The old iron span in the bridge crossing the Schuylkill river in Fairmount park was replaced by a new structure of steel in the space of one minute and twenty eight seconds, accurately timed. Owing to the heavy equipment which the railroads are adopting to meet the demands of heavier traffic the old span in the bridge was deemed too light. There is a sentiment in the city that the people of the province should take care of the settlers made destitute by the recent bush and prairie fires and this has given rise to the suggestion that the sum voted by the city council of Toronto be not accepted. There is no doubt that the people of Manitoba appreciate the generosity of the friends in the east, but as Ontario has suffered in a similar manner it is felt that to accept the amount would be imposing on the charity of willing helpers. The relief committee will meet this afternoon, when the question will be considered.
