Patrick O'Donnell was arrested or Saturday by Sergt. Nesbitt and Officer Timmerman, to whom he was pointed as the man who had been engaged in pocket-picking. This merning he was before the Court. Three charges were preferred against him, and to all he pleaded "not guilty." Ann Tyo accused him of picking her pocket of $11.75. She was on the market, and while she made some change she noticed that the prisoner was watching her. Afterwards she found that she had been robbed of her purse, and she suspected this man of taking it. Catharine Scott was standing in front of Hutcheson's auction rooms when she felt a hand quickly and roughly inserted into her pocket. She wheeled around and caught McDonald in the act. He bolted as soon as he was caught, running towards and up Prircess street. The third charge was preferred by Michael Ryan, of Wolfe Island. Yesterday morning he started to prepare for church, and found his wardrobe gone. He was out a disconal suit, fine boots, shirts, collars, handkerchiefs, collar-buttons-everything constituting a dressed man's outfit. He came to the city, heard that a man had been seen walking about in his clothes, and found that O'Donnell was that man. The Magistrate reserved his decision, having heard that he was a recently released convict. In any case it is not likely that he will pick any more peckets again for some time.

Daily Whig, 25th. Patrick O'Donnell, the sneak thiel stood up before the police magistrate this morning and declared that he has not stolen Michael Ryan's clothes, that he bought them from a man for $9, that he had never been on the island in his not believe the statement. From all accounts he was a bad young man. He was sentenced to the Central Prison for stealing Mr. Rvan's wardrobe, and eight mouths for picking Mrs. Tyo's pocket. The other case was reserved because, as the manistrate said, "you have had enough for a time." Deputy Sheriff Young, of London, recognized O'Donnell as George Clark, sent to Central Prison from Sandw ch for larceny. He was released last April.

FOUNDERED IN MID-LAKE. The schr. Lillie Hamilton, well known here, foundered on Lake Michigan Thursday last. Captain William Slatter with seven men reached Milwaukee on Sunday in two small boats, worn and exhausted after their struggles. Captain Slatter told the story of the disaster and subsequent rescue of the crew by the barge Blue Pilot. The Hamilton was bound from Kingston to Milwaukee with a cargo of bulk salt. Thursday night she encountered a severe southerly gale at the foot of the lake, and she laboured so heavily in the seas that she sprung a leak. The pumps were manned and the leak was kept under control for some time, but as the sess increased in force, so did the water in the hold. All night long the men worked the pumps, but the water had gradually gained on them until about 4 o'clock, when the vessel began to settle and go down. The boats were cleared away and brought alongside and the men clambered into them with difficulty. Just as they were ready to push away Capt. Slatter rushed into the cabin when the water was waist deep, and secured the ship's compass. The boats were not more than 100 feet distant from the Hamilton when she made her plunge for the bottom of the lake. She went down head first, with her foresail and two jibs set. It was very difficult for the men to prevent the small boats from swamping in the heavy seas. They had to exercise every nerve and muscle to keep the boats out of the about three hours of this kind of work the boats fell in with the barge Blue Pilot, Capt. Welsh. The castaways were taken on board and were treated with the utmost consideration by the crew of the Blue Pilot. Thursday morning when the vessel was off Milwaukee the boats of the schr. Lillie Hamilton were lowered, and manned by the crew of that vessel they pulled into port. The Hamilton was laden with 680 tons of sait, which was consigued to John Plankinton & Co. She was built at Port Burwell in 1874.

rated B 1, and was owned by Molson's

Bank, of Owen Sound. The value of the Hamilton was $6:500. SUSPICIOUS DEATH. On Friday evening Josephine Dawson, a domestic in the employment of W. Bullock, Gananoque, gave birth to a babe, whose body was found in the barn. The circumstance was reported to Dr. Fraleigh, who ordered an inquest. Dr. Dumble was ordered to hold a post mortem. He found that the child had breathed after its birth, but how long he could not say. There were some marks about the head or neck, but the doctor could not say that they indicated violence. There was nothing to show how they were produced. The girl denied any criminal act. The verdict of the jury was that the child had died from patural causes.

A Little Fun for the Boys-Some Extraor dinary Rowing Speed. Last Monday, Messrs. G. E. Booth D. Lahey and F. Ostler tried their muscle on time in an impromptu race on Sydenham Lake. Fred led off with about forty-three to the minute, and after alreast circumtroughs of the immense seas. After navigating the lake through unskilful steering, eventually poled his craft around the stake and straightened for home, crossing the line with a magnificent sport in 8:18. Mrs. Lonergan summoned Miss Walker (who had previously been at Margeret's door and found it locked) and heard that she suffered from a bilious attack, and detailed to find Dr. Clarke. That officer. accompanied by Dr. Cane, went to the girl's chamber and made an investiga tion. The pail was taken from the closet, and a bundle being unwrapped, the body of an infant was found with a spotted cloth tied about its neck. It was, of course, read. The face was greatly congested. Dr. Cane placed the body in a safe quarter and cared for the woman. She asked them what they would do with her, but the physician urged her to keep quiet. Dr. Clarke, on Monday, notified the County Attorney of the affair, and at 4 o'clock vesterday a jury composed principally of residents of Portsmouth, was summoned and an inquest held by Coroner Irwin. The evidence, as above, was elicited. Dr. A. S. Oliver held the post-morten examination. He said he found a twisted cloth tied tightly about the neck of a female child. There were no other marks of violence upon the body. The body was thin and looked as if it had not been well-nourished. The baby had bresthed. This fact was discovered by TESTS APPLIED BY MEDICAL MEN of permitting the lungs and heart to float in water. Had they sunk then there would have been no evidence of life at birth. The parts, however, floated; even small pieces of the lungs, cut off, did this. The doctor was satisfied that death had resulted from strangulation. It was remarked that every person who gave testimony declared that they were not aware of condition of the mother. Even the doctor who attended her in the morning was not aware of her pregnancy. The jury deliberated for an hour and a balf and finally Alex. McLeod, foreman, gave in the verdict to the effect that Margaret Bryson had given birth to the child, and that its death had been caused by strangulation. The coroner, on this verdict, could not commit the woman. This merning he placed the evidence in the hands of the County Attorney: Margaret Bryson is the daughter of a respectable citizen of Gordon street. At present she lies in a prostrate condition, suffering very much both mentally and physically. Hereaforts to conceal the child were such as to place her in danger.
