edge and a-rasping-I preach the omnipotent sympathy of Jesus Christ. The sister of Herschel, the astronomer, used to help him in his work. He got all the credit; she got none. She used to spend much of her time polishing the telescopes through which he brought the distant worlds nigh, and it is my ambition now, this hour, to clear the lens of your spiritual vision, so that looking through the dark night of your earthly troubles you may behold the glorious constellation of a Saviour's mercy and a Saviour's love. O. my friends, do not try to carry all your ills alone. Do not put your poor shoulder under the Apeninnes when the Almighty Christ is ready to lift up all your burdens. When you have a trouble of any kind, you rush this way, and that way; and you wonder what this man will say about it, and what that man will say about it; and you try this prescription, and that prescription, and the other prescription. Oh, why do you not go straight to the heart of Christ, knowing that for our own sinning and suffering race he took the vinegar!

There was a vessel that had been tossed on the seas for a great many weeks, and been disabled, and the supply of water gave out, and the crew were dying of thirst. After many days they saw a sail against the sky. They signaled it. When the vessel came nearer the people on the suffering ship cried to the captain of the other vessel: "Send us some water. We are dying for lack of water." | flight was shown only three times, and won And the captain of the vessel that was hailed first and second at Chicago, and second at responded: "Dip your buckets where you are. You are in the mouth of the Amazon, and there are scores of miles of fresh water all compand should now and handrade of foot I have not been about a government with the property over the side of the vessel, and brought up | ship at the meetings of the American Coursthe clear, bright, fresh water, and put out | ing club. Snowflight is the sire of such the fire of their thirst. So I hail you today, famous dogs as Muriel, Romeo, Snowflake after a long and perilous voyage, thirsting as and other prize winners. you are for pardon, and thirsting for comfort, and thirsting for eternal life; and I ask you what is the use of your going in that death struck state, while all around you is the deep, clear, wide, sparkling flood of God's sympathetic mercy. O, dip your buckets and drink, and live forever. "Whosoever will, let him come and take of the water of life freely."

Yet my utterance is almost choked at the thought that there are people here who will refuse this divine sympathy; and they will try to fight their own batttles, and drink their own vinegar, and carry their own burdens; and their life, instead of being a triumphal march from victory to victory, will be a hobbling on from defeat to defeat, until they make final surrender to retributive disaster. O, I wish I could today gather up in mine arms all the woes of men and womenall their heart aches-all their disappointments-all their chagrirs-and just take them right to the feet of a sympathizing Jesus. He took the vinegar.

Nana Sahib, after he had lost his last battle in India, fell back into the jungles of Ihera -jungles so full of malaria that no mortal could live there. He carried with him, also, a ruby of great luster and of great value. He died in those jungles; his body was never found, and the ruby has never yet been recovered. And I fear that today there are some that will fall back from this subject into the sickening, killing jungles of their sin, carrying a gem of infinite value-a priceless soul-to be lost forever. O, that that ruby might flash in the eternal coronation. But no. There are some, I fear, in this audience who turn away from this offered mercy, and comfort, and Divine sympathy; notwithstanding that Christ, for all who would accept his grace, trudged the long way, and suffered the lacerating thongs, and received in his face the expectorations of the filthy mob, and for the guilty, and the discouraged, and the discemforted of the race, took the vinegar. May God Almighty break the infatuation, and lead you out into the strong hope, and the good cheer, and the glorious sunshine of this triumphant Gospel.

Paper Pulp from Cotton Stalks.

For several weeks there have been on exhibition in the office of the clerk of the superior court samples of pulp made of the hulls and stalks of the cotton plant. The pulp is as white as snow, and can be converted into the finest writing paper. It is regarded as valuable, and is the product of parts of the cotton plant hitherto deemed valueless. The process by which it is made is new. It is a process by which the ligneous substances of the hulls and seed are dissolved. By this process over 50 per cent. of the fiber is extracted from the hulls, which have been regarded as fit only for fuel in the mills or for feed and fertilizing purposes, and which were sold for $4 a ton. These, converted into pulp, will be worth about $40 a ton. From the stalks usually left to rot in the fields this new process utilizes about 38 per cent. of fiber at a very small expense.

It has been settled that there are fertilizing properties in the oil of the cotton seed, and it is asserted that the fiber will not decompose for six years and cannot be used as a fertilizer. This is why the woody matter eliminated from the stalk and hull is much more valuable as a decomposing fertilizer than the entire seed. By the same process the ramie plant and its troublesome cousin, the bagasse stalk, is met and overcome. By the decorticating process the fiber was crushed and torn out by a slow and expensive process. In the new process the ligine is simply dissolved out, and the snowy films of the ramie and the tawnier threads of the sugar cane are coaxed out as easily as the infantile kitten to its milk.—Atlanta Constitution.

She Sent Her Baby Home. Mr. Brent Good, president of the Lyceum

Theatre company, told at a dinner party the other evening this story of a lady who was determined to witness the play of "The Wife:"

"I was at the Lyceum the other night, standing alongside our treasurer, when two well dressed ladies entered and handed their tickets to the doorkeeper. One of them had a baby in her arms. I firmly but, I trust, politely told the mother that no babies were allowed in the house. She expostulated, but I asked her how she, if alone, would like to have a noisy baby in an adjacent seat. The argument prevailed, but she said that her money must be returned. It was promptly given her and she went and stood outside with her babe in her arms as if reflecting. Then she returned and requested that a district messenger be called. A rather small boy responded to the summons, and the lady handed him her baby and requested him to take it to her house somewhere in Harlem. The little boy looked grewsome, but he undertook the task, and I presume performed it safely. When he had gone the determined woman returned, purchased a ticket, and saw the show."-New York Evening Sun.

Snowffight of Lexington, One of the Best Field Dogs in the Country.

We present with this an excellent likeness of the famous greyhound Snowflight, the star dog of R. D. Williams' Rockwood kennels, at Lexington, Ky. The American Field, in speaking of this noted dog, said: Snowflight is one of the best field dogs in the country. He is out of Bonnie Lassie, by Misterton, and was whelped April 15, 1881. He is a powerful dog, extremely well muscled, exceedingly game and fast. He is pure white in color, stands thirty inches at shoulder, issix feet from tip to tip and weighs one hundred pounds. He was raised and trained by Dr.

Van Hummel, of Denver, Colo., and is sire of his Romeo, Juliet, Muriel, etc. Snow-Atlanta. His present owner, Mr. R. D. Williams, of Rockwood kennels, Lexington, Ky., is breeding his best imported bitches to deep." And then they dropped their buckets | test with the western dogs for the champion-

W., and at present it looks as though there will be over a thousand men n line.

BILLIARDS.

Slosson is doing good work from his summer retreat in his endeavors to keep the balls in motion during the summer season.

Comanche Sexton reiterates his challenge to play Schaefer's nine at a point half way between cities.

Frank Newton, of Boston, is said to be organizing a pool tournament.

In a second practice game with John Moulds at fourteen inch balk line, which was played June 12 in the wizard's new Chicago room, the latter proved victorious by a score of 500 to 243. Average by Schnefer, 18 14-27; best run, 152; best run by Moulds, 47.

The proposed tournament which was to come off during the exposition in Cincinnati next August has been declared off, owing to the difficulty in procuring those players which the managers wished for. The prizes offered were three in number, $500, $300 and $200, with the expenses of the four players, Messrs. Schaefer, Slosson, Sexton and Daly, all paid.

PUGILISTIC POINTERS.

Peter Johnson (colored), the champion of Australia, who says he has made a match for $5,000 a side with Jem Smith, of England, is in New York. He says he will meet anybody in a fair fight for money before he leaves in August for England.

Johnny Clark trained and handled Pat Killen for his fight with Patsy Cardiff. Killeft now wants to fight any man in the country-Sullivan not barred.

Johnny Reagan, of New York, talks of going to California to fight young Mitchell.
