MADRID, Nov. 22.—In an interview yesterday prime minister Sagasta said that the United States had undoubtedly taken the Philippine islands, Spain being unable to contend further against the American demand.

Senor Sagasta declared that Spain would certainly not pay the Cuban debt, such liability falling upon whoever takes the sovereignty of the islands.

The cabinet met last evening and discussed a dispatch from senor Montero Rios reporting the proceedings at yesterday's session of the peace commission and intimating that the commission would reassemble on Wednesday.

PARIS, Nov. 22.—The report circulated in the United States and Canada that the Spanish peace commission had, after the presentation of American ultimatum refused to further continue negotiations was unfounded.

Senor Montero Rios allowed his feelings to master him when, after the adjournment, he indulged in language which would easily lead unprejudiced hearers to believe that an agreement on a treaty of peace was impossible.

Dr. Von Meusel, Prussian minister of finance, instead of prince Hohenzollern, the chancellor, presided over the cabinet held yesterday. The fact that prince Hohenzollern is in the best of health and can be seen any day walking the streets, gives some color to the rumor of a chancellor crisis.

MRS. TRUMAN'S JOKE

That She Is McWherrell's Wife Does Not Catch Many People.

HAMILTON, Nov. 22.—Chief of police Smith takes no stock in the story published regarding Mrs. G. M. Truman, who claims to be the wife of Walter McWherrell, serving a life sentence in Kingston penitentiary. Mrs. Truman is well known to the police and frequently romances. Inspector Stark says the woman came to Canada about twenty years ago, and the general impression she left with everybody was that she was an illegitimate child of lord Kinnaird. After she arrived here remittances were sent regularly. The amount gradually decreased, until the remittances dropped off altogether. Then the woman went from bad to worse.

Asked his opinion as to her being the wife of McWherrell, he replied: "Oh, he may have met her around town, but further than that I don't believe the story."

Goderich Items. GODERICH, Nov. 21.—Well the Moores' elevator is finished and well it looks with its sheeting of corrugated iron. To the citizens going down lakeward, it looks as if a pretty large building adorned the park, the elevator being so high, and to the marine fleet it looks like a large summer boarding house, especially under the electric lights. All connected with the building are awarded the highest praise. The Squin brought in the first cargo to be unloaded at the elevator, and Capt. Lewis was presented by the managers with a handsome hat. A great number of photos of the elevator and surroundings have been sent to Kingston by the elevator staff, and beautiful the views are. Brody has taken views of every phase the elevator presented from start to finish.

The Roedeale made her second trip late Saturday night. Capt. Crangle is her owner, or part owner. She hailed from Fort William. On her first trip she carried 50,000 bushels of wheat, and it was feared she could not enter our port, and if not she would have gone on to your port of Kingston. But she came in quite nautically, without a hitch. The Roedeale left at 8 a. m. on Sunday for Fort William.

Was Violently Ill-Treated. PETERBORO, Ont., Nov. 22.—The adjourned inquest into the cause of death of Stella Muncheson, adopted daughter of Mrs. William Facey, which took place in Monaghan a week or so ago under peculiar circumstances, was resumed yesterday afternoon before coroner Bell. Several witnesses were examined. The evidence showed that the child had been ill treated by Mrs. Facey, and that the latter had been heard to say that she would get rid of the child even if she had to do away with it. After four hours of discussion this verdict was brought in: "That the said Stella Muncheson came to her death on the 9th day of November from a blow upon the head, but whether said blow was accidental or the result of unfair violence, is not clearly shown. It is jury's duty, however, of the opinion that for several weeks prior to her death she suffered a considerable amount of ill-treatment of a violent nature at the hands of her guardian, Mrs. William Facey."

Can Crowd It They Want To. TORONTO, Nov. 22.—Justice Robertson this morning dismissed the motion of E. A. MacDonald for the issue of an injunction to prevent the street railway company from over crowding its cars. The motion was dismissed by consent, so far as the plaintiff was concerned, he having asked for the dismissal a few days ago, when, however, the street railway company took exception to his request and asked that the case go to trial. In spite of this the motion was to-day dismissed.

An Important Event. LONDON, Nov. 22.—The Rome correspondent of the Daily News says the conclusion of the Franco-Italian treaty came as a thunder-clap.
