THE ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING OF THE SHAREHOLDERS OF THE KINGSTON TRADING COMPANY ON WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 19, 1896.

THE MEN TRIED TO ESCAPE

A PLOT AT THE PENITENTIARY WAS FRUSTRATED.

Five Desperate Convicts Are Now in the Dungeons Because They Made Efforts to Escape from the Prison of Isolation through a Tunnel Bored.

By their watchfulness and extreme caution the authorities at the Kingston penitentiary unearthed a conspiracy among the convicts confined in the prison of Isolation to escape.

The conspiracy was a well laid plan to attempt escape. For some time the authorities were cognizant of a movement among the convicts in the isolated prison.

What it was they were at a loss to know, but the guards on duty there were cautioned to be on the alert for any sign that would convey intelligence of a conspiracy.

So careful were the not least sign of their plot was known, and it was not for the hasty temper of some of the convicts that it was brought to a focus.

It is thought the ringleader of the gang, for there were five convicts concerned in the plot, was LaFramboise, a convict who had been in the prison of Isolation for several years.

He was searched and on his person was found a knife and a small tin of oil. He was also found to have a small tin of oil.

Harrison's Best Perfumes in bulk, all the new odors, Violets of Italy and others.

What the City Fathers Did While the Heat Raged.

"Where did you spend your vacation?" was a question asked every member of the city council.

The spoils of every day life—what the people are talking about—nothing escapes the attention of those who are busy reporters.

Butter 17c. Crawford. Car ticket cases 5c. At Mitchell's. I have cereal always in stock.

Mayor Elliott did not observe the holiday franchise. He has been in the city office every day, working as usual.

Ald. Livingston went down among the islands for a week. Charlie thinks a Kingstonian can enjoy himself among the islands far better than if he went to foreign climes.

Ald. James Munnell could not get away from his duties for the morning. He took a day or two off, for a fish or a run among the islands.

Ald. Ryan attended the C.M.B.A. convention at Ottawa, with Ald. Holan. He had a good time, but the order took up a great deal of his time.

Ald. Newlands had quite an extended trip on his wedding. He was unable to get away from business. He may take a trip during the winter.

Ald. Strange has had his business to look after this summer, but has been all ways open for a day's outing.

Ald. Walker found business too pressing to take holidays. Each day he found him busy at his desk.

Ald. Skinner spent one week cruising up the Bay of Quinte. During the summer he has tried to succeed in his business.

Ald. Martin managed to get away for three days. He was with a party fishing and hunting at Bob's lake and has a store of wonderful stories to relate concerning the trip.

Ald. Belan took four days to attend a convention at Ottawa. Between civic business and private affairs he is kept busy.

Ald. Allen was one of the fortunate few. Fortune smiled on him in his younger days and since then he has been enabled to spend the summer months at the Thousand Islands.

Ald. (Dr.) Curtis is enjoying his vacation immensely at the military camp. He is a thorough soldier and knows how to enjoy every day of his life.

Ald. Richardson, a stalwart business man, has been attending to his duties all summer. He will not permit him to take a vacation during the summer months.

Ald. Milne is another whose duties will not permit him to take a vacation during the summer months. He has not been out of the city except when called away on business.

Ald. Stewart says that he "will take his summer vacation next winter" when the forwarding business closes for the season.

Ald. Milne is another whose duties will not permit him to take a vacation during the summer months. He has not been out of the city except when called away on business.

Ald. Robinson has been enjoying life at his summer residence, Sharnot Lake. He is not away from the city for long.

Ald. Hewton is at present on his holidays, combining business with pleasure. He is at Salmon, Mass.

Kingston Business College. G. F. Atkinson, graduate of the K.B.C., is now the principal and supervisor of writing and drawing.

H. G. Polson, city, has obtained a position with the wholesale firm of Fenwick, Hendry & Co., here.

Miss L. Kirkpatrick, city, has resumed her studies at the shorthand department.

A. H. Ross, graduate, and subsequently a teacher on the staff here, has secured a position in the Troy business college, N.Y.

Miss Lottie Maxwell was called away from college owing to the death of her father.

W. H. Barr, supervisor of writing and book-keeping, in the public schools, was appointed to the position of principal of the Y.M.C.A. school.

Miss Frankie Tobin, Portsmouth, and Misses Jennie Aldred, Jennie Brown, and Misses G. H. Higgins, Stanley Brock, and Misses M. W. White, are all registered at the K.B.C.

Miss E. A. McMillan, Toronto, has obtained a position in the shorthand department.

The Peerman's Art Journal for this month has a very complimentary notice regarding manager J. R. McKay.

Stacy's applications have been received from a distance. No doubt the classes will be largely increased by Oct. 1st.

The business correspondence class is a very important one. Business men must have reliable correspondents, as evidenced by the application Prof. McKay received yesterday.

Superintendent of Nursing. Miss Osborne, superintendent of nursing at the infirmary of Kingston asylum, has been appointed to fill an important post in a United States institution.

VERTICAL WRITING SYSTEM.

IT IS THE HAND THAT THE BUSINESS MEN WANT.

The Chairman of the Public School Board says that this is the most important of its Superintendents. An Inspector with thirty years' experience has been selected.

The pupils in the public schools have been writing the natural vertical system for four years, and it was somewhat of a surprise to many parents to have it stated recently that the system had not passed the experimental stage.

The commercial classes in the collegiate institute were the first to have it stated because in the teacher's opinion vertical writing was only good for juniors.

This trifling with the "hand" acquired by the children for the first few years of their lives is a serious matter to parents and they quickly realized that uniformity was essential if the children were to become efficient writers.

The public school board had adopted the vertical system, the collegiate institute had not objected, and only at this late date is there any suggestion of a change.
