ROUND OF THE CHURCHES.

WHAT TRANSPIRED IN THE CITY CHURCHES YESTERDAY.

Eloquent Sermons Listened to at St. James' Church—Rev. Newton Hill at Queen Street Methodist Church—Services Well Attended Yesterday—Service During the Winter.

Large congregations favored both services at St. James' church yesterday. Excellent sermons were delivered by Rev. W. Lewis and J. K. Macmorine. In the morning Mr. Lewis' subject was "The Christian Ministry." He founded his discourse upon the third chapter of St. John, twentieth verse: "Behold, I stand at the door and knock." Who is the door? It is the heart of man. He who wins the heart wins the whole man.

Open unto him who is knocking at the heart and He will give you the bread of life. Listen to his footsteps, and hearken to his voice. Watch ye then, and let that love Him pray. Let not the door be shut or the pathway overgrown with weeds.

The pastor, Rev. J. K. Macmorine, occupied the pulpit in the evening, and preached an eloquent sermon upon the subject, "The Undiscovered Country," taking as his text the twenty-first verse of the first chapter of Philippians: "For to me to live is Christ, and to die is gain."

Hamlet, in his ravings, regarded life and death as two evils. St. Paul regards both as blessings. The sober master of the palace, in the passing of hours or ambivalence reminds us we shall soon be passing never to re-travel return.

O Lord open our eyes that we may see the realities of the mercy of God. We ask what is death; we know that it is not the passing into non-existence, death cannot be the end. It is not easy to make young men and women take an interest in the spiritual grace afforded them. We seldom, in the word of God, read about dying; the words employed have a gentle sound. Sometimes we are told that Christians when dying simply fall asleep, casting off earthly condition that we may have a building of God's own make. It is said a Christian never dies, that his dying day is a better day, after life's work is over.

The mystery of dying naturally brings a state of shrieking. We crave and need a constant supply of grace and strength to look forward to the future. Jesus is the same yesterday, to day and forever, and draws nigh to the penitent in his dread of the future. He is the peace giver and the peace maker.

We shall be restored and need not fear when the last hour comes, but shall be able to sing the Nunc Dimittis. When I pass through the valley and shadow of death, I shall fear no evil for Thou art with me. St. Paul was not anxious to die, but the thought of that blessed future when he would lay down his sword, with nothing to do but to pass on his master's will. The main thing is to have our hearts right with God, when principles and power, things past and things to come, cannot prevail against us.

During the offertory Miss Duncan rendered very sweetly Paul Rodney's beautiful solo "The Madonna." The choir sang, as a special number, the anthem "Praise the Lord, O Jerusalem." The manner in which this was produced was creditable, not only to the choir master for his skillful training of the voices, but also to each individual for their faithful interpretation of the music.

Church Paragraphs. Rev. Elwood Lawson preached to a good audience in Princess street Methodist church. Yesterday J. M. Sherlock, Jr., conducted service at the depot Methodist church. Services will be held there throughout the winter.

INCIDENTS OF THE DAY.

Newspapers Picked Up By Our Reporters on Their Rounds.

A member of the collegiate institute staff is to be wedded shortly. English holly for decoration at Johnson's florist, Brock Street. Ordered clothing cuts, $18 beaver overcoats $14 a suit. Dunlop. Local industries are crowded with orders. Several are working overtime.

A meeting of the township of Kingston council will be held to-morrow. Art Christmas gift goods, variety excellent, prices moderate, at D. A. Weese & Co's. See the bargains at Abernethy's millinery parlors, over A. Abernethy's shoe store. The council of the board of trade was to have been held this afternoon to consider communications received.

Christmas cards, books, calendars, bibles, cheap at D. A. Weese & Co's. Twenty five per cent. reduction on all ordered work until Christmas. $22 black suits $17. Dunlop, King Street. The Royal military college will close for Christmas vacation on Dec. 22nd and will re-open on Jan. 5th. Members of the decoration committee of the Kingston yacht club were busy to-day collecting flags and bunting.

A new metal roof is being placed on the building occupied by the weights and measures department, Clarence Street. It's for you to save $4 on your new overcoat. Order at Dunlop's before Christmas. The Frontenac cheese board sent a beautiful wreath to be placed on the pier of the late William Duff, the first president of the board.

The sawing machine constructed by the M.T. company cuts tops of the elevator foundation spiles at the rate of two a minute. The saw works over a foot under water. On Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock all the returning officers appointed to receive instructions will meet in the council chamber to receive instructions from the city clerk.

The city is seeking the privilege to extend Colborne street through the Central school property to meet Montreal street. The purpose of this is to secure the right of way to the proposed drill shed. Brass banquet lamps, brass and onyx tables, art gift goods at D. A. Weese & Co's, 121 Princess street.

A family residing on King Street west had served peas for dinner yesterday, but when served up it was found the peas were plentifully infested with carpet ticks. How they got in the tin is a mystery. Sprains of every description can be cured quickly cured by using Arnott's Arnica Anodyne.

Chairman Allen will have a final meeting of the parks committee this week to wind up business for the year. The committee has had a lot of work to do this year, and will finish the season with a small balance on hand. Five guaranteed, also a reduction of 25 per cent on all clothing made to measure until Christmas. Dunlop.

Merchants say that Saturday was one of the poorest business days they ever experienced. Trade during the day was very little, but in the evening it brightened up a little. On the whole it was very disappointing. Call at D. A. Weese & Co's store for Christmas books, cards, goods, art brass goods in lamps and tables. Variety excellent. Prices moderate.

Before leaving office mayor Skinner will have taken a group photograph of all the aldermen and city officials. Each person represented in the photograph will receive a copy, and one framed will be hung in the mayor's office.

THEY VISITED THE WRECK.

EXCURSIONISTS SAW THE ROSEDALE ON SUNDAY.

The Island Wanderer Took Up A Party They Found Sea Fierces There—If Oalm Weather Prevails, The Rosedale May Steam Into Port About Thursday—The Interested Parties Are Confident Of Success.

The greatest amount of excitement and figuring occurred on Friday and Saturday over the contract for the rescuing of the stranded steamer Rosedale. The Folger-Donnelly syndicate made an offer to release the boat, they to receive $17,000 when it shall be brought safely into Kingston, or to have the boat for $10,000 as she stands, money to be paid when she reaches the harbor. Another syndicate put in an opposition offer, and the telegraph office and every other influence was brought to bear by both sides upon the insurance companies at Buffalo.

About five o'clock on Saturday afternoon the excitement ended with the acceptance of the Folger-Donnelly offer. They promptly set out for that night and on Sunday the schooner Grantham was loaded with wrecking apparatus, because the mild weather and the northeast wind were so favoring that they could not but take every possible advantage of it. About nine o'clock on Sunday morning Messrs. Folger and Donnelly with about fifty of their friends paid a visit to the wreck on the steamer Island Wanderer, to whom as a new purchaser she was comparatively a stranger and the owners were anxious to know how near she would come to her reputed speed.

Sixteen miles per hour. The distance from the Grand Trunk wharf to Nine Mile Point is a little over six and three quarter miles, and that distance was made within twenty-seven minutes, showing a speed of at least fifteen miles an hour. The east Chazy shoals lie nine miles from the point, making a run of sixteen miles an hour. The Rosedale can be easily seen from Nine Mile Point.

As the wreck was approached other vessels were seen alongside and visions of piracy on the high sea were opened to the winter excursionists. The Island Wanderer was brought alongside the Rosedale and the wreck inspected. She lies on perfectly even keel, showing thirteen feet depth forward and fourteen feet astern. To outward appearance she seemed to be simply resting at anchor. The only apparent injury to the hull is bulging of the deck near her center. The aft part seems dry as the cabin is free from water. The cabin, however, were in a very disorderly state, showing a hasty dismantling of the boat. The insurance companies had carried everything movable to Kingston. Michael O'Neill and Jerry Hurley were left in charge at the wreck, being given a stove and a box of provisions, and the visitors forthwith returned to port.

The syndicate were quite encouraged with the view of the boat feeling that the storms had not the power to injure and their efforts utterly futile. The principal vessel at the wreck was William Gilroy, of Sackett's Harbor, and the schooner Two Brothers, of Picton. The former had been pumping grain from the lake bottom with a sand pump, and the crew of the latter had been taking it out of the hold, but the syndicate did not object and left them free to pursue their work. The sand pumps are making, with a small crew of four or five men, $100 per day. The sand pump is capable of raising from 500 to 1,000 bushels per hour.

The Grantham was equipped with all requisites for the work yesterday, and about thirty men engaged. It may appear to the public a fruitless attempt under the wrecking company, and it is indeed a work necessitating the exercise of skill and judgment. But the success which has always attended the efforts of the syndicate in rescuing a safe landing of the boat. Four pumps, the best man company's big Niagara Falls, rejected by the first workers, were taken out. The object of the wreckers will be to lower the water sufficiently to allow temporary repairs to the broken bottom, and as soon as the water and grain are taken from the forward compartments, her punctured bottom will be cemented over. Fifty tons of coal were taken out, and it successfully floated, the Rosedale will steam into port by her own machinery. If the wind remains quiet for the time, the company think the steamer will be in the dry dock by Thursday night.

What is Transpiring in the Sporting Arena of this Busy City. The Trades' hockey league, Brockville, will get teams on the ice this winter. Jack Downey, Brooklyn, and Jim Popp, Toronto, meet in twenty-round bout at Buffalo on Jan. 10th. The Royal military college cadets will enter a team in the senior series of the Ontario hockey union. Hitherto their team has played in the intermediate series. Weldy Young and Harry Westwick, Ottawa hockey club, have left for Waterloo where they have accepted situations and will play hockey with Mr. Seagram's organization.

Toronto and Montreal baseball clubs will work together next season in a friendly rivalry. At the end of the season Irving and Dooley have arranged for a trans-Atlantic trip. These teams will visit England under the auspices of a prominent Canadian statesman. Messrs. Seagram, Hendrie and Boyle, the well-known horse owners of western Ontario, have come to an amicable settlement of their troubles which were being looked into at Ogdensburgh. They will release Mr. Boyle of the latter city and keep Looram and Mr. Seagram will retain Havoc.

Queen's Alma Mater Society. The annual meeting of the alma mater society of Queen's was held on Saturday evening. Changes were made in the constitution with regard to elections. Hereafter the poll will remain open from eight o'clock, and no hourly returns shall be given. The committee, instead of being appointed to different faculties, will consist simply of "four members." These changes are made with the view of assuring lively elections.

CITY AND VICINITY.

Beautiful Millinery, Half Price At Abernethy's, over A. Abernethy's shoe store.

Fine Shoes For Evening Wear For ladies and gent's, the finest in the city at Abernethy's. Are You Going To The Ball? If so, do you want a pair of evening shoes or slippers. We have a large stock in patent leather, satin, kid. Latest styles and shapes. Haines & Lockett.

Like Y to Get The Office. Both the Reporter and Journal, of Gananoque, express the opinion that W. P. Dailey, of Kookport, is likely to secure the customs' collectorship until recently filled by John Ormiston. He would certainly make an excellent official. Great Sale Of Ready Made Clothing. Prevost is selling boys' and youths' overcoats for $3; boys' suits for $1.50; men's overcoat for $5; men's tweed suit $5; good heavy men's pants for $1.25; boys' blanket overcoats, extra value $4.

Francis Macdonald. At the cheese board meeting on Saturday secretary-treasurer McFarvey presented his financial statement, thus: Balance on hand from 1896, $8.27; total receipts for 1897, $246.27; expenditure, $248; deficit, $22.7. This season there were nine boys and forty-three salesmen on the board. Election Of Officers. Albion masonic lodge, Harrowsmith, has elected these officers for the ensuing year: Bro. A. Lockhart, M. D., W. M.; Rev. W. D. Fleming, S. W.; Bro. A. Hunter, J. W.; Bro. James Cooke, secretary (twenty-ninth year); Bro. J. W. Bortram, treasurer; Bro. P. Myers, Tyler; Bro. J. S. Gallagher, I. G.; Bro. E. Sigworth, S. D.; Bro. A. Forsyth, J. D.; Bro. J. K. Godfrey, M. C.; Bro. C. Wood and H. Woodruff, stewards.

Stealing Temporary Fences. Chairman Allen, of the parks committee, has instructed chief of police Horsey to take action against parties guilty of destroying the temporary fences erected in parks to protect the drive-ways. Many of these have been carried off and, presumably, converted into fire wood. More have been taken from Victoria park than any other pleasure resort, and if the guilty parties are apprehended they will be severely dealt with. Still Another Great Bargain. We have received for the Christmas trade a traveller's sample of silk piano and mantle drapes; Piano drapes, former price $8, now $3; mantle drapes, former price $5, now $1.50; silk cushions, eider down filled, for $1.50 and $1.75, not much more than the price of the cushions ordered. Handsome rugs, mats, curtains, etc., suitable for Christmas presents, at R. McPaul's, Kingston carpet warehouse.

Old 100th May Be Established. Responding to a petition from a number of Toronto citizens that the 100th, or Prince of Wales' regiment and a regiment depot be established in this city, G. Lawson, secretary of state, London, writes to the mayor saying that Lord Lansdowne is willing to give the matter favorable consideration, but cannot act thereon until the provincial or federal governments express their opinion of the matter. Two battalions of Canadian militia may be affiliated into a regiment recruited entirely from Canada.

Married In Montreal. Rev. T. J. Mansell, of Dominion Square Methodist church, Montreal, on Dec 7th, united in marriage Ella, the only daughter of John H. Switzer, Montreal, and niece of the late Rev. J. H. Stewart, Kingston, to Charles E. Shaw, formerly of New York City. The bride was assisted by Miss J. May Powell, of Kingston, the best man being R. S. Switzer, eldest brother of the bride after the 15th, Mr. and Mrs. Shaw will reside at 134 Selby avenue, Westmount.

Grants That Were Made. Among the estimates brought down by the legislature for 1898 are the following: Adding road, repairs between Clarendon and Kaledar, $100; Clarendon station and Olden road, to improve and change location of portion of the road, $500; Loughborough lake road, repairs to about twelve miles, $600; Lavant road, repairs through townships of Lavant and Darling, twelve miles, $500; Mountain road, repairs between Park and Tamworth, $300; Park and Sherbot lake road, repairs, $400, and Storrington road, about twenty-three miles, $300.

Thieves On The Road. J. M. Fair, Glenburnie, was in the city yesterday and reported the loss of a double set of harness, which some person took from his carriage house on Wednesday night last. Whoever took the set was evidently familiar with the place, and determined to secure the double set, as it was hanging at the back end of the shed, requiring the intruder to pass other harness and loose articles. On Wednesday evening Mr. Fair had congratulated himself on possessing such a good outfit in harness for winter use. When he looked on Thursday his best set was missing. He thinks the thieves came from the neighborhood of the city.

A Great Treat. Those who appreciate grace, beauty and "the poetry of motion" in its highest form, with a background of genuine humor and jollity, will have every opportunity to gratify their pleasure at the Grand opera house on Thursday evening, Dec. 16th, when famous and fascinating Cissy Fitzgerald, New York's popular idol, will burst in all her glory upon the theatre goes of Kingston for the first time. Miss Fitzgerald is so well known by reputation in this exceedingly well-informed community that no words of enthusiastic praise are called for, although it were easy to utter them. Cissy is certainly a highly attractive young thing, and no particle of the enrapured praise which the metropolitan papers have lavished upon her is undeserved. The plan opens to-morrow at 10 a. m. at Sawyer's.

Want Good Men To Replace. "In my ten years of service in the city council, I have never seen the interest in municipal elections so low as in the approaching elections," said alderman Elliott this morning. "This can be said of the aldermanic, as well as the mayoralty contest. The selection of a council for next year to my mind is a very important matter, for the city's financing during 1898 will involve careful work and experienced men. The two elements an increase in the rate of taxation, and these with the current expenditure will require careful management of municipal affairs to keep within the limits of receipts. It is to be regretted that so many 'old heads' are retiring, a fact which urges the selection of practical men to take their places." Those who have signified their intention of withdrawing from the field are Ald. McKelvey, W. Robinson, Elliott and other Ald. Walker or Livingston will be missed next year.

WORKINGMEN'S MEETING.

A PAPER WAS READ IN WHIG HALL BY J. R. DONALDSON.

The Discussion Was Animated, Though Those Who Took Part in the Discussion Were Few—A Resolution Was Read, But Laid Over Until the Next Meeting. At the workingmen's meeting in the Whig hall yesterday afternoon Mr. Hoppins was elected chairman. He regretted very much that a larger number were not present. Owing to the funeral of the late Dr. Cunningham only about a score were present.

Dr. Akroyd wished his paper postponed until a later date, which wish was granted. Mr. Baker read a resolution asking the government to investigate the condition and treatment of the men employed on the Crow's Nest Pass railway. M. S. Burnette referred to the nefarious practice of employers compelling their men to trade in their stores. He pointed out that it had been the fashion for the past four or five years, and it was getting to be a very bad fashion. He did not know anything about the condition of workmen on the Pass and did not think anyone in the meeting knew anything about it. J. R. Donaldson quoted the statements of men who had returned from that district and said the C.P.R. had given them free transportation back and also a money allowance to keep quiet.

Rodger Greer said that from latest reports his master had been satisfactorily settled. By passing the resolution they would be subjecting the workingmen's meeting of the city of Kingston to the criticism of the whole cabinet of the Canadian government. Mr. Gowen thought it should be passed, as it asked only for an investigation. Messrs. Hoppins, Baker and Burnette spoke briefly on it, after which it was laid over for a time.

J. R. Donaldson read a paper on "Some Practical Views of the Present." He referred to Mr. Shaw's paper of last Sunday, reviewing the principal points. He said that the law are too much aided and encouraged. Seventeen per cent. of the population of the United States own eighty per cent. of the wealth of that country. Is that a fair distribution? Children and young ladies were crowding men out of employment to-day. Improvements in aid methods should make for the betterment of all. Laws are made too much by and for the rich. It is a delusion to think that the poor man, though he be the bulk of the people, can make the laws. The dice are loaded before the voter is asked to shake. Capital does nothing but what the state could do better if it had the chance. When a poor man steals a suit of clothes, that is robbery and many years in the penitentiary is the result; when a richer man steals millions he is only a defaulter and leaves town for a day or so until all the trouble has blown over. He referred to their late patron, Henry George, who had left behind him an honest name that the wealth of a Vanderbilt could not buy.

In the discussion M. S. Burnette said the legislation was simply a method of bribery, and that if you wanted to get a bonus in Kingston, or any other place, you must first buy the newspapers. Mr. Baker, J. S. Shortt, M. A., and others spoke briefly on the discussion. MARINE INTELLIGENCE. Marine Items Picked Up Along The Harbor Front. The tug Petrel, of the Collins Bay rafting company, passed yesterday with four pontoons in tow. It is said that the insurance companies were offered $20,000 for the steamer Rosedale as she stands on the shoal by a local syndicate.

This morning the steamer Pierpoint towed the schooner floating to the north side of Cataract bridge, where she will strip and go into winter quarters at storage for Richardson & Sons. The Donnelly wrecking and salvage company expects two wrecking pumps to arrive here to night from Midland. These will be put aboard the Rosedale, making five pumps at work on the wreck. Welland Canal Report. PORT COLBORNE, Dec. 11.—Down: Steamer Montego, Chicago to Ogdensburg, corn. Navigation will be officially closed next Tuesday, the 14th, for the season.

Made A Big Show. The money paid for the wrecking operations on the Rosedale gave Kingston streets a carmine hue on Saturday. Many of the men had imbibed freely, and the result was several scenes not edifying on the crowded thoroughfare. A small scrap occurred on Clarence street, but the worst scene was reserved for Brock street. A man who was very powerful and almost crazy with liquor, nothing could be done with him until the arrival of another officer. Then the man fought like a fend. Fully two hundred people gathered about, and the language and the degrading scene generally was the best test to the necessity of a patrol wagon. The brute, for such he was in his fighting, had to be dragged from the spot to the station, while he called his captors fiends and demons, and his eyes bulged out until he looked like one of the figures in Dante's Inferno. The officers acted with very great patience, and should have had the warm sympathy of the crowd.

The germs of consumption are everywhere. There is no way but to fight them. If there is a history of weak lungs in the family, this fight must be constant and vigorous. You must strike the disease, or it will strike you. At the very first sign of failing health take Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites. It gives the body power to resist the germs of consumption.
