Oushendall Notes.

CUSHENDALL, Oct. 11.-Now that the heavy fall work is through more time is left for marketing; consequently consider-able quantities of produce find their way to the city, on Saturdays especially. Several attended Inverary fair last week, and report a large crowd with the customary attractions. A lecture by Rev. Mr. Henderson, formerly on the Methodist circuit, will occur at Pine Grove on Wednesday next. The Battersea brass band and others will assist. Rev. A. B. Johnston lately attended entertainments at Stella. Mrs. Johnston is visiting in Westmeath vicinity. Mr. and Mrs. W. Toner and daughter, of Gananoque, visited here lately. The customary prayer meetings occurred throughout the week. Don't fail to attend a firstclass concert to be held in school house section No. 9, on Friday evening.

Gave Him Smoking Tobacco.

YARKER, Oct. 12 .- We learn from reliable authority that Mrs. James Warner, Yarker, will receive soon from Ireland a nice sum of money left her by relatives. D. Hill, Napanee Mills, is with us again, after being away a few years. B. S. O'Loughlin is having the stone secured here for the steps for the English church, Camden East. Mr. Kenny assumes control of the Commercial hotel here next

Rev. L. A. Sagar will sell his household effects at auction. He leaves for Bradford Pennsylvania. C. Phillips has had his house nicely painted. Stephen Hinds and family, Michigan, are at W. Cumminge' Mrs. Hinds is a sister of Mrs. Cummings and has not met her for upwards of sixteen years. A number of Frank Atkins friends surprised him one night last week. A pleasant time was spent, and before they left they rang "Auld Lang Syne" and "Home, Sweet Home," and as they passed out the boys each threw Frank a plug of smoking tobacco. Frank leaves in a few days for South Africa.

Donaldson's Mills Jottings.

DONALDSON'S MILLS, Oct. 11 .- G. Innis lost a valuable horse last week. The fire raging in this vicinity has done much damago. Rev. E. Turkington, who has so earnestly labored among us, takes his departure on Wednesday. D. Steele, living at Snow Road, has moved here. The logging-bee at W. J. Donaldson's was well attended; quite a lot of land cleared. Some of our young men went out coon hunting, but were so unsuccessful as to only bring home a severe cold.

A number took in the husking bee at L Morrow's Thursday night, also the husking-bee and party as A. Raspberry's was well attended, lasting until early Friday morning. Mr. and Mrs. A. Campbell returns home to-day after visiting their daughter, Mrs. Ryder. Our choese factory is closed now to three trips per week. S. Donaldson has returned after his short stay at Clyde Forks. W. J. Donaldson has purchased a trotter from J. Allen. Visitors : Mr. and Mrs. T. Hogan and family, Smith's Falls, at A. Raspberry's; Mr. and Mrs. W. Duncan at J. Jones': Misses Maria and Ida Dixon at home; H. Mc-Kinnon at W. J. Donaldson's.

Ardoch Events,

ARDOCH, Oct. 7 .-- Charles Smith is ranning his threshing machine in this neighborhood, assisted by George Young. John Robinson has purchased the farm of his father-in-law, Mr. Haskell, who has started to build a house nearer the blacksmith shop, which he has rented, to engage in the business. The thanksgiving service held in the English church was well attended; the fruit and floral decorations, artistically arranged by the Misses Smith and Watkins, were much admired. Rov. E. M. Rowland had a successful chopping bee on Wednesday, as which the young men belonging to the English church assisted. Invitations are out for a logging bee for Bramwell Watkins, ar. next Wednesday. Our school teacher, Miss Davy, has taken up residence for the time being at Mr. Dulmage's. A little girl at Pierre Watkins'. Mrs. Arthur Johnson's daughter, from Manitoba, Cost over $100,000 to publish. Nearly 200 full-page engravings from the world's great paint-is at Mrs. George Hamilton's. The gold is at Mrs. George Hamilton's. The gold mine being werked by Toronto experts is panning out beyond expectations, as is also the silver mine on Ira Border's farm. With prospectors passing through and huntemen with rifle on shoulder, inhabiting the woods, this is becoming a very interesting settlement.

GANANOQUE NEWS.

The Great Gale Prevailing-Ice House Destroyed By Fire.

GANANOQUE, Oct. 11.-The local lodge of A.O.U.W., to the number of upwards of one hundred, attended the Presbyterian church yesterday when the Rev. H. Gracey, the pastor, delivered a powerful and impressive sermon to them. The great gale prevailing to-day is lashing the river into a foam and the few late campers are having a rough time of it. R. C. Gillett is away on a hunting expedition.

A tire occurred yesterday about ha! past one calling out the fire brigade and citizens generally. It proved to be the fine large ice house belonging to W. S Macdonald, situated on the bank of the river in the rear of his property. The cause of the fire is a mystery. As it was totally in flames when the firemen reached there and no buildings in danger it was not deemed necessary to lay the hese from the hydrant a few yards away. As usual it caused as much excitement for a time as if it was of a more serious character.

Deputy-sheriff Smart was in town to-day on business. Joseph McLean, recently of Lyn, is opening out a grocery store on Charles street, next to Hugh Wilson's carriage emporium. Wild ducks are said to be plentiful this fell, several lots of game having been bagged by local sports. The rifle ranges are being well patronized lately by the members of the rifle association No doubt we will hear of some crack shoot ing during their annual matches, which are to take place shortly.

The Deer That Furnish Venison For the London Markets.

The two kinds which reach London, red deer and fallow, are in season at different times and probably need some difference of treatment in preparing for the table. The season for red deer venison opens in the beginning of July, is at its best in August and the first fortnight of September and closes or sught to close when the stags begin roaring at the end of that month. Fallow bucks come into season in June, when the does are giving birth to their fawns, but the winter fallow venison is the fattest and best, bucks and does being both in season. Most of the red deer venison which finds its way to London is Scotch-wild venison, shot in the forests. There is great difference in quality in this highland venison. To be good venison needs to be fat, and unlike most game the "artificially fed" deer, or, rather, the deer that enjoys the feed of a good English park, is better for the table than when picking up a hard living on a Scotch mountain, but there are varieties of Scotch deer. Those on forests with plenty of low ground attached grow fat and heavy, and the meat is as good as that of an English park fed stag. The only thoroughly bad British red deer venison is that of stags shot too late in the season, when they are

At the end of October and beginning of November the fiesh deteriorates rapidly and is rank and poor evidence, if any were needed, that the shooting ought to have closed earlier, but a good deal of Russian ventson, shipped ready and out up into joints, is very poor stuff. The same rules as to season govern the supply of red deer venison from English parks, but the weight and quality of the latter are superior to the Scotch. Mest large proprietors find a sale for their spare venison near home, and consequently it is less common in the market. Red deer hinds are again in season in winter, but the fallow ventson is in every way better. Some is even stall fed, and the careasses show. almost as much fat as does small mutton. -Cornhill Magazine.

Pioneering.

It is quite the custom to speak of the whites who were the first to go among the Indian tribes of the west as "pioneers of sivilization." The "civilization" was not always of a perfectly civil order. The officlais and traders of the old Hudson Bay company used to claim credit for this rough pioneering. If we may judge from the records of the company, their work was thorough in its way, but the way was a hard one. Some entries in the account books of the company, made more than 100 years ago, will show how the civilizing was being done:

"Dec. 81, 1795. Served out a quart of rum per man; the evening spent in innocent mirth and jollity.

"Jan. 1, 1790. All the Indians drunk about the place; great trouble in keeping

Two entries of an earlier date and from station still farther north show what were the amenities of intercourse between the "civilized" and savage races when questions of right and justice were in the way of settlement. The first entry reads: "The company's cook, a lad of 16, having been carried off by the Esquimaux, three out of a party of six passing Ecquireturn of the boy."

Five years later another brief entry shows how this transaction was finally

"Had a row with the three Esquimanx detained. They were shot and their ears pickled in rum and sent on to their tribe to show them what had happened."-Youth's Companion.

A Happy Remedy.

Two physicians were talking together, when one of them raised his hat to a lady whom they met,

"A patient?" asked the other. "Oh, in a way," answered the first doctor. "I treated her the other day for a unall difficulty."

"What was it?" "A wart on the nose,"

"And what did you prescribe?" "I ordered her to refrain absolutely from laying on the plane." The other doctor was astenished

"Ordered her to leave off playing the plano for a wart on the nose. Well, I can't understand your treatment."

"If you knew the circumstances, you would," said the first doctor. "She occupies the flat under mine."-London Fun.

At times I became very dizzy, and a mist gathered before my eyes. have taken many kinds of patent medicines, but could get nothing to relieve me. Finally I received a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and am glad to say that they gave me relief in a very short time. I now sleep well, my nerves are steady and strong, and I am better in every way than I have been for years.

I can recommend Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills very highly to those suffering from any trouble affecting the heart and nerves, for I know that they have been a great boon to me."

JACKSON'S FIRST DUEL A Practical Joke Was the Cause of the

At this term, May, 1788, "Andrew Jackson, Esq., came into court and produced a license as an attorney, with a certificate sufficiently attested of his taking the oaths necessary to said office, and was admitted as an attorney in this county court." Jackson had reached his majority two months before this date. He had studied law at Salisbury, N. C., under Spruce Mc-Cay, who had for several years visited the courts at Jonesborough in the capacity of lawyer and judge and was well acquainted with the country and people. It is altogether probable that Jackson came to the western country under the advice of Mo-Cay. The fledgeling, shortly after his arrival in Jonesborough, was retained in his first suit, which proved to be the occasion of his first duel as well. His opponent was the older and more learned Waighstill Avery. It seems that Colonel Avery had the better side of the cause, and that Jackson, foreseeing defeat, tried to break his fall by a bit of pleasantry in the perpetration of a practical joke on his opponent. Avery, as was the custom in those days of circuit riding, carried a few books and his briefs in a pair of saddlebags. Jackson knew that the authority relied upon by Colonel Avery to win the case was Bacon's "A bridgements," and, knowing where the book was kept, he went to the saddlebags and extracted the book, substituting a piece of bacon of the same shape. When in the course of his argument Avery had occasion to appeal to his authority, he took from his saddlebags the package and unfolded it before the court and jury. His precedent did not apply. Suspecting Jackson of being the guilty person, Avery turned upon him and gave him a tongue lashing. Jackson was much angered in turn and wrote upon the fly leaf of a lawbook a demand for a retraction. This was not forthcoming, and Jackson sent this challenge: SIR-When a man's feeling and character are injured he ought to seek a speedy redress. You received a few lines from me yesterday and undoubtedly understand me. My character you have injured, and, further, you have insulted me in the presence of a court and a large audience. I therefore call upon you as a gentleman to give satisfaction for the same, and I further call upon you to give me an answer immediately without equivocation, and I hope you can do without dinner until the business is done, for it is consistent with the character of a gentleman when he injures a man to make speedy reparation. Therefore I hope you will not fail in meeting me this day. From yr obt st, ANDREW JACKSON. To Col. Avery.

P. S.—This evening after court adjourned. Avery accepted the challenge, and the duel was fought at dusk of Aug. 12, 1788, in a ravine near the courthouse in Jonesborough. After the exchange of a few shots Jackson declared himself satisfied, and the antagonists left the field, to become and remain firm friends. - Memphis Commercial-Appeal.

Those who suffer from disease cannot hope for a cure while they go on experi menting with medicine that have no healing powers or life-giving virtues. Paine's Colery Compound is the only medicine that gives a guarantee of cure Its great and noble originator, Prof. Edward Phelps, M.D., spent a lifetime before he gave his finished triumph, Paine's Celery Compound, to sick men and women.
