Mr. Cliff who was formerly a policeman in the grea city of London, is a fine looking specimen of an Englishman of the type so often seen in the Grand Trunk employ and who make so desirable a class of citizens. Since his advent here he has been a warm advocate of that well known medicine, Dr. William's Pink Pills, and through his endorsement dozens of boxes have been sold to his friends and acquaintances. A Courier representative, axious, though not surprised, to know the reason for Mr Clift's warm eulogy of the pills, called or that gentleman recently. Mr. Clift willingly consented to an interview, and in the following story told his reason for be ing so sincere an advocate of a world renowned medicine. "Some five years ago," said Mr. Clift, "my daughter Lilly began to droop and fade, and became disinclined either for work or pleasure. A doctor in London was called in and he prescribed exercise and a general "rousing up" as the best medscine to effect a cure. My daughter did her best to follow his instructions but the forced exercise exhausted her completely, and she gradually grew worse. One night I and my wife were terribly alarmed by a cry from Lilly, and hastening to her room found her gulping up large quantities of blood. I rushed for a doctor and he did his best to stop her hemorrhage, but admitted to me that her case was very critical. She drooped away to a veritable shadow, and for weeks when I went to bid her good bye in the morning as I went to my work I feared I might not see her alive again. This went on for a long time until one day a friend recommended my daughter to try the effect of Dr. William's Pink Pills. She consented to do so and in a comparatively brief period a decided benefit was preceptible. She persisted womanhood. For the last three years she has been in excellent health. It was Pink Pills that virtually brought her from the mouth of the grave and preserved for me my only daughter. Now do you wonder why I sound their praises and recommend them at every opportunity? Dr. William's Pink Pills strike at the root of the disease, driving it from the system and restoring the patient to health and strength. In cases of paralysis, spinal troubles, locomotor ataxia, sciatica, rheumatism, ervsipelas, scrofulous troubles, etc., these oills are superior to all other treatment hey are also a specific for the troubles which make the lives of so many women a burden and speedily restore the rich Men broken down by overwork, worry or cure.
