

BROKE THE COLONEL'S RIBS.

AN EPISODE AFTER THE BREAKING UP OF CAMP.

While intoxicated "Sunny" Smith caused considerable trouble—A dog attacked a lad and buried its teeth in his arm—General Paragraphs.

GANANOQUE, Sept. 9.—M. Kelly, Brockville, spent Sunday in town. Communion was dispensed in St. Andrew's church yesterday morning. The battery, which has been under canvas for eight days, breaks camp this morning. The Prescott fair for this year is being largely advertised in this district. The Citizens' band, of this town, will be in attendance on that occasion. Col. Cotton, D.A.G., Kingston, inspected the Gananoque battery on Saturday last. Yesterday morning the soldiers paraded to Christ church to attend divine service. The Citizens' band headed the parade.

A report reached here yesterday morning giving the news of a sad accident which occurred in the country near here, the exact location as yet unknown to your correspondent. It seems that a farmer mowing in a field sent his little daughter, who was in the field with him, on an errand to the house. Instead of doing as bid the child hid in the field. Her father proceeded with his labor until arrested by cries of distress. On examination he found his little girl lying with one of her legs severed by the mowing machine, and the other badly cut. Medical aid was summoned and amputation was found necessary.

Clarence Halliday, of Elgin, is attending the high school. The funeral of the late Mrs. Cliffe took place Sunday afternoon. The deceased lady had attained a ripe old age. It is said that a local manufacturing firm will make 15,000 snow shovels for the coming season. Geo. Wilson, of Kingston, was in town Saturday. The Chieftain was in port here yesterday morning. The Sprague & Axle Co. shipped half a carload of springs this morning.

GANANOQUE, Sept. 11.—"Sunny" Smith was making himself somewhat obnoxious yesterday. He had received his pay for soldiering and as a natural sequence "howled up" considerably. Last evening he met Col. McKenzie in his furniture store and tried to rake up some excuse for a disturbance. After some short parleying he shoved the colonel with great force against a number of chairs, the force with which he fell breaking two of his ribs. Dr. McCammon was summoned to relieve the colonel. Chief Ryan and Sergeant Robinson went to arrest the offender, who, even though intoxicated, showed fight. He was with considerable difficulty landed in the cells, where he will await his reckoning, which, no doubt, will bring him to his senses.

A lad named Lafrance was the victim of a very painful accident Sunday last. He was walking in company with another boy down Oak alley when a large dog jumped at his throat. Lafrance threw up his right arm to shield himself, but the animal buried his teeth in the lad's arm near the muscle. Dr. McBroom dressed the wound.

TO BREAK A RECORD.

A Train Going Quickly Over the Hudson River Railroad.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—An experimental train consisting of five cars, left here early this morning from the Grand Central station with the intention of covering the 143 miles between here and Albany in 100 minutes. The only passengers on board are vice-pres. Webb, of the New York Central railroad, and seven invited guests.

The train steamed out of the Grand Central station at 5:40:30 a.m. The five cars were a baggage car, a smoking car, two passenger cars and the private car Marietta.

It is understood that the intention of the management is to run the train through to Buffalo if it proves a success. The trial to-day is simply to test the speed capacity of the new engines and the ability of the roadway to stand such terrific pressure.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Sept. 11.—The trial train passed the Rhine Cliffe station at 7:07 o'clock this morning. While the train was in sight at Rhine Cliffe it ran two and one-half miles in one minute and fifty-five seconds. The first seventy-four miles of the run was made in seventy minutes.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 11.—The New York Central fast train arrived at East Buffalo at 12:34:57. The official time of the trip is as follows: Distance, New York to East Buffalo, 143 miles; elapsed time, 407 minutes. Average per hour, 64 1/2 miles; English record, 63 1/2 miles.

FRANKFORD BADLY SCORCHED.

Several Stores and Residences Wiped Out—No Fire Protection.

FRANKFORD, Sept. 11.—Monday night fire was discovered in Ragan's barber shop. There is no fire protection in the village and the flames spread rapidly. From the barber shop the fire went into Foster's machine shop and soon enveloped this building. It soon spread to Griffin's butcher shop and building, and most of the contents were soon destroyed. Ostrom's drug and jewellery store was next in line and the shop and stock were licked up by the hungry element. Searles & Grass' tailor shop, with a fine stock, was next consumed, and here the fire stopped for the want of further food.

The loss will probably reach between $15,000 and $20,000. Nearly all the business places were insured, but the parties living up stairs had no insurance on their household effects.

Louis Chown and family, Mr. Ostrom's family and Mr. Searles all had narrow escapes. The villagers had hard work to save one of Mr. Ostrom's children.

Willing to Return.

PORT HOPE, Sept. 11.—William J. Scoullthrop, of Port Hope, voluntarily returned to Rochester yesterday to answer a charge against him of selling boat tickets and appropriating the proceeds, amounting to about $1,000. The young man, the son of very respectable parents, denies the charge, admits receiving tickets, but as another agent was also given tickets for his territory he threw the bundle away telling the other agent he could sell them. The latter declined to pick them up. The crowds did this and enjoyed the trip. The young man will have strong legal counsel to defend him in Rochester.

GRIDIRONS CANADA.

The Most Gigantic Criminal Organization Canada Ever Knew.

MONTREAL, Sept. 10.—The eight merchants who were arrested on Saturday by Detective Carpenter on the charge of arson were brought privately before Judge Dugas and will all be indicted to go before the grand jury on Wednesday.

Speaking of the arrests, which, by the way, have startled Montreal, crown prosecutor Quinn said: "It is true that we have unearthed a mammoth conspiracy, which has been in operation at least ten years, and which has cost our insurance companies millions of dollars. All that I can say is, that the conspiracy gridirons Canada, and that to-day's arrests are merely preliminary to a wholesale bagging of the guilty if it can be accomplished."

Following are the names of those arrested:

William Thomas, of William Thomas & Co., wholesale furriers, No. 514 St. Paul street.

Lewis Loewenthal, merchant tailor, No. 1811 Notre Dame street.

STARVED TO DEATH.

No More Bread and Starving Children Causes a Woman to Attempt Suicide.

MONTREAL, Sept. 9.—There is now no doubt but that Mrs. George Turner, of 894 Carriere street, attempted suicide by laudanum poisoning Friday morning. Some time ago Mrs. Turner's husband got out of work, and she herself opened a small candy store in order to secure a living for herself and her two children, aged two and five years. The store was a failure, and the poor woman lost the little money she had invested.

The following letters, the first written by the woman's husband; the second by herself, tell their own story. They were found on the table beside the emptied glass:

"Sept. 4th, 1895.—Dear Mary: About you I am in great trouble, as I have not succeeded in raising some money. I tried to borrow and could not. I cannot get any from Thompson, and to-day I took another small line of samples, and will work hard to raise money by the end of the week.

"You must be very miserable and, perhaps, starving, and I cannot help you. I am wretched about myself.—Yours sincerely, GEORGE."

"Sept. 5.—I prefer to die than to see my two children suffering. I have fought as much as ever I could against my misery, but I have no more bread, and the children are crying. Blame no one if you find me dead. I am the only responsible person for the act I have committed."

SHE WAS NOT DEAD.

The Squaw Was Not Killed, But Only Made Speechless.

WHEATLEY, Sept. 6.—Yesterday some Indians living about seven miles east of here, went with baskets to Leamington, where they secured liquor and got drunk. After returning home two of the squaws, named Mrs. Jos. Peters and Mrs. Thos. Dodge, got into a fight, which resulted in the former striking the latter on the head with a club, killing her instantly.

WHEATLEY, Sept. 7.—Mrs. Tom Dodge, the squaw reported to have been murdered by another squaw named Mrs. Joe Peters, in a drunken row, on Thursday, by being struck on the head with a club, is still alive. The woman was rendered unconscious by the blow and the other Indians, supposing she was dead went to Smith's dock about a mile distant and made an announcement to that effect. No one went to the camp, however, until yesterday, when constable Dawson went out to arrest Mrs. Peters. On arriving there he found the supposed dead still alive.

Dr. Miller being summoned went down and dressed the wounds, and reports she may recover, although she is seriously cut about the head and shoulders.

FINDS HER FORSAKEN HUSBAND.

And Her Eyes They Shone Just Like Her Flashing Diamond.

WINAMAC, Ind., Sept. 10.—By the accidental dropping of a diamond ring at the station here, yesterday, a husband and wife, who had been separated forty years, were reunited, and they left together for Boston.

Dr. Charles Mott, of Boston, stepped from the train to leave a dispatch. As he walked toward his car, a lady leaned from a window of another car and asked the doctor to hand her a diamond ring which had just slipped from her finger and was lying at his feet. Dr. Mott picked up the ring, and the inscription on the inside read as follows: "Charles Mott to Vera Burns." Dr. Mott clasped the wife who fled from him in anger forty years before.

In 1853 Dr. Charles Mott was a well-known young physician of Boston. He fell in love with Miss Vera Burns, of South Canterbury, Conn., and they were married. Mrs. Mott was jealous. One stormy night, when her husband had been detained very late by a lady patient, the crazed wife determined to stand it no longer, and, packing a few personal effects, she started out into the storm, leaving no trace of her whereabouts. For years the doctor sought his wife. He gave up his business and travelled, seeking trace of the woman who had fled from him. At last he gave up the search, and sought fortune and forgetfulness in Montana. He became very wealthy. He was on his way to New England, to revisit the scenes of his childhood, when the happy accident occurred that reunited him to his long-lost wife.

ROBBING THE POST OFFICE.

The Thief Proves to be the Son of the Char-woman.

WINDSOR, Sept. 10.—For three or four months past there has been a good deal of petty pilfering in the Windsor post office. The bank was robbed for three months in succession before suspicion fell upon the real thief.

Postmaster Wigle laid a trap for him with the aid of Detective Campau. Fifty cents in coppers and five and ten cent pieces were put into the bank early in the morning. At seven o'clock Mrs. Kavanagh, the char-woman, arrived with her two sons to clean up the place. At eleven o'clock they were preparing to leave, and the bank was found to be empty. Detective Campau, lying in wait, entered and searched Thomas Kavanagh, in whose possession he found the thirteen marked coins. Kavanagh was placed under arrest, and brought before magistrate Bartlett. He elected a summary trial, and pleaded guilty. The magistrate sentenced the prisoner to thirty days hard labor. Kavanagh, eighteen years of age, was also his mother and two sisters. Mrs. Kavanagh, an honest woman, will not lose her situation.

C.P.R. TO BE REPRESENTED.

In a Board of Control to Have Absolute Railway Authority.

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—Announcement has been made of a new and powerful organization of the central traffic association and the trunk line association, to be known as the union traffic association. Traffic officials who have been taken into the confidence of the presidents express themselves as fairly astounded at the plan. Its management will be in the hands of a board of control, consisting of nine members made up of a president from each of the line represented. The associated roads will turn over to the board of control the absolute authority to dictate the management of their property. It is also said that the Canadian Pacific railroad, which has never taken part in the formulating of agreements to maintain rates will be represented in the board of control.

Sentenced Was Suspended.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—Lady Frances Rose Gunning, arrested on July 25th on a charge of forgery, pleaded guilty to-day. The court postponed her sentence. Lady Gunning, who is the widow of the Rev. Sir George Henry Gunning and daughter of the Rev. William Spencer, uncle of the present Baron Churchill, was charged with having forged the name of her father to bills of exchange, but it is understood that there were other charges of similar nature pending. She is connected with the family of Earl Spencer and also with other noble houses, but since her marriage to Sir George H. Gunning, many years her senior, she has been repudiated by her family and shunned by most of her former friends. Her forgeries are the result of her endeavors to live like a noble woman upon the income of a kitchen servant.

After a brief recess of the court the prisoner was called to the bar and sentenced to one year imprisonment.

JACK THE RIPPER.

Dr. Forbes-Winslow Tells of This Insane Murderer.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Dr. Forbes-Winslow, who has already stated, as published, that Jack the Ripper, the London murderer, is an insane physician, now incarcerated in an English asylum, gives some interesting details about the ripper. He is in Broadview, just outside of London. Dr. Winslow from the first maintained the woman murdered were killed by an insane man. From April, 1888, to July, 1889, eight victims were slain. The long interval between a murder of 1888 and 1889, Dr. Winslow accounted for by saying that the lunatic had undoubtedly had a lucid interval, during which he was quite unconscious of the horrible crimes he had previously committed. After each murder had been carried out and the lust for blood appeased, the lunatic changed at once from a homicidal religious maniac into a quiet man with a perfect knowledge of what he was doing. On Aug. 30th, 1889, a woman on guard, told the doctor she had been accosted in Worship street. The man was one whom she had seen on July 17th washing his hands at a pump after one of the murders. This fellow's lodging house was found. The proprietor and his wife noticed that whenever he went out of doors he wore a different suit of clothes to what he did the day before, and would often change them three or four times a day. He had eight or nine suits of clothes, and the same number of hats. He kept very late hours, and whenever he returned home his entry was quite noiseless. In his room were three pairs of rubbers coming high over the ankles, one pair of which he wore. On Aug. 7th, 1888, when a murder was done, the lodger came in late and blood stains were afterwards found in his room. The lodger left, saying he was going to Canada after this. It was noticed that he had an antipathy to fallen women, and would write long articles in this connection. These he read to the landlord. He attended St. Paul's cathedral every morning. "That's the man," was Dr. Winslow's decision on hearing the stories. Then, the doctor thinks "Jack" really left England for a time. But the work went on again when he returned. The alleged murderer was described as being of slight build, active, with a rather small head, delicate features and a wealth of light brown hair. He frequently boasted of his knowledge of anatomy, and said that he had achieved considerable distinction at college. Several months after the publication of Dr. Winslow's discoveries a young man was arrested for attempted suicide; and when examined by the police surgeon was proved to be hopelessly insane. He was committed to a government asylum, where he now remains. The terrible Whitechapel murders were still fresh in people's minds, and the asylum authorities noticed that his description tallied with that given as "Jack the Ripper," in Dr. Winslow's published statements. His complaint was a despondent madness breaking out at times into violent homicidal mania. Investigations were at once set on foot, resulting in the discovery that the mysterious lodger, "Jack the Ripper" and the unfortunate inmate in the asylum were one and the same man. He was found to come of a well-to-do and respectable family, and evinced considerable ability in his college career. His specialty was anatomy, and he studied so hard that his mind, never very strong, gave way under the strain. Always of a religious turn of mind, he became afflicted with religious mania. He is still living in the asylum and is subject to occasional outbreaks of homicidal mania. Neither the police or Dr. Winslow can be said to have actually run the maniac to earth, but he was undoubtedly frightened away by the publication of the doctor's clues showing what his habits were, where he had been and where he was likely to be.

THE ARTICLES IDENTIFIED.

The Belongings of Howard Pietzel Recognized by His Mother.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 11.—Mrs. Pietzel and her daughter Dessa, the only child that escaped from the murderous clutches of H. H. Holmes, went before coroner Carter yesterday. Mrs. Pietzel told of the disappearance of the three children from St. Louis, Sept. 28, 1893, in company with Holmes, and of her travels to Indianapolis, Detroit, Chicago, Toronto, Ogdensburg, New York and Montreal in search of them. Mrs. Pietzel positively identified the tie pin, shoes and buttons as those of little Howard, and when the murdered child's overcoat was produced her hysterical grief was pitiful to witness. She identified the coat absolutely. The trunk was also identified. Dessa, the daughter, likewise identified every article.

He does not believe it necessary, however, that further reinforcements be sent to Cuba.
