It is a great deal of a luxury to be an islander on the St. Lawrence. You can be one for a few hundred dollars, but you cannot be much of a one short of a $50,000 investment. The island is only a beginning: then it has to be walled and docks made, and beautiful stone work lined up the walks, and a palace put in the centre of the island. Then earth has to be brought from everywhere and beautiful lawns and terraces made and flowers planted and arbors and cosy nooks created. An ornamental boat house has to be built to hold row boats and sailing yachts and naphtha launches and big steam yachts, which are the livery of the establishment. Having done all this and filled your house with guests, you can settle down and be respectable islander.
