"Is there any probability that the price of bread will go up in consequence of the late advances in the price of wheat and flour!" was the question put to R. H. Toye, Kingston's most prominent baker, McRae Bros. by a WHIG reporter this forenoon.

And The Fenwick Estate Was Not

The George Fenwick estate was offered for sale at public auction yesterday afternoon by J. H. Mills. The bidding was brisk, but the advances were small, and the reserve price was not reached in the case of any of the lots comprising the estate. The homestead on Johnston street went up to $3,000; the Ellice street building lot reached $280, and the highest figure offered for the dwelling house on Main street was $1,200. As none of these offers equalled the reserve bid, the estate was withdrawn from sale.

The executors have not yet decided what action they will take with regard to further endeavors to dispose of the estate.

Well Spoken On Divorce.

Bystander in Sur. A story came to us the other day from the United States of the marriage of a woman with her fifth husband, four having been divorced, and it was said that two of riage. The story, though startling, is not incredible. It is beginning to be thought that when a woman is tired of her husband, and wants to change him for another, it is ungenerous on his part not to help her by a collusive divorce to the fulfilment of her wish. These people denounce the Mormons, though the only difference is that between simultaneous and successive polygamy. A similar state of things prevailed under the reign of domestic corruption which attended the fall of the Roman empire. A Roman satirist then said of woman who had been rapidly passing through a series of nuptial beds, that she was but a legalized adulteress, and that a simple harlot would effeud him less. I women in the United States or eleewhere assert their right of changing husbands at pleasure, men will some day be asserting their right to corresponding license on their side. Marriage is a restraint laid by the majority on the passions of the strong

THE NEW GOLD FIELD.

Another large party will leave on the next north shore steamer on Monday for the New Eldorado. A numexpect to charter a yacht and depart at the earliest possible moment. Over 200 people are on the ground. Prof. Alex. McKenzie arrived down from the gold fields last evening but immediately left for Montreal. Mr. McKenzie is the Canadian geological expert who investigated the McKay-Dickinson property for Montreal capitalists. He says the find is extremely valuable, and that during his many experiences in mining, he never encountered better gold prospects. He believes the largest district in Canada will be developed there. The deposit is not insolated; a vast body of auriferous ore extends over a large territory there. In character the gold is what is known as coarse, and is easily extracted from the quartz. While the first find is valuable Mr. McKenzie is of the opinion that the richest discoveries are yet to be made. Going over five hundred acres of the Mackey location paying quartz was found in at least forty places.

TWO SETS OF TEACHERS. Police Attend the Opening of the Public Schools at Spring Valley.

SPRING VALLEY, Ill., Sept. 3 .- The echools of this city opened under police protection in anticipation over the two sets of teachers hired by different factions of the board of education. Early this morning the citizens were astir over the complicated school situation. One wing of the board of education, composed of Messrs. Baxter, Williams, Noe and Hercer, the latter acting as clerk, gave contracts to a set of teachers. The other, composed of Messrs. Haney, Keegan and Franckey, with J. J. Sweeney acting as secretary, gave contracts to another set of teachers, and seerted that they were a legal quorum of the board, as Mr. Noe's seat had been declared vacant on account of his removal to Putnam county four months ago. Both sets of teachers were on hand shortly after eight o'clock. Acting under orders from mayor Nelson, the police stood at the gates and refused entrance to all except members, the board, the teachers, and the pupils, even barring reporters. By nine o'clock, when the school bell rang, 1,000 persons lined the fences of the high school yard. W. F. Jones, of Hennepin, had been hired on Monday night as superintendent of schools and signed a contract to teach for ten months at a salary of $100 per month. Yesterday he weakened and R. S. Johnson, who had been hired as principal for a new school by the Keegan faction, was selected as superintendent. With two sets of teachers there was considerable clashing of authority. In some rooms the pupils received different lessons and conflicting orders. In other rooms the time was divided equally and there was harmony.
