Guy Fawkes' Day Celebration At Stella. One of the events always looked forward to with pleasure by the amusement loving young people of the picture-que Amheret teland is the annual ball of 'Prentice Boys lodge No. 2, in commemoration of the frus tration of the gunpowder plot. This year it was held on the eve of the 4th of No vember, and was fully up to the high standard achieved in former years. The fine Victoria hall, which would do credit W. A. MITCHRLL to any town, was used for dancing. About one hundred young people were present, many coming from Picton, Conway, Kingston medical college and other places. Prof. James' orchestra was the platform, and did the entire satisfaction of all. The ladies vied with each other in dress, and as they gracefully moved through the movements of the dance presented a pleasing appearance. good supper was served at twelve o'clock and ample justice was done to it. At three o'clock the programme of dances, which contained all the latest, was finish ed and a happy gathering dispersed, every one expressing their pleasure and satisfaction at having been present.

rainy days produced a remarkable experience in the annals of Kingston public halls It is true Coonbown's is not the richest style of entertainment for a university city to boast of, but it was a clean performance and quite agreeable to even the lady portion of the audience. Upon twenty four hours' notice Cole and Johnston's troupe of colored minstrels gave a matinee performance in the opera house yesterday af cinoon. The chairs were at a premium ling before the advertised hour of performance, and the ladies who came late were glad to find a sitting on the pine boards in the gallery of the gods. Such an audience might be expected to make the success of the evening performance doubtful financially, but to the surprise of late comers they could not procure to ve, and at least ridor for three bours with remarkable patienes. The performance gave excellent satisfaction. B.: Cole, as a tramp, was voted a great comedian, while Bill John ston in his way stored excellent talent. The black tenor, L'oud Gibbs, was much atmired and tuted recall ed, while Tom Brown, in las versatile representations brought down the house. The troupe felt encouraged to an nounce another performance this morning at ton o'clock and in spite of the rain or chestra and parquette cherrs were all occu pied. This is said to be the first morning matinee given in Canada with any a nount of necess.
