If those pictures that grace the walls of strange tales of marvelous spectacles. gorgeous pageants and fairy scenes might they reveal to us! But among all scenes—and they are not a few—that they have overlooked, probably few more resembled that fairyland of which we all like to lent beauty to the surroundings, and threw over all a spirit of patriotism, while from the elevated position on the platform, detachment of the 14th batt. band dispersed their sweet music. Immediately in the centre of the hall stood Chalmers' church, and from its dome TIALF OF THE FLAT OVER THE BIBBY swung low a silent bell. Surely last night. if never before, the church was made market place, for within its walls variegate flowers and divers species of plants were of-FURNISHED, THE DESIRABLE RESIdence, 189 Johnston street. ers, and the Misses Hamilton, Geraldi and McDowall. The last booth on the right-hand side was the candy table, under the control of Mrs. Hardy, Mrs. Wright and Mrs. Mc. Rae. All kinds of fancy cakes, agreeable to the eye, if not to the other organs of man's earthly tabernacle, were dieplayed. Miss F. Williamson guarded Jack Horner's pie. This pie, patterned in size after the market square, had a monstrous opening on its surface, within whose enormous cavity reposed numbers of prizes. On the opposite side of the hall was located the fancy table, presided over by Mrs. Rich-

It is only to be regretted that a larger concourse of people was not present to enjoy the beautiful decorations and scenic display. On every side large clusters of red and white roses were dispersed amid the evergreen foliage-"above, below, the rose of snow, twined with her blushing foe, was spread," while beauty seemed to have touched with her magic wand every corner in the old city hall.
