THE AGED VOTERS' LISTS.

It is a good sign when the conservative party cries out against the aged voters' lists which have had to be used by virtue of the present franchise act.

PRESS PARAGRAPHS.

What About His Grace?

Yes: Indicates the Feeling.

The Globe and Archbishop.

When the archbishop asserts that the adverse criticisms of the press are due to malice or to envy at some great success of the Roman Catholic church, he shows how woefully he is deceived and how blind he is to the grave faults of his own conduct.

BLUSTEBERS DISAPPEAR.

Those who followed the recent election campaign in Centre Toronto, and read the speeches at the tory headquarters, at the close of the poll, must have been struck with one particular fact. It was that in the hour of defeat, when the man who had stood in the breach needed the greatest sympathy, he was abandoned by the party blustebers.

The old guard of the conservative party was called upon to scale the heights in the Centre Toronto election and take them. Napoleon's old guard had done so many brave things that it was supposed to be all-powerful, but it met its Waterloo.

THE MAN AT THE THROTTLE HAD TIME TO WORRY ABOUT THE PASSENGERS—HE IS KEPT TOO BUSY TRYING TO GET HIS TRAIN THROUGH ACCORDING TO SCHEDULE.

Old Jim Clark was seated in front of the Eagle Hotel, Salamanca, N. Y. His chair was tilted back, and his cigar was tilted up. This was the precise pose that Jim Clark had taken every evening in front of that hotel for 15 years.

It is when seated in front of the hotel, with his chair tilted back and his cigar tilted up, that Old Jim is given either to philosophizing or to reminiscences.

It does beat the devil, he remarked. "How the public clings to that old-fashioned, worn-out notion that every railroad driver lives about six years and then, if he ain't killed on the road, dies of nervous prostration or brain fever, caused by his terrible strain on his mind and the awful thought that the next minute he may be walled into the beyond along with 400 or 500 passengers at his back.

When the archbishop asserts that the adverse criticisms of the press are due to malice or to envy at some great success of the Roman Catholic church, he shows how woefully he is deceived and how blind he is to the grave faults of his own conduct.

I do not mean to say that an engineer who is true to his duty does not worry when there is actual cause for it, nor that he will not hang to his post until he has had the life mangled out of him, if he thinks it will do any good.
