ABOUT A MARINE CORPS.

Considerable Interest Shown in Its Formation-Military Man's Opinion,

There is probably some misunderstanding concerning the Kingston yacht club's proposal of the formation of a marine | book The term explains itself clearly, the marine corps being formed of officers, privates and musicians, of marines drilled LAMB'S in the art of warfare on the water. It occurred to some that the proposal sought the formation of a naval brigade. . That term generally applies to a troop of marines drilled for war on land. DEER MICE AS PETS.

They Were Delighted With a Home In a Cocuanut Shell.

In St. Nicholas G. Rafael O'Reilly tells of a couple of queer pets that he caught in he woods. The writer says: While rambling one evening in the woods I sat down on a rock close by a shaded bank all overgrown with soft green moss and feathery ferns. Not far away there was an ancient tree stump, with hole running in underneath it, and what should I see peeping out from the hole, but the head of a little reddish brown animal. At first sight I took it to be a chipmunk. Its large, black eyes seemed full of apprehension, and as I moved it drew back out

On rolling over the stump, I discovered beneath it some withered grass carefully rolled into a globular nest. Cautiously drawing my handkerchief around this, tied it up, with whatever it contained, and hurried homeward with my treasure. On emptying the handkerchief into a box covered with wire gauze, I found that I had captured two beautifully delicate and ele- himself as being a wealthy stock broker gant creatures, somewhat larger than and banker of Indianapolis. Soon they made up their minds to take possession of it as their home. Their nest in the corner they pulled to pieces and carried it off mouthful by mouthful into the little cocoanut hut. There they have lived ever since.

During the daytime they sleep, but when evening comes on they busy themselves running and jumping about the cage, and they have never once in three years tried to gnaw their way out.
