For Services Rendered To a Distressed Vessel An Italian Master Is To Be Tendered a Gift - The Crew Were Saved and Landed At An American

OTTAWA, Nov. 24.-Mr. Davies has reused the owners of the steamship Tiber to order a marine investigation into the loss of the schoener Maggie, which was run down by the Tiber off the coast of Newfoundland. The minister does so because Capt. Delisle, of the Tiber, is now on trial in the courts and therefore an enquiry would interfere with the administration of

Upon recommendation of the minister of marine and fisheries an order-in-council has been passed authorizing the award of a binocular marine glass as a testimonial to the master of the Italian ship Teresina for services rendered to a distressed Nova Scotia vessel. On the 19th of August last in the north Atlantic the Teresina hove in sight of the ship Zebina Goudey, of Yarmouth, N.S., the latter vessel being in a sinking condition. A volunteer crew of the Italian vessel was made up and the Zebina Goudey's entire ship's company was safely transferred to the Teresina and subsequently landed at an American port.

A MAMMOTH SCHEME

To Carry Flour to The Sea Board at a Remarkably Low Rate.

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 24. - Erastus Wiman is in Detroit for a day or two pushng the interests of his mammoth scheme for the utilization of the Erie canal as a through all-water route for transportation of the north-western flour and other products to the sea board,

He is organizing a stock company to be composed of canal boat men and business men for the purpose of consolidation of Erie canal interest and bringing about a better commercial standing for men engaged in transportation on that highway.

Mr. Wiman proposes an equipment of a tow of one steamer and five consorts at a time, each tow having a capacity of 54 inch Tweed Dress trip from Buffalo to tide water in six and one-half days.

His plan will carry flour and other freight from Buffalo to the sea board for one mill per ton per mile, whereas the cheapest railway figures are five mills. Heretofore the railroads have monopolized nearly all this business.

of the Sult. The case of W. Rigney and J. Hickey it behalf of themselves and other creditors of Margaret Kennedy, vs. Elizabeth Martyn, executrix of Margaret Kennedy, and Elizabeth Martyn in person, action to set aside a conveyance of land. Judgment was entered by consent. Prior to her death Mrs. Kennedy, who kept a botel in the village of Enterprise, made a conveyance of land for a nominal sum to her neice, Elizabeth Weir, who afterwards became Mrs. Martyn, and also executrix of estato of Mrs. Kennedy. Plaintiffs brought suit to recover the land, consisting of village lots in Enterprise, as it was claimed the conveyance was made for a fraudulent purpose and with a view to defrauding creditors against the Kennedy estate. An agreement was entered into by the parties, whereby Mrs. Martyn becomes trustee for the estate, consenting to settle all claims against it on or before a certain date, failing to do so the deed of the land in dispute is to be declared null and void, and the property is to pass into the hands of plaintiffs. ELEMENTS OF MANHOOD.

Rev. Dr. Hunter, of Montreal, Lectures in Sydenham Street Church,

In Sydenham street Methodist church lecture room last evening Rev. Dr. Huntor, of Montreal, delivered his lecture on "Elements of Manhood." The lecture was bright, witty and eloquent. The lecturer paid a glowing tribute to the grandeur of manhood, the world of man-soul, as he called it, which had to be separated in our thought from several popular misconceptions. The prestige of high birth and ancestry, though no bar, did not constitute manhood. Neither did physical strength. Bone and muscle often went for nothing. Even mere intellectuality was not the measure of worth, because oftentimes associated with moral baseness, and much ess was the prestige of wealth and social standing. The elements of manhood could be included in a single word-character. But the question remained, what is the sort of character which constitutes true manhood ! It should comprise (1) naturalness as op-posed to artificiality. Specimens of the unnatural included the fop, the pedant, the charlatan in politics and the pulpit, the cynic, and the obstructor who was in the front doorway, clasping her three- always saying "no," would likely die saying it and no one would be sorry. These were all unrealties. Other elements were integrity, benevolence and self control. With these governing the life, would come the rich reward of solfsatisfaction and independence.

The Terrible Experience of the Crew

the Steamer Acadia. HAMILTON, Ont., Nov. 24.—Several other members of the crew of the wrecked propeller Acadia returned home last evening. There is a romance connected with the last trip of the propeller. It appears that George Frend, purser, and Mrs. Annie Perkins, the cook, were married at Amherstburg, and were enjoying their honeymoon when the Acadia was blown ashore. Mr. and Mrs. Frend returned to heard for the howling of the wind The eleven members of the crew who were taken to the lighthouse rowed over a rough sea for six and a half hours, and it was a wonder they were not drowned, in fact the men left in charge of the wrecked boat did not know they were eaved until the Tilley came along. The Acadia is a total wreck, the cargo of grain having gone through the bottom of the boat.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

A SAVING IN THE COST OF MUNI-CIPAL LEGISLATION.

Ways in Which Better Arrangements Can be Made-Beflections Should Not Be Tolerated-M. S. Burnette Has a Word

SUNBURY, Nov. 23, - (To the Editor): The new law affecting county councils, though defective in some respects, notably in permitting cumulative voting, will undoubtedly effect a considerable saving in the cost of municipal legislation. In Frontenac not only have there been too many councillors, but the committees have been needlessly large, and much money has been wasted in dual payments. Committees have been selected seemingly regardless of expense. Take for instance the committee on county property for 1895. This committee, consisting of eight members, whom, individually, I hold in the highest esteem, cost the county $71, of which $45 was required to pay mileage. More than half the cost of one of the meetings of this committee was paid out in mileage to four of the eight members. No doubt the year '97 will show a considerable saving here.

Another matter, which has caused the taxpayer to wonder, is the selling of the toll gates on the Kingston and Napanee road. Last year five councillors travelled an aggregation of over 150 miles at a cost to the county of $25, simply to grace the occasion with their presence, while the county clerk, acting in his professional capacity as auctioneer, occupied two minutes in selling the gates, for which of Lindsay, a dental student. It is thought | laborious work he received the modest fee of $10. Think of one councillor journeying fifty miles and another oversixty to witness was drowned in the bay at Collingwood on | this great performance. Consider also, ye who pay the piper, that the members of the committee being only ordinary mortals received but $2 for their day, while the fore seeing the pretty articles at J. Craig | clerk being a professional for the time received a professional fee of $10. Again a considerable reduction should be made in the clerk's salary and reasonably so. Apart from the extra remuneration which that official receives for being on the board of audit, balloting for jurors and as auctioneer, etc., his salary is out of all prothe clerical and other duties pertaining to his office. In view of the fact that the of ficial duties are so slight as to enable the incumbent to devote a large proportion of his time to magisterial and other matters, and that without in the slightest degree lessening his efficiency as clerk, several gentlemen of unquestionable ability have expressed their willingness to perform the work for $100 less salary

The remuneration of county auditors has been reduced from $40 to $20, and why should not a reduction be made here more especially since a reduction in the number of councillors will make the clerk's duties lighter than ever. Speaking of county auditors reminds me that those at present in office have been subjected to much adverse criticism, reflecting seriously and, I think, most unjustly on their ability to Douglas to enquire into charges of offensive | correctly perform the work. The council would do well to intimate that unjust reflections by one county official on the work of other officials will not be tolerated, but will lead to the summary dismissal of the offender .-- Yours respectfully, JUNIUS.

Workingmen's Meeting. KINGSTON, Nov. 24.—(To the Editor) Having been rather savagely attacked by the WHIG and by several prominent citizens on account of the remarks attributed to me in your report of last Sunday's meet ing in the WHIG hall, I deem some explanation advisable. And first I will say that the report is correct and that I did avow W. Knapp, Queen street, taken to the the sentiments therein set forth. Then general hospital Friday night suffering why explain it may be asked? For several reasons and particularly that to report an isolated statement from a fifteen
