

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

CURE NOVEMBER ILLS.

GENERAL DEBILITY CURED. RHEUMATISM CURED. CURED OF SCIATICA. GAINED TWENTY-THREE POUNDS.

Mr. M. Carroll, of Roland, Man., writes: "While living at Sidney, Man. I wrote you informing you that your Dr. Williams' Pink Pills had cured me of rheumatism of twenty-five years' standing, after many other medicines had failed. I am pleased to again write you and say that the cure has been permanent, as after a lapse of several years there has been no return of the trouble. I sincerely hope my experience will be the means of helping some other poor sufferer."

Mr. C. Thornon, Bluevale, Ont., says: "About seven years ago I rented my farm, and moved into this village, where I have since carried on business as a pump-maker. In the fall of 1895 I was attacked with sciatica, and for more than a month suffered intensely. I took medical treatment but it did not help. Then a druggist advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills; under this treatment the sciatica was banished, and I have not since felt any return of it."

Mr. Arthur Piper, Dixville, Que., says: "Last autumn I became very weak, my whole constitution seemed to be undermined, and I lost flesh rapidly. I had no appetite, the least exertion tired me, and the words 'felt miserable' will best describe my feelings. Having read so much concerning Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I determined to try them, and the results were most beneficial. Astonishing as it may seem, I gained twenty-three pounds in three weeks, and I am now feeling as well as ever I did in my life. To those who feel as I did, I would say that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will speedily cure them."

WASTING AWAY. Mrs. J. N. Gordon, Catarqui, Ont., says: "If I could not have got Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I believe I would not now be living. I was wasted away to a shadow, and my hands were literally transparent. I had a hacking cough, could not sleep, and could scarcely eat. Doctors having failed to help me, I determined to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and was soon gratified to find that they were helping me. I continued their use for several months, and am thankful to say that they have fully restored my health. I consider Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a blessing to humanity."

will prepare you if you are not ill yet; and will cure you if you are beginning to feel the effects of November ills. But you must get the genuine—substitutes are worse than useless—much worse.

If your dealer has not got them send direct to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., and they will be mailed post paid at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50.

CROAKS ABOUT CROKER.

TAMMANY CHIEF BY ONE WHO KNOWS HIM.

Though a Protestant Foreigner, he is a devout Catholic—a Politician and yet a Gentleman—a short sketch of the Great Political Strategist—His Faults Remembered Against Him, But His Good Deeds Unnoticed.

There is no name so well-known in the politics of the United States as that of William M. Croker. By his constant and unflinching friends, the Tammany democracy, it is a name revered and respected, and an inspiration in every political fight. But by his enemies, it is a name hated and cursed, and every little thing that is done in the name of Croker is looked upon as a crime.

There is no doubt but what Richard Croker is the greatest political strategist and leader in the United States, and scarcely has a superior, if an equal, in the entire world. He is in politics what Wellington and Napoleon were in military tactics, or Nelson and Blake in naval manoeuvres.

Croker is of Protestant Irish stock and was born in Ireland and brought by his parents to the United States when quite young. His parents were poor and the position of the great Tammany leader holds to-day is one that he has reached through his marvelous energy and his wonderful perseverance.

He is short of stature, with a large head well set on a broad pair of shoulders. He wears a closely cropped beard and has a distinct individuality that would enable an ordinary observer to pick him out of a large crowd of men as a man of more than ordinary abilities.

Croker is always approachable. This is a part of the secret of his power. His subordinates can always see him and speak to him, and get their orders from his own lips. There are no stilted forms, no ceremonious bows, no long and tedious addresses, and no long and tedious addresses to his immediate presence.

He has a passionate fondness for pets and animals, and this fondness manifests itself in keeping four horses. He is fond of society and has a strong social side to his nature, and this more than a propensity for betting or gambling is responsible for his appearance on the horse track. Croker is a strict business man, and he knows how and where and when to put out his money to best advantage.

He is a kind and generous gentleman, and he has a strong sense of justice. He is a man of high character, and he has a strong sense of duty. He is a man of high character, and he has a strong sense of duty.

He is a man of high character, and he has a strong sense of duty. He is a man of high character, and he has a strong sense of duty. He is a man of high character, and he has a strong sense of duty.

Touched by a loving hand, wakened by kind words, chords that were broken will vibrate once more. Frequent references are made to Croker's wealth, and often his political enemies and covetous foes ask, "where did he get his money from?" I do not know that this concerns any but the man himself. He was a poor and now he is rich, and his marvelous perseverance is worthy of imitation and the manner in which he has climbed the ladder until he has reached almost the top rung in business, shows what energy and determination it takes to be an inspiration to many young men.

Possibly in early life Croker made many mistakes and committed wrongs for which he has atoned long ago. Supposing he had been a criminal, what if he had done wrong! Must he continue? If once in the gutter must he ever be there or must he assert his better nature and struggle to his feet and stand on a higher estate than a nobler man? Many a man has been sent clean to the devil because he once made a mistake and that mistake was ever after pushed in his way and used to block every avenue to a better life, crushed and disappointed, everywhere men have gone down to hell.

Richard Croker may have his faults and failings, who has not? But he has his good points and a better nature which in every emergency would change public opinion.—J. C. EVANS.

Baroness Hirsch's Work. A Baroness Hirsch, who has been lying in a serious illness at the Hotel de Beaugard, with pleurisy and complications, is one of the greatest benefactresses of the age. Her latest benefaction, says the Empire, is the founding and endowment of an entirely new convalescent home for the aged in London. The need of such a home has long been apparent. There is already one Jewish convalescent home in London, and another at Brighton, but the London home is quite inadequate to the task imposed upon it.

Foot And Ankle. From the New York Tribune. "Tennyson's poems are astonishing at the interpretation put in his poems by the illustrators. In 'The Lady of Shalott,' for instance, the hair of the heroine is never mentioned. Holman Hunt, however, represents her with long masses of crimped hair spreading over her like a veil. 'My dear Hunt,' said Tennyson, when he first saw this illustration, 'I never said that the young woman's hair was flying all over the shop.' 'No,' she answered, 'but you never said it wasn't,' and after a time the poet came to be wholly reconciled to the design. He never quite forgave the same artist, however, for giving King Cophetua a long flight of hair to descend to meet the beggar maid. 'I never said,' he complained, 'that there were a lot of steps; I meant only one or two.' 'Well,' retorted Hunt, 'the flight of steps doesn't contradict your own sentimentalist and wind-crowded king's step down.' But Tennyson was not to be appeased, and kept on declaring that he meant only two steps at the outside.

New Zealand's Experiment. The vote of the house of representatives in New Zealand granting an old-age pension is variously received in England, but on the whole more favorably than could be expected. New Zealand is a small island, with a population of about 1,000,000, and a pension of 10s. (10s.) is granted, making a maximum income of £1.00 per week. The pension is granted to all persons over 65 years of age, and is paid in weekly instalments of 10s. (10s.) per week, and is paid in weekly instalments of 10s. (10s.) per week, and is paid in weekly instalments of 10s. (10s.) per week.

The Danger of Home-Fade. Ottawa Tribune. The Canada thistle originated by the desire of a Scotchman to see his native flower flourish in a Canadian garden; it was good in its way, but a poor investment. The English sparrow was introduced as a great blessing to this country by a government official who thought Canada needed a bird to sing a bright thought, but a dealer dealing in our native songsters. Somebody at Aberdeen introduced a species of south American centipede as a curiosity, and this poisonous creature now overruns a factory in that city, an easily introduced business, but a very serious one.

Government Not Demanded. Ottawa Tribune. A Canadian mint seems to be the next order. The initial cost would doubtless be heavy, but the advocates of the scheme contend with reason that the annual miners' "clean up" is now of sufficient importance to justify the expenditure by the government. As things are now the country suffers a direct and ever increasing loss from the fact that the gold and silver mined in the States mints. Then there is the advertisement of the country to be considered. The issue of gold coins of the value of five and ten dollars, and of silver coins of the value of one dollar, would compare favorably with the purposes assigned to the mint of the United States.

Woman of the Age. Counsel—What is your age, madam? Witness—Forty-seven, sir. Counsel—Married or single? Witness—Single. I regret had an offer of marriage in my hand and it is of my own right to the court I don't mind saying that I have worn false hair for nearly thirty years. Counsel—How? That is all, madam. There is no use trying to shake the direct testimony of so truthful a woman.

There have been no divorces in the province of Quebec in the past three years. The town of Stratford, Ont., has abolished the word "straw."

GENERAL DEBILITY CURED.

From the Advertiser, Heriland, N.B. Ralph Giberson, postmaster of Monquart, Carleton county, N.B., is also known as a prosperous agriculturist and enthusiast in his line. Now stalwart and rugged, weighing 250 pounds, he scarce would be recognized as the man who six months ago was the picture of one suffering the terrible symptoms of general debility. He was run down in health, suffered much from dizziness, almost blindness, general debility and depression of spirits. He had a poor appetite, and such food as he ate gave him great distress. He was incapacitated for the work that fell upon him, and was well nigh utterly discouraged. The symptoms bordered on those by which hypochondria is manifested. Through reading the Advertiser he learned of the particular benefits that several of his friends in this vicinity had received by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and by the hope held out by their testimonies he promptly ordered and took them according to directions. The results were almost magical; soon his symptoms became less disagreeable, and he steadily gained until now he is perfectly free from his old troubles. He gladly and freely gives this testimonial that all who read it may know the remedy if ever they are troubled with general debility.

WEAK AND RUN DOWN.

Among many in Ottawa and the vicinity who have benefited one way or another by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, the Journal has learned of the case of Mrs. Gilbert, wife of V. Gilbert, of Hintonburg, Ont. She never resides in England, but is well known to a great many people in Ottawa as well as to the villagers of this suburb of the capital. Mrs. Gilbert states that while in a "run down" condition during the spring of 1897, she was greatly strengthened and built up by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Speaking of the matter to a Journal reporter, she stated that while able to go about as the time, she was far from well; her blood was poor, she was subject to headaches, and felt tired after the slightest exertion. She had read at different times of cures effected by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and decided to try them. She was benefited by the first box, and continued their use until she had taken five boxes, when she considered herself recovered. Mrs. Gilbert says that she always strongly recommends Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a builder and strengthener when any of her friends are weak or ailing.

SENTIMENT AND SPITE.

Never a Race So Heavily Deserving of Killing as the Devils. National Review. The battle of Adbara was a severe engagement. On that occasion the Anglo-Egyptian force was 15,000, and there were 345 casualties. It was, of course, to be expected that on these figures the sentimentalist would look in with his pious exclamation of "battue!" There was, however, no alternative but to kill just as many devils as choose to fight us, and there was no alternative but to kill just as many devils as choose to fight us, and there was no alternative but to kill just as many devils as choose to fight us.

A BIT OF WEDDING CAKE.

How the Wily Girl Proved That Charms Worked Well. "But what shall I do with this?" he asked helplessly. She looked up at him and laughed as he stood dangling a square white box by its satin ribbon. "There's a certain innuity in treating another fellow's wedding cake. Won't you take it as a gift?" "Thank you," she answered, "I have a sufficient; besides, the charm is broken if you give it away."

TEN YEARS CATARRH IN THE HEAD.

Stratford Citizen Cured Completely With Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder. Prominent (Layman of the Episcopal Church, Methodist, Presbyterian, Baptist and Roman Catholic Churches Has Commanded The Remedy. Facts and Experience with Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder. Henry W. Francis, an employe of the Great Northern Telegraph Co., Stratford, Ont., says: "I was greatly troubled with a ten years' head catarrh. I tried every known remedy but little or no benefit was obtained from any. I saw Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder advertised and saw a sample bottle, which gave me immediate relief and after using a few bottles I was completely cured. This remedy has been used by Bishop Seaman, of the Episcopal Church, and prominent ministers of every denomination, who, over their own signatures, bear testimony to its effectiveness. Sold by W. H. Medley.

MAKING A MIRROR.

Sheets of Pure Silver Used Instead of Mercury, as Formerly. The Washington Star. "How is a looking glass made?" was the question recently put to a large manufacturer of mirrors in New York. "Well," replied the manufacturer, "most of the glass used in this trade is prepared for us at a molding factory, and we merely cut it, level and silver it in our works. All the facets are cut in the same way: first with sand and water, and then on an emery wheel, and afterward put through several processes to bring back the polish."

TEARING THEIR FLESH.

Portraits of Unhappy "Miss Agnew's" Have a "Sovereign Remedy" in Dr. Agnew's Ointment. Irritant diseases of the skin, such as eczema, salt rheum, scald head, ringworm, scabies, skin blotches, etc., are instantly relieved by an application of Dr. Agnew's Ointment. CANADIAN ORDER OF FORESTERS.

Twenty years ago there was some excuse for those who left their family unprotected, to-day there is absolutely none. The only question is safety, and in this the Canadian Order of Foresters easily leads. It has a larger Surplus per head, and still larger for each $1,000 of risk carried, and could divide up and pay back, if so desired, more money per member than any other Society of the kind in Canada. Surplus per member, $21.85; per $1,000.00 of Insurance, $30.06.
