A TERRIBLE DISEASE.

Dangers of the Spread of It-Th Thu.gs which Our People Must Not Now Est.

Madrid, July 7 .- The cholera epidemi s the most fearful ever known in Spain. The scourge is the worst at Aranguez where, out of a population of 8,000, there have been 1,400 cases and 450 deaths in the past e'even days. One in every seven citizens has been attacked, and one out of every pineteen has died. The real proportion is even greater owing to the exodus of all who have been able to get away. The city of Valencia has become the local centre of a violent outbreak of cholera, with an average of 150 deaths daily. In Madrid there have been only twenty deaths during the last ten days. In the other towns of the eight infected provinces the plague increases very slow-but surely. The temperature throughout Spain during the last thirty days has been unusually low.

Madrid, July 9 - The suffering in the cholera district is increased by the stoppage of exports of live stock, fruit, flowers and vegetables, under the sanitary rules. The wealthy are most generous. The clergy arrange for the distribution of tood. Deaths occur daily of devoted physicians, sisters of charity and public officials. The heat is intense. The scare is subsiding. There are increased arrivals of army surgeons, nurses and medi-

"Fifty" stood for noon; "200" for midnight. Startling incidents abound in such a city. A vile smell came from one of the many closed houses. By order of the authorities the doors were forced, and then the rotting bodies of its inhabitants were found. They had apparently died of malignant cholera after closing the house, and so suddenly that they had been unable to summon aid.

THE DISEASE SPREADING. Dr. Ruiz, a distinguished physician. and Recorder of the Board of Health. was suffering from a slight choleraic attack, but nevertheless gave an hour of his valuable time to the discussion of the principal resources of the epidomic.

"The disease is spreading through all the province of Murcia, and if it maintains elsewhere the same characteristics it will be a severe epidemic all over Spain. The disease began at Archena, thirty-four kilometers from Murcia, on the same river, and was brought from Valencia. The cholera germs came down the river from Archena, and were spread rapidly through Murcia and its suburbs by the extensive use of water for irrigation purposes. The most severe cases occur always on the banks of the river or of the irrigating canals. No cases have yet occurred above Archena. but the cholera is epidemic along the whole course of the River Segura between Archena and the sea. "The germs seem to lose their vitality by long exposure, and it is noticed that the cholera is less virulent in proportion to the aistance from the original source of infection. At Archena a mild type of cholera has been taken by physicians and those caring for the sick. It is not fatal, but prevents taking the real cholera. Four nurses, all femalesall Sisters of Charity-have, however, died. No male nurse has died, nor have physicians so far had virulent cholera. About 10 percent of those who recover from cholera take typhus fever. But this is only part of the tendency always shown by cholera to degenerate into other and less fatal diseases. These Pi typhus cases are always of a mild type, with only 5 per cent. of deaths among people of means, who die, however, largely through fear. . MORTALITY AMONG WOMEN. "Of those who die there are 50 per cent. more women than men. Women do not die from fear, as they are braver than men. A man can not generally be trusted to give a correct account of his symptoms. Women generally are calm and unimaginative regarding their symptoms. Women advanced in pregnancy almost invariably die, and there is a through all the family. In some cases

all the members of the family have died.

There is hardly a house in Murcia now free from infection. "The bacillus virgirea is probably the cause of the cholera, and the germ can be carried alive in letters cr .clothes for fifteen or thirty days. I know a family which fled from Murcia to a city free from cholera. A roll of goods coming from Murcia was opened by the servant of the infected city. This servant died of cholera within twenty-four hours, being the first case of cholera for a year in that city. Dr. Ferran's system may be of value in the future, but at present it lacks preventive effect."

FOLLOWS THE COURSE OF STREAMS.

The cholera will extend throughout the greater portion of Spain. It may last until late in the fall. It is not impossible that cholera cases may occur next year. . The disease seems to follow the course of rivers; it spreads always below the place infected. Thus, the head waters of the Tagus being now infected, the cholera may be expected to pass all quarantines and enter Portugal. Cholera spreads rapidly and with great virulence along the course of a river. By land its spread is uncertain and slow, depending largely on personal contact be-tween the inhabitants of neighboring towns. A man of average health, not given to excesses, using only boiled water for such purposes as brushing the teeth, etc., who eats no green, uncooked food, need not fear cholera in the least. Anything which reduces vitality, even temporary, may at once lead to cholers. Women have more to fear from cholera, but with proper precautions there is little danger. Extreme fear of the disease very often leads to an attack of the chol-DANGER LURKING IN FEUITS.

Dr. Ferran's inoculation will not play an important part in this epidemic, however, great its part may be in the next one. Cholera germs live for an uncertain period. They are known to live for months and vet retain sufficient vitality to cause cholera in persons exposed to them. Great care regarding infected letters and clothing is, therefore, necessary. Valencia oranges and Malaga raisins of this year's crop may carry cholera germs to consumers, even in distant countries. They are, therefore, among the things not to eat.

DUNCAN MACKENZIE ARRESTED

Charged With Burglarizing a Sate in Har rison, Michigan-Is He Guilty?

Daily Whig, 11th.

Last night Duncan Mackenzie, a man well-known in the city, was arrested by Detective Snodden and removed to the police station. He was placed under lock and key and no one permitted to see him. The arrest was made on the authority of officers of Harrison, Clair county, Michigan. On May 14th, 1884. he and an accomplice are charged with burglarizing the county treasurers office and robbing the safe of $5,000. The treasurer was attacked at night and bound to his office chair, and the money extracted. It is declared that Mackenzie was one of the robbers. The burglary occurred the night of the appearance of Robbins' circus, and he was one of the camp followers. The ground had been looked over by the burglars pre viously. The police authorities have had the case in hand since June 17th. an officer is now on the way from Harrison, to return with Mackenzie either as an extradited prisoner or one who goes willingly. T. H. McGuire has been retained by the defence. He endeavored to secure the release of Mackenzie on bail, but the magistrate refused it until the Michigan authorities arrived. A very strong defence will be made.

Sir Michael Hicks-Beach introduced the budget. It retains all of Right Hon. Hugh Childers' proposals not affected by the recent votes. Sir Michael, in presenting the budget, said the Government regretted that the expenditures on account of the $55,000,000 credit exceeded the $45,000,000 to which Mr. Childers' estimate limited them. London, July 9.-The Pall Mall Gasette this evening thanks the city authorities for attempting to suppress the sales of the paper, thereby breaking the conspiracy of silence maintained by the press, concerning that paper's revelations. In another part of its editorial page the Gazette says : "Let-those who do not wish to shake the very fung tation of social order think twice before compelling us to control in coart find them out, and failed. Northumberland street, where the Pall Mall Gazette office is located, this afternoon is packed from end to end to end with a mass of excited people. many as three thousand vendors were at times struggling together for an opportunity to purchase copies of the paper at once. The pressure of crowd was so great that all the lower windows of the Gazette building were crushed. When the doors of the office were opened for the sale of he first edition, there was a rush for the counter. Women and boys were knocked down and trampled upon. Many were badly mjured.

Owing to the extraordinary sale of the paper for the past few days the supply of white paper gave out to-day and the presses had to be stopped for several hours while additional supplies were being procured. To-day's edition makes no new revelations, but confines itself to defending the paper's course and defying the authorities. In the House of Commons this afternoon Mr. Albert H. G. Grey, Liberal, member for South Northumberland, inquired why public access to the office of the "Pall Mall Gazette" was obstructed. Rt. Hon. Sir Richard Asheton Cross, Secretary for the Home Department, replied that the police were fulfilling their duty in keeping the streets clear and preserving public order. The windows and doorways of the Gazette's publication office are barricad-

A LIVELY DISCUSSION OCCURS. The board then met for the despatch of business. Mr. Rutledge wanted to know the prices obtained by each one, and requested Mr. Duff to inform the board at what figures he had disposed of his cheese. He thought the President should lead in this matter. The latter was reticent, and did not think that the rules governing the board required that members should tell each other how they sold their cheese. Mr. Rutle ige became indignant, jumped to his feet, and, grasping a book that lay on the table threw it down with a terrible slam. He demanded, as a member of the board, to know the prices which other members of the board received for their cheese. He again asked Mr. Duff to otate his figures. The latter demurred and only smiled at the speaker. Mr. Rutledge said he did not believe in any crib-working or loop-holing on the part of members of the board. Every transaction should be done above board. They met as a board to assist each other, and they had a president who dare not place on the bulletin board what he received for his cheese. The speaker lifted the book again and dropped it suddenly, remarking that if some were going to make sales without letting the others know what prices they got the "shop" had better be shut at once. The evidence was of great length, and embraced analyses by Mr. Saunders, of London, and Professors Heys and Ellis, of Toronto. The magistrate, Mayor Horton, held that the beer was an intoxicating one, although of variable strength, and defendant was therefore fined $50 and costs. There will be an appeal.

Peterboro, July 9 .-- This morning a severe thunder storm visited Ennismore. Three men were working on a wall for the extension of the residence of Mr. Paul Costello, the latter being among less virulent, and a general decrease is the number. While they were at work a thunderbolt descended amongst the party and John Haggart was instantly killed and Mr. Costello and a Peterboro

THE DEADLY THUNDERBOLL

For the cure of all the delicate disorders to which females are subject no remedy has been devised that can be compared with Hanington's Quinine Wine and Iron. It renovates the entire system, animates the despondent, restores the bloom of health to the sallow cheek and replaces melancholy with vivaciousness of youth. "You needn't do it in cold blood," answered the other; "just set fire to the house and let her burn up." Mrs. Smith saw the man who spoke last take a kerosene can, as if to excute his threat. The can happened to be empty. He threw it down and said, "Let's bind her, and lay her in the bath tub and turn on the water; she will drown like a rat." A moment's consultation followed, and the pretending or intending murderers quietly went out at the front door, closing it after them and, leaving Mrs. Smith upon the floor, bound hand and foot, and almost dead from fright. Half an hour elapsed before she regained strength enough to attempt to loosen the bands about her wrists. This took another half hour after she got to work at it. Then dragging herself on her hands and knees she reached the front door and opened it. Soon she attracted the attention of a passer-by, and told him of what had taken place. The police were soon summoned to the house, where they took observations and acquainted themselves with all the facts. and set to work on the case. Up to noon to-day they have obtained no trace of the robbers. Mrs. Smith is seriously ill.

GREATEST SHOW ON EARTH.

John B. Doris' Great Inter-Ocean Circus, Combined With the New Monster Shows.

This immense attractive aggregation which is to appear at Kingston, on Saturday, July 25th, 1885. Is without # doubt the largest and most complete show travelling, and the excitement is already making itself manifest among our citizens. Everybody, or nearly everybody, Mr. Duff contended that he thought is making preparations to go and take all the children. Too much can not be said to urge our amusement loving people to attend John B. Doris' New Monster Shows, consolidated with the Great Inter-Ocean-Triple Circus in three separate rings, Museum, Aquarium, Elevated Theatre Stage, and Fifty Cage Menagerie-Twelve Shows in one. They will positively see the lers. More new novelties, attractive features curiosities, aerialists, bicyclists, jugglers, roller-skaters, athletes, gymnasts, equestrians, equestriennes, rare animals, iorses, costumes, riders, chariots, cages, wagons, lordly birds, towering arimals. mammoth beasts, and overpowering and ruly tremendous features, than ever did exist, or can possibly be gathered together in one show. The grand free princely street parade on the merning of the exhibition is a rare sight. Twenty cages of wild animals will be exhibited free of charge on the public streets.

> > Two Hundred Dollars Keward.

We will pay one hundred dollars to any party or parties who will furnish sufficient evidence that will lead to the conviction of the guilty party or parties who take the (the "Cable" cigars) in other boxes, for a ten cent cigar, and who dee put our brands on cheap, trashy cigars palming them off as the genuine "Cable. We will pay the other hundred dollars for sufficient evidience that will lead to the conviction of the pany or parties who take the brands off our celebrated "El Padre" cigar, and place them (the El Padre cigar) in imported eigar boxes, and sell them for w (15c.) fifteen cent important cigar, and replace our brand on a cheap and inferior domestic cigar, or a musty, dry imported, and sell them for the genuine. We do not object to the consumers pay ing (10c.) ten cents for our (5c.) "Cable" cigars, and (15c.) fifteen cents for our "El Padrey (10c.) cigars; as they are well worth that money, especially when in imported Havsna boxes, but we most decidedly protest against foreigners obtaining the credit for making a fine class of cigars when it belongs to us. Don't be prejudiced, domestic cigars that are not artificially flavored, will not poison you. Many smokers have enjoyed a fragrant (domestic) Havana while imagining they were smoking an imported. The celebrated "Cable," "El Padre" and 'Modern' brands of cigars are the most reliable in the market. Try them. Four first prize medals in competition
