CLOUD GROWS DARKER.

War Liable to Come At Any Moment. A FINAL DANGER SIGNAL.

WOULD BE REINFORCEMENTS TO FRENCH COLONIES.

M. Salsky Grows Indignant - Demands the Immediate Organization of a Great Continental Army - Russia Says the Egyptian Question is a National One - To Convey Coal To Britain - Looking To the Cutting of the French Cable.

New York, Nov. 8.—Harry Newman cables from London to the Times: News of an important and significant military mobilization has been received here, but owing to a previous privately circulated report of the war office not to mention any matters connected with the army mobilization, probably no newspaper in London will publish it. Meanwhile preparations are proceeding unabated. Work was resumed at Lyonsport at midnight to night. Examples of scale of stores ordered: 2,000,000 pounds cocoa, 1,500,000 pounds biscuits, 16,000 gallons of rum. Even little grubstake like the Panther and the Blazer have been doctored for overhauling.

The rumor, not without probability, is in circulation to the effect that British authorities would regard any reinforcements dispatched to the French colonies as a final danger signal, comparable to the one which is reported from Dover that the French northern squadron is about to leave Brest for a cruise.

Paris, Nov. 8.—Paris on the Bourse today was weak throughout the day owing to the continued mobilization of the British forces. Spanish funds improved. This was due to more favorable rates of exchange.

Paris, Nov. 8.—Foreign minister Delcasse is to lay the Fashoda question before the chamber of deputies. The early part of this week, and in the interim of the numerous phases of the subject are the chief topics of discussion here as will doubtless be the case for some days to come. Meanwhile the press, in its treatment of the matter, carries the prevailing tone that England has quite unnecessarily wounded French susceptibilities.

Gaulois regards the withdrawal of Marchand as a humiliation, a cruel wounding of French pride, yet it believes this now more than ever France is in a position to demand an opening for her Central African colonies in the direction of the Nile. It declares that France should not sink her show spite over her discomfiture, having everything to lose and nothing to gain by such a course, and it reminds the public that Marchand's retreat does not end the complications, inasmuch as the policy of the Dapuy cabinet is identical with that of the Bismarck government. Negotiations must follow the regulation of the territorial question.

M. Salsky, foreign editor of Le Journal, held that whether Marchand be at Fashoda, at Cairo or wherever he be, the whole Egyptian question remains open, but he draws a lesson from the events of the last fortnight: "For the last twenty-seven years we have been preparing to meet an enemy who should attack us on the land side. Despite the warnings of certain publicists, neither parliament nor the country would admit the possibility of a maritime war with England. That there is such a possibility no one doubts today."

So M. Salsky regards the strengthening of the coast defence of the navy, for he says: "On the condition of our marine depend our colonial power and the success of our diplomacy."

Referring to the desire of the British naval officers for war M. Salsky continues: "The exports of the American feds have filled them with ardor and with hope. They now have a noble ambition to sink a lot of ships, to burn many cities and to bottle up some squadrons on their own behalf. M. Salsky's forecast of the general situation is equally pessimistic. He fears that England will force France to yield still other points, and he demands the immediate organization of a great colonial army."

St. Petersburg, Nov. 8.—The St. Petersburg newspapers show great irritation at England over the settlement of the Fashoda affair, and agree in declaring that her coming will arouse the powers interested in the free navigation of the Nile canal to commercial discussion of the best mode of preventing the final establishment of England in Egypt.

The Novosti says that since the Egyptian question is purely of an international character it must be solved by a congress of the powers, which can proclaim the perpetual neutrality of Egypt under the protectorate of all the powers.

THE PONTON CASE.

The Crown Has Not, It is Said, Obtained Any Fresh Evidence. BELLEVILLE, Nov. 8.—It is announced that the crown has failed in the attempt to secure any further evidence against W. H. Ponton in the Naponee bank robbery case, and when the papers open will have something further to advance than the evidence of Pare, supported by the evidence of certain parties who saw Pare, Holden and Mackie in the vicinity of Naponee, about the time of the robbery.

Detectives have been in and out of Belleville all summer enquiring with the local chief of police, but securing nothing new. Detective Greer also spent some time in Madoc, but it is said with no satisfactory success.

The search for Jack R. Ach has been actively prosecuted, but in vain. Several parties bearing that name have been traced up but in each case it proved to be an other man. Some of Ponton's friends here say that the case will never go to the jury, that the judge will promptly throw out the charge against him. It is even thought that he may not be arraigned having been conditionally simply upon his appearing if called on.

New York, Nov. 8.—The steamer Sara Dora from Nassau brought to this city Capt. George C. Benner and five men of the crew of the schooner Jennie F. Willey, stranded on October 23rd at Walker's Cay while bound from Jamaica to Martinique. The schooner was exploded and disintegrated on October 14th but righted itself after the masts went to the board. It drifted helplessly until October 25th, the crew staying on the quarter deck, which alone was above water. The men subsisted on small sharks and what ran water they could catch. They remained stranded on the rocks about four miles from Walker's Cay, Bahamas, from October 25th to 26th, when they were taken to Nassau in a ball net and nearly starved to death. They were rescued by the American consul and well cared for.

IN KINDEST MEMORY.

The Regrettable Death of Mrs. Bower Williams - She Was Very Popular. ISLINGTON, Nov. 8.—On Sunday the people were deeply saddened upon receiving the intelligence of the death on that morning of Mrs. Bower Williams, of Bedford Mills, formerly Miss Maud Sears, eldest daughter of John Sears, of this place. Last Christmas day she was united in marriage, at the home of her father, by Rev. C. J. Curtis, to Bower Williams, a prosperous business man, who to day mourns the departure of a kind and loving wife. She leaves an infant son three weeks old. Everything was undertaken to save her life. Three doctors were in constant attendance, besides one of the best trained nurses in Brockville. Deceased was widely known, having attended Sydneyham high school, Kingston model school and taught in schools in the vicinity, in all of which she was exceedingly popular.

Being of a genial and loving disposition she gained many warm friends wherever she went, all of whom sincerely mourn her early demise. Having implicit faith in her Heavenly Father, she rested in the arms of his merciful arms. She was a constant attendant at church services, and was a member of the Epworth League. She was a devoted mother and a kind and loving wife. A short service was held at Bedford Mills, after which the remains, followed by a large cortege of friends, were conveyed to Laverly, where a very impressive service was conducted by Rev. Wood, assisted by Rev. Hughes, Perth Road. The choir of which she was at one time a valued member was in full attendance. The pall bearers were: H. G. Talbot, George Claxton, Fred Holmes, William Wood, William Duff and Frank Loney, all of whom were her schoolmates. The remains were placed in Sand Hill vault. The sincere sympathy of this entire neighborhood is felt for the bereaved family whose sorrow is indeed deep but who "sorrow not as those without hope."
