A NOSE WITH SILVER NOSTRILS. Physicians Grant a New Nasal Organ on a Woman's Face.

Happy indeed is Mrs. Sophie Golderer, the wife of a machinist of 28 Bartlett street, Williamsburg. She has received a brand new nose at the hands of a surgeon, her original nose having been disfigured by disease.

Mrs. Golderer is past forty years of age. A little more than four years ago she and her husband arrived here from Vienna. For several years before their arrival in this country Mrs. Golderer had been afflicted with necrosis of the bones of the nose.

The disease didn't trouble her to any painful extent until about two years ago, when at times the pain became almost unendurable, and eventually the cartilage and tissues of the nose were entirely destroyed, and a cavity disfigured her face.

In May last the pain becoming agonizing, Mrs. Golderer decided upon an operation. She went to Bellevue hospital, where Dr. Joseph D. Bryant interested himself in the case, and a day was set for the operation.

It began with an incision beginning at the base of the nose and extending obliquely into the cheek for an inch and a quarter. Then another incision was made an inch below the primal line, and the skin and tissues to the depth of one-sixth of an inch were taken away from the cheek.

When this was taken away from the body, placed in the cut and dressed for grafting. This flesh was shaped roughly into the form of a nose, and silver tubes inserted for the nostrils. When this part of the work was completed careful antiseptic treatment was necessary to keep the parts from sloughing until there was adhesion.

Finally a healthy skin was cultivated over the whole structure. It required months to do it, but was successfully accomplished. The only defacement is a wrinkle at the junction of the nose, great where the cheek tissue was cut. It is the general opinion that in time this will disappear.

Mrs. Golderer said yesterday: "My new nose feels like my old nose, and I would never know the difference. The disease is eradicated, and the surgeons say that I will never be troubled again. I am all worn out, however, by the strain I've been under, and intend leaving shortly for a sanitarium to regain my former health."

OPENING OF PARLIAMENT. THE QUEBEC LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY CONVENED TO-DAY.

The Opening Address of Sir J. A. Chapleau. A Summary of the Events of the Past Year—The Bills That the Legislature Will Be Called Upon to Consider.

QUEBEC, Nov. 23.—Parliament was opened at three o'clock this afternoon by Sir J. A. Chapleau, accompanied by the usual brilliant style. The legislative assembly having elected their speaker, black rod summoned them to appear in the council chamber, when his honor Sir J. A. Chapleau delivered the opening speech.

He referred to the year as one whose recollection will remain dear to all her majesty's subjects, for during it they have celebrated the sixtieth anniversary of her reign. The province has had a bountiful harvest, and the products of agricultural industry has found favor in foreign markets.

New measures are to be introduced, chief among them being a new law on public instruction. The government cannot fail to evince an interest in so important a question as education. The bill submitted will contain a provision for the creation of a ministry of public instruction, the number of ministers, however, to remain the same.

Careful attention will be given to agriculture and colonization, and municipal roads will be improved. From the carrying out of great manufacturing enterprises, the province will derive great benefit. Because the government has been compelled to fulfill obligations undertaken by the late administration, a deficit and the creation of a floating debt has resulted.

The strictest economy must be observed. A budget will be introduced by the late government, so that the parliament of Canada may definitely establish them. By the passage of this act the area of Quebec will be increased 65,499,950 acres.

At 11 a.m. the liberal caucus met and unanimously decided to elect Jules Tessier, M.P.L., speaker for the coming session. NOTES FROM A RIVER RESORT.

To Suede Them. BRASS, Guinea Coast, Nov. 23.—The column of troops commanded by major Arnold, consisting of 180 men belonging to the Niger constabulary, with field guns and Maxim guns, sent to subdue the slave raiding prince of Idan, landed at Etobe, and marched direct to the prince's stronghold. The latter was defended by 400 guns and 100 rifles.

There was a hot engagement in front of the town. The Houses of the British forces charged up to the eight foot walls surrounding the place and completely routed the defenders. The prince fled to the bush, and the town was burned and vacated. The enemy lost heavily. The British force had two men killed and twelve wounded.

Caught in a Flood. LETHBRIDGE, Alberta, Nov. 23.—The recent cold caused the formation of ice on a portion of the Belly river and effected a sudden rise of the water, which flooded two railway construction camps near here. Thirty men narrowly escaped with their lives. Two men were imprisoned in a tent for two hours, and had finally to wade through one hundred yards of ice cold water. Several men were badly frosted, the foreman, Sam Henton, so severely that he was removed to the hospital.
