Shields on October 29th for Montreal, was disabled in Pentland Firth, north of Scotland, on Monday, her steering gear having broken down and rudder having been injured.

Accepted The Ground. JERUSALEM, Nov. 1.—Emperor William proceeded to Mount Zion this morning where occurred the ceremony of hoisting the German and Turkish flag on a piece of ground which, according to tradition, was formerly occupied by the stable of the Virgin Mary, and which the Sultan presented to the German emperor. The latter subsequently presented the ground to the German Catholics.

San Francisco, Nov. 2.—A telegram has been received from the agent of W. O. B. McDonough, owner of Oranmore, stating that the duke of Westminster's offer of $5,000 for that famous race horse has been declined.

THE AUTHOR OF QUO VADIS.

SIENKIEWICZ AND HIS EARLY STRUGGLES IN LIFE.

His First Work Was In Aethiopia—A True Son of Poland—His Visit to the Continent Again, Which May Cause His Ideas to Undergo Modifications.

Siemkiewicz is coming to America during the latter part of this month. He will be in Washington, where he will spend several weeks with friends. The immense popularity of "Quo Vadis" undoubtedly has had much to do with the prospect that he will visit the celebrated author, for the earlier impressions gathered by Mr. Siemkiewicz on his former visit to America, some twenty years or more ago, were not calculated to induce him to once more come to these shores.

Siemkiewicz first came to America as a young man. At that time, in the early seventies, he was imbued with high ideals. He thought that the present system of life is all wrong and founded upon false beliefs.

And then in the fall the crash came. It was just when the community was preparing to enter upon the winter that a trusted officer of the community, a man of high standing in the colony, disappeared. He was later heard from in Australia, but was never captured. The betrayal of the trust by this ungrateful man, who abandoned the savings of nearly a hundred people, had a devastating effect on the community in human nature that it was immediately abandoned.

It will be interesting to note his impressions of America, which he now revisits after a score of years. Like Dickens, no doubt, his ideas will undergo much modification, but that he will find much to commend in our age his socialist dream than he did in 1877 is doubtful.

Siemkiewicz is a passionate patriot, a true son of Poland, but his sympathies have been broadened by extensive travel, and he may now be ranked a cosmopolitan in the truest sense.

Not the least interesting feature of the visit of this country is that he will be accompanied by his daughter, Jadwiga, a beautiful and intelligent young woman, who is the companion of the novelist. Jadwiga is described as a pretty girl of sixteen, who inherits many of her father's qualities.

Cushendall, Nov. 1.—Sales occurred lately at Mrs. McKane's, next to the bank, of a large quantity of fine, that of the live stock being particularly good. The annual concert of our school, No. 9, is now a thing of the past. It was a success in every way, the attendance being large and the proceeds interesting.

HEART DISEASE.

SOME FACTS REGARDING THE RAPID INCREASE OF HEART TROUBLES.

Do Not Be Alarmed, But Look For the Cause.

Heart troubles, at least among Americans, are certainly increasing and while this may be largely due to the excitement and worry of American business life, it is also due to the result of weak stomachs, of poor digestion.

Real, organic heart disease is incurable, but not one case in a hundred of heart trouble is organic.

In another way, also, the heart is affected by that form of poor digestion, which causes gas and fermentation from half-digested food; there is a feeling of oppression and heaviness in the chest, and the pressure on the distended stomach on the heart and lungs, interfering with their action; hence arises palpitation and short breath.

The most sensible treatment for heart trouble is to improve the digestion and to insure the prompt assimilation of food.

It is safe to say that the regular use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, at meal time will cure any form of stomach trouble except cancer of the stomach.

THE CHRISTMAS SPIRIT.

We Can All Do Something To Make Others Happier.

In a short time Christmas will be here, bringing with it a spirit which touches more people and countries than any other festival. The season is observed by all the dominant races of Europe and America and at such time they are close together, drawn into sympathy by a common sentiment and inspired by the spirit of love, which breathes throughout the entire message of the world.

This means that we must get into the spirit of Christmas. What is the spirit of Christmas? Oh! simply the spirit of giving. Some of you will say, "I am always in the spirit, but alas! I lack the means to give." Oh! that is a mistake; every one can give, no one is so poor that she can do nothing, and we believe we can give much more than we think. I cannot help indulging myself, just for a moment, in thinking how happy all would be this month if they would just set themselves to thinking of making some gift to someone outside of the family as well as to someone in our families.

THE TIGER IS ON TOP.

Even the air is said to be heated across the line as the people have warmed up for the elections which take place presently. Upon the results of these elections depend the composition of the senate and house of representatives. They are both republican at present, and the desire of the dominant party is to keep them such, but change is expected.

New York, under Tammany rule—under the dictation of a large and unscrupulous organization—stands to carry Greater New York, and by such a majority as will overwhelm and swamp any possible minority which Roosevelt may secure in the state.

New York, under Tammany rule—under the dictation of a large and unscrupulous organization—stands to carry Greater New York, and by such a majority as will overwhelm and swamp any possible minority which Roosevelt may secure in the state. Apparently it is a desperate contest, a fight to a finish, and with the certainty that some party will be completely knocked out. The VanWyck who is the candidate of Tammany for governor, is a brother of the mayor of New York, and one cannot imagine him as a check upon the nefarious work of Tammany hall, and the power by which corruption in high places will be stopped.

Croker, the king of the tigers, is credited with the ambition to regulate the courts as he has regulated the saloons and other places which pay him tribute. He wants to do a way with the ballot, to run and possess and use the state electorate as one runs and uses a piece of furniture. Upon his success or failure depends a great deal more, politically, than some people imagine.

MR. DRYDEN'S ELECTION.

The contest in South Ontario is over, and Hon. John Dryden has been elected by a good majority. Victory has been achieved, and it is the result of concentrated effort.

A dead set was made upon the Commissioner of Agriculture by the opposition. Having been defeated once it was promised that the act could be repeated again, and great was the army of workers forced by the Tories into the campaign. The supporters of good government were equal to the emergency. They rallied to the side of Mr. Dryden, and nothing was omitted by them in order to secure an honourable and satisfactory result.

The return of Mr. Dryden to the house will be generally well received. The feeling of the conservatives, outside of those whom Mr. Whitney manipulated, was marked when a deputations of stockmen, dairymen, and farmers waited upon the premier and asked him to retain Mr. Dryden in the cabinet. There may be aspirations for the office which he holds, as good as he is, but they are not visible, and not known to the leaders in public life.

Mr. Whitney, in South Ontario, in a wild burst which is hard to understand, alleged that
