Probable Reforms-A Railway Commission-Tarte and Dobell-Mr. Laurier. From Our Own Correspondent.

Ottawa, Nov. 3 .- In a few days Sir Richard Cartwright, Mr. Fielding and Mr. Paterson will start on their N. P. tour, visiting various parts of Ontario to obtain information before beginning the work of tariff reform. It is understood that they will not tear the N. P. to pieces, but merely readjust the duties, postponing larger reforms to some more propitious time. The task of readjusting will be a heavy one. The outcome of our seventeen years of protection is that the Canadian manufacturer is in no position to compete on anything like even terms with those of England or the United Penetang, Midland, all points Severn to North Bay inclusive, Argyle to Coboconk inclusive, Cameron to Haliburton inclusive, all points on Muskoka Lakes, (via Muskoka Navterial. The coal, iron and steel duties for terial. The coal, iron and steel duties, for instance, render it impossible for Ontario manufacturers using those articles to make goods as cheap as they sell for in the States. Some day, when we are able to take a cooler view of things, we shall marvel at the policy which undertook to encourage manufacturing here by forcing the manufacturer to pay an exorbitant price for those fundamentals of modern industry-which cut us off from our nearest sources of supply in Pennsylvania, Ohio and Illinois and forced us to bring them all the way from Nova Scotia. Another, perhaps a more serious handicap on the Ontario manufacturer is the smallness of the home market. Canada contains five million people, a million tered in groups along a narrow strip of country 4,000 miles long, the groups being separated from each other by stretches of wilderness or mountains where nobody lives. In these times the specialization or subdivision of labor and machin ery is carried to extraordinary lengths and is one of the secrets of cheap production. It is manifestly impossible to introduce this subdivision to its fullest detail where the market is limited and the annual output correspondingly meager; in other words, if you are manufacturing for five millions you cannot manufacture as cheaply as if you were manufacturing for seventy. The upshot is that to-day manufactured goods are cheaper as a rule-not in every case but as a rule-in the States than with us, > can neighbor for what he has to sell, is just so much worse off. Probable Reforms.

which means, of course, that the Canadian farmer has to pay more for what he has to buy than the American farmer, and, as he gets no more than his Ameri-

This is a serious condition of things, Times have changed since the days when Canada had a lighter debt and could buy everything much cheaper than they could in the States. We had something to offer to the immigrant then, but we have nothing to speak of now and consequently are not getting what we most peed, namely, additional population, whilst the exodus from this country has become a heavy drain. The question confronting the new Government is how to reduce the tariff so as to lighten the people's burdens without exposing Canadian manufacturers to a competition that would kill many and cause a financial disturbance that in the depressed state of affairs might be attended with grave results As said, it is not likely that any drastic changes will be made. Ministers will undoubtedly reduce many of the duties, but there will be no sweeping reductions, no root-and-branch reforms, till business improves and there is less risk of throwing industry and finance

It is expected, however, that the coal and fron duties will be reduced considerably. Many think it would be better to increase the iron and steel bounties. if necessary, rather than retain the present tariff on iron imports. It is probable that, to make good loss of revenue from this and other changes, an additional duty will be placed on raw sugar : that is to say, the public treasury will get more from sugar than now while the margin of protection to the refiners will be diminished. I fancy that the cotton duties will be sharply overhauled. That industry is in the hands of a combine and competition is desirable in the public interest. Coal oil will also be cheaper by a reduction of the duty, which is now about 100 per cent .- a monstrous impost in a country with long winter nights. Sir Richard Cartwright will make an effort to obtain reciprocity with the United States in a number of articles. and, if he succeeds, the farmer will have reason to bless him. If we could send fish, eggs, poultry, barley, beans and hav to the States free of duty we could well afford to let in certain lines of cheap

American manufactures. A Railway Commission. Had the Tories remained in power they would have sworn that the recent rise in wheat was due to the N. P. The Mail and Empire actually says that prices are higher in Canada just now than in the States not because we have had a very short crop but because the N. P. is at work in the farmer's interest. Nobody takes this sort of stuff seriously, all the same it is paraded as if it were true. Why the N. P. should have gone to sleep for so many years and allowed wheat and other commodities to drop in value has never been explained by these professors of make-believe. Mr. Laurier does not pretend that he can interfere with the law of supply and demand in the world's market and cause prices to go up. But he hopes to be able to increase the farmer's net return from his crops by lowering transportation rates, both ocean and rail, through the establishment of a Railway Commission. At present Canadian railroads can practically do what they like, Railway commissions work well in other countries, and there is a good field for one here where business is virtually monopolized by two companies and such abuses as extortionate rates, discrimination, etc., go altogether unchecked. If railroads are put under proper restraints in communities where they have been constructed by private capital, why not in Canada where they have been built to a considerable extent out of public subsidies? Mr. Laurter cannot undertake by a commission or otherwise to comply with the demand | local points. Train leaves City Hall depot that local freight shall be carried at as low a proportionate rate as through freight. That domand, indeed, is made in ignorance of the elementary facts of the situation. If they were shut up exclusively to Canadian business the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific would have ted States, at competitive points like, Minneapolis and Boston, Chicago and New Yorks, and could not to collected means of a commission it will be possible to keep the roads in cheek with regard to their purely Canadian business and to bring about a reduction in rates (though not to the through figure per mile), as well as to stop discriminations and other local evils. In like manner ocean rates can be supervised and the practice of 'cornering space" at the busiest season of the year probably put an end to. Tarte and Dobell.

The hne and cry against Mr. Tarte is still kept up. When he arrived at Winnipeg, Grenter, the journalist he is prosecuting for libel, sent him a telegram urging him to return to Montreal and go on with the case. This was printed in the Tory papers as proof that Tarte was running away while Grenier was holding his ground. Yet at the very time he sent the tolegram Grenier through his lawyers was begging for another month in which to prepare his defense to a civil action. Tarte will be home quite soon enough for his assailant. Mr. Dobell, who, like Tarte, was once a Tory, is also being hounded by his former friends. The particular charge against him is that he is hostile to the interests of Quehee City. He does not want to spend $750,000 a year on a fast line till he knows whether such a line is practicable or not on the Canadian route Sandford Feming says it is not. Nor is he willing that the Government should vote a lot of money to the persons who are talking of erecting a big abattoir at Quebec till enquiry is made. Worst of all, it is alleged that he is not as enthusiastic as he ought to be for the building of a bridge across the St. Lawrence at Quebec at a cost of anywhere from six to fifteen million dollars. Quebec is on the down grade, its harbor empty, its population declining, its commerce gone to Montreal. The people are consequently on the keen edge for Government expenditures, and Mr. Dobell is blamed for not "going in baldheaded" for them no matter whether the projects are sound or not. That a Minister should display a reasonable cautiousness before committing himself to huge subsidies calculated to benefit his constituents, is something tho Tory papers in the province of Quebec cannot comprehend. It is evident that a constant fire is t the Cabinet. They committed the unpardonable sin of leaving the Tory party when, as they thought, it had grown too corrupt for decent men. In Ontario former Tories like Dalton McCarthy and Clarke Wallace are singled out for abuse for the same reason. John Ross Robert son is catching it too It does not seem to occur to the adherents of Tupper, Haggart, Montague and Caron that these 'deserters' re cent a large and important elemen lousands of Conservatives voted Gri in June from sheer disgust and will remain Grit if the men just named are to be pelted fordoing the same thing for the same reason. That is not the way to restore confidence in the machine. It is the way to keep respectable Conservatives estranged from the Tupper-Caron combination, and Liberals could desire nothing better than that the mud-throwing should continue.

Mr. Laurier stands the strain of office be directed upon these two members of well. He has the faculty of "throwing off" the cares of State and is always in good spirits. He works hard. He took a rest for a few days at Arthabaskaville and Quebec, and though it was not much of a rest in the sense of cessation from labor it has done him good. I sually, as winter approaches he is troubled with a bronchial affection but thus far he has escaped it. He settled at Arthabaskaville nearly thirty years ago in order to get the benefit of a rarefled atmosphere, the village standing on the slope of a hill with the parish church on the top. There is a fine view stretching into New England, and, what suits him still more, pure sir. His house is a modest brick dwelling with an acre of ground attached. Across the road is his law office. When home he spends his time in a little library, but a good deal of his time is taken up with receiving callers, mostly farmers and others, "Liberals of the old rock," who are proud beyond measure of his success. At Quebec last week he had rooms high up in the Chateau Frontenac, overlooking the river and Levis, and all day long there was a stream of visitors not to beg for offices but merely to shake him by the hand and wish him well. One night the stu dents of Laval, out on a tramp, serenad ed him. Down in St. Roch's he was fairly idolized. While Mr. Laurier was going to the banquet-it was a fine, mild evening-an old man was walking all alone on the north side of St. Louis street; he passed the famous St. Louis hotel, now closed, and dropped down to the Basilica and Fabrique street and then strolled up the hill by the new city hall. Nobody saluted him and seemingly he did not care to be noticed. It was Sir Hector. Hard by in his house on D'Anteuil street sat his companion in arms. Thomas McGreevy, watching from the window the stream of people making for the banquet hall. How true it is that the way of the transgressor is hard. When Mr. Laurier was studying law in Mr. aflamme's office, these two men were already the uncrowned kings of Quebec. ncle Thomas was erecting the Parliament Buildings in Ottawa and was the head and front of many large financial concerns in Quebec; a short time afterwards he was called to the Legislative Council of the province and while there represented Quebec West at Ottawa, being elected in 1867 by acclamation. Sir. Hector was a Cabinet Minister, serving as Cartier's right hand man and enjoying all sorts of other honors. Now he is sunk as low as Uncle Thomas. Both are political lapers, dwelling outside the loppa gate, while the bright-faced young lad who had just left the college at L'Assomption is Premier of Canada, enshrined in the hearts of his French-Canadian countrymen. So wags the

The most likeable thing about Laurier is his modesty. He is too big a man to have "big head" now that fortune has raised him aloft. He is the same modest, unassuming, cheery Laurier as he was when the Liberal party was wandering in the wilderness. His political opponents in Quebec have the highest regard for him personally, and would as readily CRAWFORD, ask a favor from him as from Sir Charles or Mr. Foster, for he harbors no ill-feeling but is magnanimity itself. Putting politics aside. Mr. Laurier is a man of whom all Canadians are proud for his conspicuous virtues and good GATINEAU.

PRODUCE AND PRICES. The Standard Rates Governing the Local Markets.

KINGSTON, Nov. 5 .- There is still a noticeable activity in the wheat market. Quotations received from London, England, to-day are four cents in advance of those received yesterday. Local dealers declare they do not know when the bubbling spirit will cease and prices resume their old-time settled basis. Wheat quoted a week ago at eighty-three cents is now worth ninety cents, and there is every indication that the price will continue to advance for some weeks yet. It is predicted that wheat will touch the dollar mark before ceasing its upward course.

The local market continues to be well attended. The number of farmers' rige on the square and adjoining streets last Saturday was the largest in some months. Prices as quoted by local dealers are as

MAYORALTY, 1897.

ELECTORS OF THE CITY OF KINGSTON: Ladies and Gentlemen-I respectfully offer myself as a candidate for the Mayoralty of the City of Kingston for 1867. I have represented Ontario ward for several years, have served on all of the important committees, have been chairman of most of them, and feel that the experience gained in those positions have qualified me to efficiently discharge the duties of the office should you select me. I therefore solicit your support and influ-Yours sincerely, J. J. BEHAN.

Oct. 21, 1896.

TO THE ELECTORS OF KINGSTON:

Ladies and Gentlemen-After six years' service as alderman and five years' chairmanship of one of the most important civic committees (Court of Revision), I beg to offer myself as a candidate for the mayorality for 1867. At the request of a large number of electors I take this step, believing that I have earned the honour which I seek, and pledging myself, in case of my election, to use my best efforts in the interests of economic and progressive civic government, Yours truly.
